$2,150 Damage and 2 Injured in Two Mishaps Saturday

Local Man Faces Charge of Drunken Driving as Result of One Accident

An estimated $2150 in property damages and two persons injured resulted from two separate traffic mishaps, one in the city proper and the other on the outskirts, Saturday, police reported today.

Both mishaps, oddly enough, occurred within 5 minutes of each other.

The first mishap occurred at 9:07 p.m. when Marvin L. Johnson, city, attempted to pass two cars at the Oakland Park turnoff on highway 32. Johnson managed to get around the first car in the line, but collided with Hayden Rude, rt. 3, who was turning off 32 onto the Oakland Park road, causing an estimated $350 to the Rude car, $250 to Johnson.

At 9:12 p.m. a car driven north on LaBree av. by James H. Ward, London, Ont., collided with another car driven west on Fourth st. by Erling Thompson, rt. 2. The impact skidded the Thompson car sideways into another car owned by Thomas J. Landowski, city, which was shoved over the curb and sidewalk into the Northwestern Bell Telephone building, and also struck another parked car in the process.

Thompson was hospitalized for observation and a passenger was treated and released.

Estimated damages were: Ward, $600, Thompson $690, Landowski $230 and the fourth car, owned by Alfred Nabben, rt. 1, $30. No charges have been filed as yet pending further investigation, police said this morning.

Voting was as follows: Olson 220, Norberg 221, Hofstad 90, Larson 89.

The Plummer school district, also with a large vote of 344 ballots, elected three new members to the board.

The new members are Earl Arnold who received 231 votes, A. E. Heupel with 237 votes and Henry Pederson with 206.

Officers Are Named at DFL State Session

Rep. Wichterman of Plummer Is Elected to Treasurer Post

The Minnesota Democratic-Farmer-Labor party convention ended its three-day session Sunday at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis after electing state officers and delegates to the Democratic national convention.

Adrian P. Winkel, St. Paul city council member who had made an unsuccessful bid for mayor, was elected state chairman without opposition to succeed Ray Hemenway, who was named to succeed Gerald W. Heaney of Duluth as national committeeman by a vote of 504 to 331.

Others elected include Ernest Pearson, Hibbing; Joseph Gabler, St. Paul; and Arden Dahl, Tracy, vice chairmen; Wm. Kubicek, secretary; Rep. B. M. Wichterman, treasurer; and Mrs. Ruth Bye, Hutchinson, and L. J. Lee, Bagley, delegates-at-large to the state central committee.

Senator Hubert Humphrey performed his biennial function of sending the party workers home fired up to work for election victory. In a stemwinding speech, he urged immediate efforts at the county level to get new precinct workers, funds and publicity for party activities.

Humphrey gave his approval to a resolution drawn by Myles W. Spicer, a non-delegate who heads a drive to gather signatures on petitions urging Adlai Stevenson to run for president, commending Stevenson "for his bold and forthright on the administration's mishandling of the U-2 plane incident and consequent breakdown of the Summit talks."

Jury Discharged; Heard Two Cases

In the second case, a verdict in favor of the defendants was returned by the jury in the suit for property damage arising from a car mishap, Charles Mercier being the plaintiff and Isabel and Garry Lofgren the defendants.

Legion Poppy Sale Saturday, May 28

Miss Nancy Granger Is Chairman of Annual Sale

The American Legion Auxiliary announced today that 1960 Poppy Day will be observed here on Saturday, May 28.

Miss Nancy Granger, Poppy Day chairman for the organization, said the annual observance is held to honor the more than half million Americans who died, and the nearly one million Americans who were wounded, in both World Wars and the Korean conflict.

"Memorial poppies, which are made by disabled veterans from this country's past three wars, will be worn both as a memorial to our war dead and as a tribute to the disabled," she said.

Officials of the auxiliary said that although all funds received from Poppy Day go either to disabled veterans or their families the main purpose of the observance is to honor America's war dead.

Real Estate Tax

Pennington county property owners are reminded by Ellsworth Jorgenson, county treasurer, that the first half of 1959 real estate taxes must be paid before June 1 to avoid a penalty.

The four selected are Mark Larson, Jack Goulet, and Eddie Lietzow, all juniors at Lincoln high school; and Andy Wells, first Boys Stater to be selected from Goodridge.

In a final election by their own classmates the three Lincoln high youths finished in a three-way tie, and the local Legion post requested and received permission to send all three candidates, in addition to Wells.

Larson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Justus Larson; Goulet the son of Mr. and Mrs. Len Goulet; and Lietzow the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lietzow, all of this city. Wells is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wells of rural Goodridge.

A record number of 368 outstanding junior boys from throughout Minnesota will attend the 12th annual week-long Boys State program. The program this year will be under the direction of Lee Krough of St. Peter, who was assistant director under the late C. A. (Chic) Zwelner.

Car Safety Check Scheduled in City Friday & Saturday

Local garage mechanics and Jaycees will make the inspection, and each driver will receive a report on his car's condition, as well as a sticker if no faults are detected.

Equipment to be checked includes brakes, lights, steering, exhaust, tires, glass, windshield wipers, rear-view mirrors and horn.

Dow Key Co. Prepares to Manufacture An Amateur's Toy Key

The Dow Key Company of this city has its origin in Canada where it started manufacturing telegraph keys, Gordon Dow's father, who founded the organization, being a telegrapher. In recent years the company has been occupied mainly as a manufacturer of relays for electrical appliances, products that require precision machines and procedures.

Now the company is adding a new line to its products, closely related to the product that gave the company its start and its name. This new product will be a telegraph key, similar to some extent to the original practical product but designed primarily for amateurs and as a toy.

Mr. Dow and Mr. Lowell Swenson returned recently from an exploratory trip that enabled them to get a reaction from toy distributors as to the marketability of the kind of a product they had in mind. They had working models with them that served their purpose and returned home satisfied that a good market could be developed. They now are getting their plant organized to handle this additional output and hope to be in production in another 60 days.

This practical toy will be a self-contained, transistorized telegraph code practice set with instructions on how to operate and to learn the Morse code. It can be used in multi-unit arrangement, signaling several miles with batteries that should last 6 to 8 months.

Production this year will be limited to several thousand sets, Mr. Dow stated, it being too late to get wide distribution for the coming Christmas market, but he is hopeful that a scattered distribution this year will open a good market for the 1961 sales and production. No new equipment will be needed to manufacture the metal stampings and aluminum castings he said. The product will be completely assembled and attractively packaged here.

The complete assembly will retail for less than $10.

DIRECTOR AT STILLWATER — Reuben M. Hadrath of Stillwater, who as a young man lived in Thief River Falls, was one of three men elected from a seven-man field to serve on the Stillwater board of education in the annual election May 17.

Fire Saturday Badly Damages M. Strom Home

Loss to Residence on Red Lake Blvd. May Exceed $6,000

Fire Saturday morning, May 21, at 11:40 o'clock, caused estimated damage of $6,000 to $8,000 damage to the Martin M. Strom residence at 402 Red Lake boulevard, according to Roy Langevin, fire chief.

Donald Johnson, a mail clerk from Minneapolis, was awakened when he heard what he thought was hail on the roof above his upstairs bedroom. Although he reported that he could not smell smoke, the room was very warm and he went downstairs. In the meantime, Mrs. Strom went out to work in her garden and found it difficult to see because of heavy smoke. Neighbors reported that flames were 20 feet above the roof at the time.

Firemen fought the blaze for an hour and report that the entire roof will need to be replaced and extensive damage was done to second-floor rooms. Heavy water damage to the rest of the house and its contents is also reported. The fire was possibly caused by fragments of paper which had been burned in the furnace falling on the wood shingles.

It is thought that insurance will cover much of the damage.

The same day, firemen were called at 6:15 p.m. to the Arnold Gunderson farm, where a grass fire threatened building. Six firemen with portable pump packs fought the fire for 45 minutes before the fire was extinguished.

Sunday, firemen were called out at 2:20 p.m. to a grass fire across the highway from Kife's cafe but the blaze was out when they arrived.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

I don't think that anyone can pick out any one group of Library users who gain more from its books than any other. Children grow in awareness and knowledge, teenagers gain information and experience and young adults find books a source of relaxing recreation. But surely no group gets more pure enjoyment from books than do our senior citizens. Retired, free of family responsibilities that occupied their every waking moment for many years, books offer them companionship and add zest to their daily living. In the last couple of months I have enjoyed meeting and talking to two such people.

Mr. Casper Osness is, I am sure, one of the Library's most loyal patrons. Trips to town from his home out on the beach ridge near Carpenter's Corner are not too frequent, but when he comes to town he always visits the Library.

He told me that he'd been taking out books for 35 years. "I've done all my travelling through books," he said. "If it weren't for reading you'd never know anything about those far-away places that a person never gets to. Lots of my favorite books I've read as many as three times."

Mr. Osness said he didn't like fiction, but that he read some of it. Down-to-earth books that tell him something get his vote every time. Eric Collier's "Three Against the Wilderness" and Rose Wilder Lane's "Free Land" are a couple of his favorites. (Books about the Arctic are favorites of his also, so you can see we had a good common meeting ground although Mr. Osness is several reading years ahead of me!) He is among the many many thousands of readers who read Zane Grey's books with pleasure. Mr. Osness is quick to give grateful credit to the librarians for their courteous help.

"Time would hang heavy on my hands without something to read." That's what Mrs. Blanche Armstrong said to me when I went to see her. Mrs. Armstrong is as "retired" as any housewife ever becomes. She's raised a family of five and throughout her busy life on the farm never had enough time to read. Now a heart condition makes her a bit more retiring than she might otherwise be.

Her granddaughters and son bring her most of her books now from the library. Often if she gets one book that she likes very much she will read all the other books that the library has by the same author. Anya Seton, Willa Cather, Bess Streeter Aldrich are listed among her favorite writers.

"I like fiction if it's something that could really happen. Some things are so far fetched I can't read them. Magazine fiction is often like that, but a book like 'Coffee Train' by M. E. Shank is believeable. The woman in that book lived in a small town in North Dakota and she always put the coffee pot on when she heard the four o'clock train pull in. She had to have her coffee at a certain time, same as I want mine when I get up from my afternoon rest."

Mrs. Armstrong told me she likes non-fiction too. She has just finished the biography of Harriet Beecher Stowe that is on the recent non-fiction shelf.

More enthusiastic boosters for the library would be hard to find but most important of all, to them and their community, having reading for a hobby makes them happier, better citizens and gives them something to talk and think about.

Ideal Weather in Area over Weekend

Mercury May Reach 85 Here This Afternoon

While the southern section of the state recovers from heavy rains and flooding which extensively damaged homes and other property, northern Minnesota weather continued to be ideal with temperatures locally in the high 60's and 70's.

One inch of rain fell at the KTRF weather station last week with .87 inch recorded Wednesday and .13 inch the following day but the weekend was clear and warm.

Fishermen found ideal conditions as did their more domesticated brethren who worked around their homes. A high of 76 was recorded Sunday and 72 Saturday while night time lows over the weekend ranged from 45 during the early morning hours of Monday to 38 Saturday morning.

More of the same is on tap for the area today, according to the KTRF forecast which calls for fair today with highs of 78 to 85 and lows tonight from 45 to 55. Light winds are expected and the humidity should be low.

P. F. Bernstrom, Hallock businessman, recently was appointed treasurer of Kittson county by the county board after the resignation of Neill A. Gamble May 12. According to Lyman Brink, Kittson county attorney, Gamble's resignation followed revelation by the state public examiner that a check of the treasurer's books for the two years ending December 31, 1959, had indicated irregularities in the handling of public funds by Gamble in 1959, altho the audit had shown no shortage of county funds. Brink stated that further action in the matter will be deferred pending a more detailed audit.

Weekly Crop Report for Soo Line Division

Alexandria to Thief River Falls

Sunny, warm weather has enabled farmers to complete much of their planting; and stands have emerged in some areas. Only a trace of precipitation was reported this past week; and rain is necessary to replenish topsoil moisture and help crop and pasture growth. Subsoil moisture is good. Seeding of wheat, oats and barley is about 55% to 100% completed and seeding of flax, corn and soybeans about 10% completed. Long range prospects for good crops are excellent.

Newfolden to Orleans

Top and subsoil moisture conditions good. From .35" to 1" rain received this week. Dry, warm weather prevailed the first part of the week allowing extensive seeding. Seeding of wheat about 75% to 90%, oats and barley about 25% to 75% completed. Potato planting just beginning. No flax seeded as yet. With the soaking rain that was received, farmers feel that immediate crop prospects are good.

Viking to Rolette, N. D.

Weather has been warm and sunny, permitting farmers to make excellent progress with seeding. With little to no precipitation this past week, rain is needed for top soil which has been dried by high winds. Subsoil moisture is still adequate. From 40% to 100% of the wheat has been seeded and is emerging in some areas. 35-95% of the oats and barley has been seeded. Planting of potatoes and sugar beets is just getting under way. Wild oats infestation is serious in various areas.

Overly to Norma, N. D.

Clear, warm days enabled farmers to work uninterrupted thruout the week. Topsoil and subsoil moisture sufficient for the present although the supply is being depleted by high winds which also cause considerable erosion. About 50-80% of the wheat and from 25% to 50% of the oats and barley has been seeded.

Dahlen to Orrin, N. D.

High winds have caused some drifting of soil, resulting in scant topsoil moisture although subsoil moisture remains good. Wild oats is troublesome in some areas. Planting progressed very rapidly with the onset of warm weather, with nearly all of the durum and hard wheat, 40% to 90% of the barley and oats and 10% to 50% of the flax planted.

General

Favorable weather has prevailed the past week; and seeding has progressed rapidly. Seeding of wheat is nearing completion in most areas except portions of the Third and Fourth Subdivisions. Seeding of oats and barley is 25% to 95% completed. Planting of flax, corn, soy beans, potatoes and sugar beets has also started. Pastures and haylands are making good progress. In many areas rain would be welcome to replenish topsoil moisture. Subsoil moisture is good. General prospects are good. E. A. Hamerski, Superintendent.

State Population Increases 410,000; Minneapolis Down

Minneapolis was ousted from the half million population class Thursday night with publication of preliminary figures on the 1960 census.

Despite prolonged checks and rechecks, census tabulators said they could credit the city with but 482,891 residents against the 521,718 recorded a decade ago.

But, while the metropolitan area was showing a decline, the rush to the suburbs was pointed up by a whopping 164,430 increase for Hennepin county.

For the state itself, there was a healthy boost of 410,000, to a 1960 total of 3,393,302.

Hennepin county, tabbed at 676,571 in 1959, now can boast of an 841,009 population. Federal workers said there could be minor changes but not of sufficient numbers to alter the general picture.

Minneapolis officials said the city stood to lose some tax revenues, such as state liquor and cigarette tax receipts, which are distributed on a per capita basis.

But they had some consolation in the fact that St. Paul might be in even greater trouble as a result of the census. While St. Paul showed a slight gain, it is tied to a per capita formula based on pre-census population estimates and these estimates were above the actual gain. Tax complications are expected to result.

THE BED in which Donald Johnson, a Minneapolis mail clerk, was sleeping at the Martin M. Strom residence Saturday morning was afire a few minutes after he left the room. The fire, which is believed to have been started when burning bits of paper from the furnace set wooden shingles ablaze, caused $6,000 to $8,000 damage and required an hour to extinguish.

TRF Flying Club to Study Purchase of Airplane Thursday

Group Considers Buying Four-passenger Plane with Complete Equipment

An important meeting of the Thief River Falls Flying club has been set Thursday, May 26, at 8 p.m. in the airport administration building, Robert Wurst, club president, announced today.

Members and interested nonmembers will discuss the prospects of purchasing a new airplane for the club at the meeting. The club's old airplane, a 1947 model Piper PA-12 Super Cruiser, was sold about two weeks ago.

The former club plane was considered inadequate to meet the demands of club members for fast, safe, comfortable cross-country flying, especially when club members wished to take their families or others along.

The type of plane under consideration is a four-seater with full instrumentation and VHF omnirange navigational radio facilities. Makes under consideration are the Piper Tri-Pacer, which cruises about 135 m.p.h. with four persons, and the Cessna 170, also a four-placer which is only slightly slower and somewhat larger than the former.

All members, whether recently active or not, and all interested non-members are urged to attend the meeting. Having a fast, reliable four-seater airplane available should be especially attractive to local business executives or sportsmen who find many uses in their businesses or sports activities for such an airplane.

It is hoped a good attendance can be achieved at the meeting, as the wishes of the club membership should be heard by the officers in order to know what course of action they should take. Members will be notified by mail, also, as well as known interested non-members.

More than 95 per cent of the assets of American life insurance companies — amounting to $107 billion — is currently invested in U. S. Industry, commerce, and government. The life insurance business provided nearly $7 billion of the $22 billion increase in long-term capital funds from all sources last year.

The leading causes of death among ordinary life insurance policy holders during 1958 were: Diseases of the heart, cancer, cerebral hemorrhage, accidents, other cardiovascular-renal diseases, pneumonia and influenza.

Times Classifieds bring fast results

A child born in the United States in 1957 had a life expectancy of 66.3 years if male, 72.5 if female. The average life expectation at birth has increased by 22 years since the beginning of the century.

Total life insurance owned in the United State at the end of 1958 amounted to $494 billion, a new record high. This represented an average of $11,000 per insured family.

Close to $150 million was paid in 1958 to 91,050 beneficiaries of life insurance policies in force less than one year. A nationwide survey covering more than 88 per cent of all legal reserve life companies indicates that claims in the $10,000-$15,000 bracket showed the greatest percentage increase.

It is estimated that there were 124 million life insurance policyowners in the U. S. at the start of 1959.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA, ST. PAUL 1, MINN.

Memorial Day Flowers — Successful plantings of Memorial Day flowers are the result of careful planting and proper selection of plants.

A week to 10 days before you put urns or other flower containers in the cemetery, take them to the greenhouse to get your flowers planted. Flowers which are newly planted when they are taken to the cemetery will not bloom or grow as well as those which have had a chance to become adjusted to their new planter.

Soil for cemetery planters should be high in organic matter to increase its water-holding capacity. Soils which dry out easily limit the flowering period of the planting. After the plants are in the container, cover the soil surface with moistened sphagnum moss.

Planters will be most attractive if the flowers are planted in combinations that give a variety of color and extend the bloom. It's not necessary to have all the flowers in bloom at planting time. If some are in the bud stage, the flowering period will be longer.

Plants commonly used for cemetery plants are geraniums, dwarf marigolds, ageratum, petunias, verbena, alyssum, Persian carpet zinnia and pansies. Some greenery like vinca and dracaena will add to the effectiveness of the planting.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—This fall I plan to take a premed course under the Korean GI Bill. I've been working in a drug store and my boss wants me to go on working for him, part time. Would the part-time earnings affect my GI school allowance in any way?

A—No. You may earn any amount at all in your spare time, without having your school allowance reduced. Veterans at school don't even have to report outside earnings to VA.

Q—I am 21 years old, eligible for training under the War Orphans Education Act, but I never finished high school. Would that keep me from taking courses under the War Orphans program?

A—No. Graduation from high school is not a requirement for War Orphans Education Act training. A young man or woman who quits high school may be eligible under the program.

Q—What kind of papers or other credentials do I need to take with me when I go to a lender to apply for a GI loan?

A—You will need only the Certificate of Eligibility which shows you are entitled to apply for a loan. This Certificate of Eligibility may be obtained from any VA regional office.

Q—My World War II term insurance is getting pretty expensive for me and I'd like to convert to a permanent plan but do not feel that I can afford to convert all at once. Could I convert, say, $2000 worth now, and the rest later?

A—Yes. As long as you convert at least $1000-worth, and your additional amounts are in multiples of $500, partial conversion of your GI term insurance is all right with VA.

Thieves Whip Erskine Team Sunday 15 to 5

The Thief River Falls Thieves opened their 1960 Northern Minny schedule on Sunday afternoon by scoring a one-sided, 15-5, win over the Erskine Merchants in a game played on the Fair Grounds diamond.

Next Sunday the locals will travel to Bagley for a night game against the Bagley Merchants.

The Thieves put together a pair of high-scoring innings to "break up" Sunday's league opener against Erskine. In the second inning, singles by Arlan Hjelle, Bob Hallameck, Dennis Bakke, and Gary Klungness, plus a pair of walks and sacrifice flies by John Drury and Harley Drees gave the Thieves a four run cluster.

And in a hectic fourth inning, which found Erskine using three pitchers in an effort to halt the Thieves' scoring, coach John Drury's club rolled nine runs across the plate. Ronnie LaChance, Erskine's starting pitcher, hurled to six batsmen in the inning, with Hjelle rapping a hard ground double down the right-field line to send LaChance off the mound and bring southpaw Dale Perusse in from first base to the mound. Perusse pitched to five batters, retiring one batsmen and doling out three walks and being tagged for hit. Perusse was replaced by Jim Robertson who, after walking a pair of batters to force in a run, finally retired the side. The "big" blow of the inning, and which accounted for three runs, was the home run blast over the left-field fence that Drees unloaded off LaChance's delivery.

Getting a comfortable "cushion" of runs, righthander Bob Hallameck, pitching for the Thieves, worked a "comfortable" six innings. In the first and fourth innings he retired the side on strikes; and in the third and sixth innings, with the bases loaded, Hallameck retired Erskine's clean up hitter, Dave Sigurdo, to snuff out a pair of dangerous threats.

Prowlers Defeat Crookston 6 to 0

The baseball Prowlers posted their fifth straight district conference win without a defeat, and their eighth win against four losses in season's play when, on Friday night on the Fair Grounds, they defeated coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston Pirates, 6 to 0. Righthander Arlan Hjelle gave up but three hits, all singles, and struck out 18 Pirate batsmen as he registered a shutout.

On Monday evening the Prowlers will travel to Bagley for a game against the highly-rated Bagley Flyers of district 30. Game time for the contest has been slated for 7:30 p.m. On Wednesday evening, in a 6 p.m. game, the Red Lake Falls Eagles will play the Prowlers in a district conference game on the Fair Grounds diamond.

In Friday night's game the Prowlers made short work of gaining a lead, scoring two runs in the first inning. Curt Hannah, on the mound for Crookston, issued a walk to lead off batter Gary Klungness, and Gary then promptly stole second. Hjelle, the club's leading hitter, then banged a solid single into center field, scoring Klungness, and Hjelle moving to second on the throw to the plate. Eddie Lietzow grounded out, short to first, with Hjelle advancing to third. Paul Saurdiff singled off third baseman Bob Irwin's glove, and Hjelle came in with the Prowlers' second tally.

In the second inning, with two men away, Gary Klungness sliced a double into left field. Hjelle shot a solid single to left-center scoring Klungness. Lietzow hopped a single between third and shortstop that Jim Turner knocked down but could not make a play. Hjelle, who had taken third on the play, scored when Hannah uncoiled a wild pitch.

The Prowlers added a run in the third inning on a single by Paul Klungness, a stolen base, and Jim Wegge's single. And in the fourth inning, a single by Hjelle, a stolen base, a single by Lietzow, and a sacrifice fly by Saurdiff gave the Prowlers their sixth and final run.

While the Prowlers were tagging Curt Hannah for nine base hits, the Pirates were being handcuffed by the Prowlers veteran Arlan Hjelle. Crookston managed three hits off Hjelle's assortment of stuff, with Gary Harris lofting a single to right field in the second inning, Curt Hannah beating out an infield hit to third base in the sixth inning, and Pete Mickelson looping a single into right field, also in the sixth inning.

Jim Turner, Crookston's ace righthander, took over the Pirate pitching duties in the fifth inning, and he turned in a no-hit no-run stint for his two innings, getting four strikeouts.

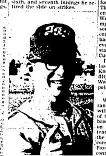
WHIFFER Arlan Hjelle turned in a three-hit shutout in leading the Prowlers' to a 6-0 win over the Crookston Pirates in a district conference baseball game here Friday night. Hjelle, flashing fine speed and a sweeping curve, threw his strike ball past eighteen Crookston batsmen. Hjelle whiffed every player in the Crookston lineup at least once, and in the second, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh innings he retired the side on strikes.



HOMER Harley Drees featured the Thieves' attack in the locals 15 to 5 win over Erskine in a Northern Minny league game played here Sunday. Drees poled out a three-run home run in the fourth inning, and later in the inning was given a walk to force in another run. In the second inning he lofted a sacrifice fly to center field scoring Larry Jorgenson. In the field, Drees handled five chances without a bobble.

Grade School Track

All parents have been extended a cordial invitation to be present at the annual grade school track and field tournament to be held at the Lincoln high school athletic field Wednesday, May 25.

The fifth grade events will begin at 1:30 P.M.; and the sixth grade at 2:00 P.M. The boys will compete in the following events: 50-yard dash; high jump; running broad jump; standing broad jump; baseball throw; and 220-yard relay. The girls will compete in the 50-yard dash; hop, step and jump; softball throw; and 160-yard relay.

In last year's tournament, coach Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians edged out the Knox Tigers, 101½ points to 99½ points, for the city grade school title. The Indians will have some talented veterans to send into Wednesday's tournament in Tommy Cummings and Dennis Hanson. Last season, as fifth grade competitors, Cummings won the baseball throw and high jump events, while Hanson won the standing broad jump, and tied Cummings in the high jump.

In the fifth grade competition last season, the Northrop and Knox squads were tied with fifty-one points apiece, with Washington having thirty-six points.

A Battle Royal

We will surely try and arrange our schedule so that we will be able to attend one or two of the sessions of the district 30 baseball tournament at Fosston on June 2 and 3. With such teams as the Twin Valley Tigers, the Ada Vikings, the Fertile Falcons, the Bagley Flyers, and the Fosston Greyhounds as probable contenders (following the sub-district playoffs) the tourney should be hotly-contested.

Coach Jerry Mehlisch's Twin Valley Tigers, when they have righthander Mickey Holen on the mound; would appear to have a slight edge over the Ada, Fertile, Bagley, and Fosston clubs. The Tigers are the defending district champions, and in last season's Region Eight tourney, the Prowlers, in a well-played game, edged out Twin Valley, 3-1, in a first round game.

Ada, with a pair of strong-armed righthanders in Dwayne Stadum and rangy Craig Bowyer, will be a threat in the sub-district and district competition. Incidentally, the Ada club will be here on Saturday night, May 28, for a game against the Prowlers. Last season, in a game played at Ada, the Prowlers, behind the steady pitching of Harley Drees, defeated the Vikings, 1-0. The locals scored a run in the first inning, with Drees driving in Eddie Lietzow, who had led off with a single, and made the lone run stand up for the win. Drees pitched a one-hitter, while the Prowlers were getting four hits off Stadum.

And coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile Falcons, on the brand of ball they exhibited here last week, are entirely capable of winning the district 30 championship. While the Falcons scored a 9 to 1 win over the Prowlers, coach Johnson was not too happy about the hitting of his boys, with Fertile getting but three hits, two of which were of the scratch variety, off Prowlers righthander Jack Goulet.

And district 32 shapes up as another district that will provide baseball fans with plenty of excitement at the district tournament at Newfolden on June 2 and 3. With the Baudette Bears and Roseau Rams proving to be contenders from the east half, and the Argyle Eagles and Hallock given high rating as the western half favorites.

Another Track Dynasty?

East Grand Forks high school won its second successive 31st district track and field championship when, in a tournament held in Grand Forks, the East Siders rolled up a total of 68 points. And the suspicion arises that coach Ronnie Thompson will be leading the Little Green Wave into a succession of track titles. Last season saw the Green Wave winning their first district track championship, and the indications are the East Siders will continue to be a district "power."

Ron Thompson has been given the head coaching job in football at East Grand Forks, replacing Harold (Snooks) Sullivan; but Thompson stated that he would continue to coach the East Grand Forks track squad.

On Saturday, it was evident that Thompson had taken a leaf from Quentin Jones' coaching manual, as the East Grand Forks squad proved to be well-balanced and scored in the majority of the events. That was the method used by Jones in leading the Prowlers to innumerable track and field championships.

The most exciting event on Saturday's program proved to be the 220-yard dash, and which was won by Prowler freshman Paul Klungness who edged out his sophomore brother Gary. Paul barely caught Gary in the last ten yards. And a close third was East Grand Forks' Jerry Werness.

Coast-to-Coast vs. Ben Franklin

The Wilson Bros., the Times, and the Ben Franklin trapshooting squads, winning their second matches, moved out ahead of the pack in the trap shoot league standings, each team having four points.

The Wilson's, with Sandy Wilson shooting a 25 straight and Merv Skadsen marking up a 22-6 for a "25", defeated the Oen's Appliance, 118-113, last Thursday. Hank Storhaug had a 21-5 for the losers.

The Times scored a 115 to 82 win over the Northern Chevrolet, who had only four eligible shooters present for the match. For the Times, Jim Rude, with a 20-6, and George Mostue, also with a 20-6, had "25's." While Roy Jorgenson had a 21-5 for the Chevy.

The Ben Franklin squad getting "25's" from Dr. Jim Disse, who had a 22-4, and Bill Ranta, who scored a 20-7, defeated the Ekeren Pharmacy, 118 to 95. The Pharmacy was shooting shorthanded in the match as they had only four shooters present. Stan Ranum had a 20-5 for the druggists.

The Coast-to-Coast squad "coasted" to a default win over the Starekow Clinic team, winning by a 109 to zero score. Don Olson, with a 22-3, had the only "25" for the defending league champions.

This week's feature match could be the Coast-to-Coast vs. Ben Franklin match. Gene (Pancake) Gaer has his Franklin squad in top condition for the match, having the handicaps arranged so that the team should post a 120-plus score. And there will be the individual contest between Jim Disse of the Franklins against Fred Mittelstadt of the Coast-to-Coast, with the odds being rated as even.

Methods to Control Brucellosis Outlined

Several dairy herds in Pennington county have had "brucellosis or Bangs" infections in the last year. A series of five articles has been prepared by County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk and Dr. Kenneth Rye, veterinarian, to cover this problem. Following is the third in the series.

Plans for Controlling Brucellosis Where Herds Are Infected

By taking blood samples from each animal and testing it for brucellosis organisms, the reactors can be identified. These reactors are branded and sold on the market for slaughter only. They are required to be slaughtered at federally inspected slaughterhouses.

However, the test and slaughter method is not adequate in certain herds. There are problem herds and there are varying herd conditions. Farm cattle are brought together in common sheds, barns, corrals, watering tanks, etc. This encourages the spread of the disease.

Farm herds usually consist of milk cows which brings in the elements of human brucellosis. There are other important phases to brucellosis eradication. The principal weakness in the brucellosis eradication program is the lack of proper sanitation and failure on the part of the livestock producers to clean up the premises.

Eradication of brucellosis in problem herds is handled by the state livestock sanitary board and the B.A.I.

Test and immediately eliminate positive reactors with calfhood vaccinated animals. Eliminate reactors. Sell for slaughter only.

Use calfhood vaccination. This is only an aid in increasing resistance. In an experiment, 70 vaccinated animals were artificially infected. 4.3% aborted. 73 non-vaccinated animals were artificially infected. 75.3% aborted. 4½ years used vaccination on 8,182 head—1.6% aborted from brucellosis.

Vaccinate at the age of 4-8 months. The titer in these animals goes up the same as in reactors. It clears in 3-12 months.

Offers Hints for Better Tomatoes

'U' M. Horticulturist Makes Suggestions

The quality and quantity of tomatoes you'll harvest from your garden this year will depend upon when and how you transplant them as well as the varieties you choose.

For early tomatoes, select Fireball or Hybrid EE, suggests O. C. Turnquist, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota. Firesteel, Sioux and Moreton hybrid are also good choices for early varieties. For the mid-season and late crop, choose Hybrid M and Big Boy.

Don't transplant tomatoes to the garden until danger of frost is past, Turnquist cautions. Soil and air temperatures need to be warm enough for good growth and development. June 1 is the recommended time to transplant tomatoes in Minnesota.

The University horticulturist gives these tips on transplanting:

Transplant tomatoes on a cool, cloudy day or in the late afternoon.

Water the plants well before setting them out.

Cut the soil between the plants in the flat with a knife so each plant can be separated easily and removed with a ball of soil attached.

Dig a hole large enough for the root ball and deep enough so the plant will be slightly deeper than it grew in the seedbed. Lay tall, spindly plants in shallow trenches about four inches deep, leaving only the top six inches of the plant exposed.

Pack the soil firmly around the roots.

Water with a solution of fertilizer to get the plants off to a good start. Buy a commercial preparation or make your own starter solution by dissolving ½ cup of a complete fertilizer in a gallon of water. Apply ½ cup of this solution to each plant. Continue watering with this solution at weekly intervals until the first fruit is set.

Black plastic mulch placed on the soil at transplanting time will smother weeds, warm up the soil and help produce earlier and better quality tomatoes.

"Conversation is the oldest form of instruction of the human race. It is still an indispensable one. Great books, scientific discoveries, works of art, great perceptions of truth and beauty in any form—all require great conversation to complete their meaning; without it they are abracadabra—color to the blind or music to the deaf. Conversation is the handmaid of learning, true religion and free government. It would be impossible to put too high a price on all we stand to lose by suffering its decay."

Smaller Cars, Less Tax

At a recent National Highway Users conference, a group interested in better public roads, there was real concern about the effect of small cars and lower gas consumption—meaning less gas tax revenue. It was predicted that if the present trend continues, gasoline tax revenue by 1961 would be $548 million below current estimates.

Suggestions that such a drop in revenue might be offset by tax increases met with little support, it being pointed out that bigger taxes probably would encourage a still greater shift to smaller cars. One answer, of course, would be to slow down the road construction program to what could be done with current revenues. One alternative would be to spread a larger share of road building costs to the large trucks that require so much more expensive roads.

The one wrong approach to this problem would be to build by borrowing. We already have much too much public debt.

Swing to the Right?

Senator John Kennedy now seems to have clear sailing for the Democratic nomination for president, and there is little doubt about Nixon being the Republican candidate. No one in either party seems to be interested in becoming vice president.

Kennedy's defeat of Senators Humphrey and Morse may be an indication of a conservative trend in the Democratic party. Humphrey and Morse have been generally looked upon as the left-wingers in the party and the fact that they were both beaten by big margins could indicate a change in rank-and-file thinking.

Funny Business

President Eisenhower vetoed a "depressed areas" bill last week, and it is not considered likely that its sponsors can get enough support in Congress to override the veto. Several other measures probably will share this fate during the few remaining weeks of the present session.

Some of these bills are passed solely for the purpose of putting a Republican president on the spot, and if Eisenhower were a candidate to succeed himself he probably would not use his veto power so freely. It is well, therefore, that he can act on such measures without a personal interest in the consequences, deciding according to his own best judgment what is right.

Politics is funny business.

Medical Care

Representatives of organized medicine, labor, industry and voluntary health insurance programs have agreed upon a general plan to extend protection and broaden the services available through group insurance rather than by government assistance. A two-day session in Chicago is said to have resulted in gratifying harmony on most aspects of the problem.

It is encouraging to know that these groups have met and will continue to meet in trying to find solutions for medical care problems without government direction. We are satisfied that socialized medicine is not the right answer.

But as the cost of medical care increases, the demand for socialized medicine is going to increase. As insurance costs go up more people will decide to get along without insurance, which means that those who are most in need of protection are most apt to be without it.

This problem of medical care, in all of its aspects, including insurance, needs a thorough and critical study, and such a study should have the support of those groups that now are providing the service and do not favor socialized medicine.

Khrushchev Now Calm

Nikita Khrushchev cooled down considerably after he arrived back in Moscow, indicating that his conduct is just as unpredictable at home as it is when he is abroad. He is not going to enter into that separate treaty with East Germany and he is not going to do anything about Berlin until after another summit meeting—when Eisenhower is no longer president. That should mean another year of peace and that is good news.

That the Moscow maniac overplayed his hand in Paris is fortunate for our side and for President Eisenhower. Worldwide reaction to the spy flight over Russia, and the manner in which the exposure had been handled in Washington, had been very unfavorable and in some places bitter.

To what extent the President was personally responsible for our bungling is not known. He has not attempted to shift the blame to others. This fact, along with the manner in which he conducted himself in Paris under the most trying circumstances, has done much to restore the respect and confidence of the people of friendly nations.

There is no accounting for Khrushchev's conduct. It may be assumed that he had come to the conclusion some time ago that Eisenhower should not be given an opportunity to visit with and speak to the Russian people. His public remarks long before the U-2 incident indicated that the Eisenhower visit must somehow be stopped.

His unwillingness to meet with the heads of the Western powers after he did get to Paris probably was due to his discovery that the three powers were united. On this angle the Wall Street Journal makes the following interesting observations:

"Perhaps it is useful to speculate just why Khrushchev went to Paris earlier than scheduled—and then did his best to torpedo the meeting in its first hours. He could have stayed home and wrecked it as effectively.

"Obviously, the Russian premier sought to use the U-2 incident to split the allies. Just a few days ago he was talking in hurt tones of misplaced trust and confidence in Mr. Eisenhower. How, he asked, can the Russian people love a man like that? But then he rushed off to Paris to a conference with General DeGaulle, and he learned that, though the timing might have been bad and the face of the U.S. a bit red because of the U-2, the French did not love us any the less for all of that.

"General DeGaulle is said to have suggested that the Russians were making too much of the matter, especially considering that they had a manikin satellite in the air themselves which for all he knew might do the same sort of photographing from 200 miles up that the U-2 had been doing from 10 miles up.

"Mr. Khrushchev then turned to Mr. Macmillan, and he learned there, too, that his complaint against U.S. intrusive flights, whatever the British may think of them, had not affected the British position on Berlin or any of the other matters of real importance. The West was solid, and would face Mr. Khrushchev as a unit across the table at Paris.

"But that has not stopped Khrushchev in the past; he has conferred before with everybody on the other side of the table. So other reasons must be explored to guess why Mr. Khrushchev appeared to be in such a towering rage.

"One explanation comes readily to mind. Not so very long ago there were some changes in the Communist hierarchy. A greater number of important men believe in a harder approach to international problems than Mr. Khrushchev had been appearing to follow in his visit to Camp David.

"If there has been a considerable rise in Stalinism in the men who surround the Russian premier, he is undoubtedly under strong pressure to adopt a tougher attitude toward the West; certainly the knowledge that U.S. planes were flying over Russia did not help him with his critics at home. It could have helped him only if he could put it to use to split the West.

"It may well be that all of Khrushchev's bluster and bombast was designed, really, only to end the flights. And since that has now happened, he may again become the old conciliatory Khrushchev. No one can say what he or the Kremlin really are after."

Time for Action

(Washington Post and Times Herald)

No Negro rodmen have yet been employed on Federal construction projects in the Nation's Capital. No Negro electricians have yet gone to work on these projects. Despite all the hoopla and hosannas of a few weeks ago when the President's Committee on Government Contracts and the president of the AFL-CIO and the General Services administration announced there was to be a final showdown on discrimination, nothing has happened. Five thoroughly qualified Negro rodmen have reported daily for weeks at the hiring hall of the Rodmen's Union, ready and eager for work. Daily they have been passed over by the union officials who assign workers to jobs.

This farce should be ended. It should be ended by ignoring the union's discriminatory referral system and hiring qualified Negro workers and putting them to work without any more equivocation or delay. If the contractor does not do this, GSA has an inescapable obligation to invoke the provisions of its contract forbidding racial discrimination in employment. The United States cannot continue to be a party to this denial of elementry justice. The time to put a stop to it is now.

Who Said 'Only' 40 Miles?

(Memphis Commercial Appeal)

Considerable interest has developed in the case of Dr. Barbara Moore, 56-year-old Britisher who is walking across this fairly far-flung country. She is going from west to east, by the way, and is subsisting on fruit, grass juices and other fodder of the same general sort. She gained recognition initially, we believe, by tramping from John o' Groat's to the Land's End, or vice versa. Anyhow, she hiked from one end of Great Britain to the other.

Incidentally, the good doctor's exploits have set off a sort of fad for walking long distances in Britain. Two British sergeants are also tramping across the United States at the moment. No Americans have fallen victim to the craze, as far as we know it, and most of us still insist on riding even if it's only a block.

General ignorance of the present generation of Americans as to walking is suggested by the fact that numerous headlines written after Dr. Moore started out said she registered "only 40 miles" on her first day. Plenty of us probably know that walking 40 miles in one day is no mean feat—no pun intended—but apparently the gentlemen who have been writing the headlines about the trek are not of that number.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

We wish to join the long waiting line of your critics. Through considerable effort we will do it as dispassionately and objectively as possible.

Civilian Defense is not perfect on a federal, regional, state, area or local level. We could all rest more easily if it were. It is small consolation that other phases of government have not attained perfection either.

For years your personal lack of sympathy for CD activity has been ill-concealed. Up until now it has not been quite so pointed. We hope this has been from a lack of comprehension of Civil Defense objectives rather than a blunt attack for want of something better to assault.

No less a personality than the Army Chief of Staff recently stated that Civil Defense is the keystone of national survival. Without personal and family survival there can be no industrial survival to provide the implements for military reprisal. He stated that perhaps fifty million Americans might be casualties in the initial attack alone. Civil Defense can minimize casualties by educating people on the value of home shelters, knowledge of warning systems, training loyal citizens to perform needed tasks in the event of disaster. This we attempt to do. Perhaps not so successfully as we would like to but the limitations of budget and voluntary cooperation impose restraints which are not typical of (for instance) the military services.

Civilian Defense Services saved countless lives in the Battle of Britain. If you have read Winston Churchill's works (as I am sure you have) you have noted this. It will save countless lives in the United States, too, if we are subjected to the holocaust of another world war.

Your main criticism seems to stem from the fact that in CD Operation Alert for 1960 we had no provision for utilizing the National Guard. Obviously the Guard and every other living soul will be drawn into service when the situation demands. However, we assume that the National Guard will be immediately mobilized into federal service in the event of attack and therefore will not be available for local use. (I served with a Guard outfit for four years in WW II and no one has greater respect for its role in national defense.)

Most organizations are spurred to better effort by honest criticism. We hope that we are no exception. However, your blanket deprecation of Civil Defense does great disservice to thousands of Americans who have dedicated much free time and effort to build toward a better chance for survival.

Few men have contributed more than you toward community welfare in this city. Your understanding and support of Civil Defense will add to your stature.

Sincerely,
Ken Gustafson

I was in the audience Tuesday evening when the choirs of Lincoln presented their annual concert. It was the most enjoyable fifty cents I ever spent.

Of course we have a daughter that sing with the junior choir. When she came home and told us about the concert we grudgingly gave her $1.00 for two tickets and thought, "another school affair to endure" because she was taking part. Never again will this be the case.

As long as we have instructors as capable as Mr. Ulseth, who can get these youngsters to sing like they did, we will be in the audience for every concert. Those of you who missed it this year better plan on enjoying it next year.

THIS MAY COVER some arguments you've had at your house: A parent has the legal right to open his offspring's mail until the child is 21. But if the son or daughter is self-supporting, his parents have no right to open the mail. But take caution. Almost any child will know about it and be resentful if his parents open or read his mail without some good reason—with or without a legal right . . . Russia's generals will follow the lead of the Allies' military leaders by publishing their memoirs of World War II . . . Monetary Note from Thornton Wilder: "There are no poor in America, only people temporarily without money."

LOSING HAIR? An estimated 23 million men in the country are either bald or partially bald, and of this number about 1,250,000 wear hairpieces. Their average age is 29.5 years. And even though the baldies laugh at jokes concerning their pates, most are sensitive about hair loss. As a result, hairpiece manufacturers are finding it difficult to keep up with the demand for them.

DAIRY FARMERS in Minnesota don't need to look far to find a good sized market for their products. The 33,000 Northern Minnesota families who depend upon iron mining or related business, represent a pretty good market all by themselves. They consume over 19 million quarts of milk—that's the output of 4,760 milk cows—and for all dairy products they spend more than $5¼ million each year. Means that iron mining is mighty important in our Minnesota economy.

A YOUNGSTER TURNED UP for school with a new sweater and when the teacher asked if his mother had knitted it for him; the small fry retorted, "All but the hole for my head—that was there when she started" . . . If your refrigerator makes an odd noise, check to see if it's perfectly level. That could be the trouble . . . According to a juvenile court judge, American parents "spend too much time in preparing a path for their children, and too little time preparing their children for the path" . . . Overheard: "It's true love. He bought her a mink retail."

Tell How to Prepare Child for Operation

"Will it hurt?" "Will I die?" These are two of the questions asked most frequently by children faced by an operation.

The Minnesota State Medical association advised parents not to underestimate the vital role which is theirs to help the child Psychologically for this important event.

When explaining details of surgery and hospitalization to the child, use terms which are easily understood. It might be well to remember that small children ordinarily are not interested in great detail so the danger of becoming too technical should be avoided. Simple explanations can also help minimize the possibility of creating warped impressions of hospitals, doctors and nurses in the mind of a child with an active imagination.

When asked if it will hurt, the child should be told that there will be a brief period of pain and that he will feel much better when it's all over.

A reassuring "no" should be the answer to the child's question, "Will I die?"

Expressions used to refer to surgical procedures can have a psychological impact upon the child. Avoid use of the word "cut". A better choice is "remove". Regarding the use of anesthesia, avoid terms like "knockout", and "put you under". Rather tell the child that someone is coming to help him go to sleep. Without going into great detail the child should be told that the stick in the finger for a blood test will hurt a little bit. Use of the expression "little" whether it refers to pain or surgical instruments has been found to have a comforting effect upon the child.

Crookston Band Director Honored

T. W. Thorson Honored for 28 Years Service

T. W. Thorson of Crookston, who is retiring as Central high school band director, was honored Wednesday night during the spring instrumental concert at Central high school and at a silver tea following.

Thorson, who has been music director since 1932, will retire at the end of the school term. This marked his last concert at Central.

Mrs. Kenneth Miller served as mistress of ceremonies at a program for which Glenn Houske, a former student of Thorson's, was main speaker. He told of the many activities of Mr. Thorson since his arrival in Crookston and of the time donated to Crookston's music groups.

Mrs. Miller told of numerous people in the United States and abroad in the musical entertainment field who received their starts under Thorson. About 20 graduates of Central high school are now in the music field professionally.

Three music instructors in District 31, who were students of Thorson were introduced. They are Bryant Ulseth of Thief River Falls, Robert Ramstad of Gary and Robert Simmons of Fisher.

Mr. and Mrs. Thorson were presented with a purse of money.

On Wednesday, March 16, our annual General Inspection was conducted by the Inspector General's Department, 5th Army. After a very thorough inspection our company received word that we had received an excellent rating. In the Inspector's report a special mention was given the class conducted by 1st Lt. Edlund. The report states that the class was especially clear, interesting and given in an outstanding manner.

Sgt. Walter Franke, one of the outstanding sergeants of our unit, recently left for a 24-month active duty tour with the regular army. Franke was with us for almost six years and now will be stationed at Fort Carson, Colo. The Guard wishes Sgt. Franke good luck in his new endeavor.

Recently Sgt. Ronald Anderson and Sgt. Don Rupprecht attended noncommissioned officers academy at Fort Riley, Kansas. Sgt. Anderson was the outstanding student at the academy and received a beautiful desk pen set for his high achievement.

We now have eight men on six months active duty training and five more are scheduled to leave in June. The Guard is always open to ambitious young men who want to serve their country here at home. Hay Conditioners

Result: You save more of the valuable leaves and reduce the weather risk.

However, University of Minnesota farm engineers say the type of hay conditioner you choose makes little difference as far as effect on hay drying is concerned. Crushers and crimpers are equally effective, research shows.

More important is to have the machine properly adjusted, say the engineers.

John Strait, A. K. Solstad, K. J. Albrecht and L. L. Dibley recently compared five types of hay conditioners. One was a crusher with smooth steel rolls. Another had rolls with tire carcas stamping, a third was a bar type crimper and a fourth was a crimper crusher with one smooth steel roll and another roll with steel bars welded to it in a spiral pattern.

The fifth type was a 12-foot swather with 4-foot crimper rolls.

The engineers used the conditioners on first crop alfalfa-brome and on a second cutting of straight alfalfa. Results from all types were virtually the same.

In each test, the researchers started cutting at about 10 a.m. (daylight saving time) and conditioned the hay immediately. They raked it into windrows 2 or 3 hours later, when it contained about 50 per cent moisture.

With good drying weather and no rain, conditioned first crop hay was usually down to 25 per cent or less moisture within 29 hours. It could have been baled on the afternoon of the day following cutting.

Unconditioned hay, however, usually couldn't have been baled until the third day, since it didn't dry as fast.

Even after a rain, conditioned hay reached a safe storage moisture content several hours before the untreated forage.

The differences which engineers did find among different types of conditioners were due mainly to adjustment, rather than design.

Also, conditioning was about as effective on first crop hay as it was on second cutting.

Purpose of a hay conditioner is to either crush or crimp the hay stem so it will dry faster. This way, stems are more likely to dry at the same rate as leaves; ordinarily, by the time stems are dry, leaves are so brittle they shatter and fall off.

Conditioning, then, is a way to save the protein-rich leaves and therefore aid hay quality. Also, getting hay dry and off the field quicker helps a farmer take advantage of shorter periods of good drying weather.

Feeding System for Ewe Flock

If a sheep producer is pinched for time and help, he might cut corners by feeding his ewes only three times a week.

Of course, he'll have to give the ewes as much total feed. And that will mean more at each feeding, which might result in some feed waste—but not necessarily a great deal.

University of Minnesota researchers recently compared daily feeding with three times per week feeding for wintering ewes. Two lots were on each system for 99 days.

Ewes fed only three times weekly gained a little slower, but the difference wasn't serious. One lot on that system averaged 19.2 pounds per head and the other averaged 17.9 pounds each for the 99-day period.

Ewes fed daily gained about 23 pounds per head.

However, ewes fed three times per week produced as many lambs and as much wool as ewes fed every day.

The researchers noticed certain things about the alternate day feeding. Ewes cleaned up their feed the day they received it and went without eating the next day. They also rooted some of their feed out of the bunks and trampled it into the ground. The waste could explain why they gained a little slower than those fed every day.

Researchers concluded that alternate day feeding should be all right where there's a labor shortage. It might be especially helpful for drylot feeding during the summer.

Chemicals Usage

If farmers read and heed labels, they can go a long way toward avoiding another cranberry controversy.

That label on the chemical container is the best guard you have against misuse.

Federal law requires labels to specify and give directions that won't result in toxic residues in food or feed — regardless of the type chemical involved.

So when you buy any farm chemical, check the label. It should tell:

1. Name and address of manufacturer or selling agency.
2. Name, brand or trademark.
2. Net weight, volume or measure of contents.
4. Statement of ingredients.
5. Poison labeling if the product is "highly toxic to man."
6. Precautionary warnings to prevent injury to persons, animals, or vegetation. This warning may appear separately or in addition to the required poison labeling.
7. Complete directions for use.

Every legally-sold chemical contains all that information. If it isn't there, don't buy the chemical. If you suspect a label to be out of date, check with the seller.

In Thief River Falls the program will be held at 11 a.m. in the National Guard Armory, and will be preceded at 10:30 by a procession from the municipal Auditorium, including the color guard, Legion municipal band, war veterans and Gold Star parents.

Those taking part in the procession are asked to meet in front of the arena at 10:15, including cars and their drivers to transport the Gold Star parents, who are urged to appear whether or not they receive a personal invitation.

RLF Youth Killed as Car Hits Deer

Arlan Rogge Victim of Mishap Near Nashwauk

One of four boys being taken to the Youth Conservation Camp Thistledew north of Nashwauk, Minn., was killed late Tuesday when a station wagon plunged down an embankment after striking a deer.

Dead was Arlan Rogge, 18, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rogge of Red Lake Falls.

Earl Gunsalus, assistant superintendent of the camp who was at the wheel of the station wagon, was hospitalized with a back injury and severe cuts. The three other boys, whose names were withheld, were only shaken up and went on to the camp after an examination.

Officers said the station wagon rolled over several times going down the bank and onto the shore of Twin Lake, five miles south of Nashwauk.

Community Chest to Disband as Result of Action Taken Monday

A motion to disband the present Pennington county Community Chest organization was adopted at a meeting Monday evening attended by a dozen persons, including members of the board of directors and others interested in the local agency.

It was agreed also that the present board should hold over for the time being in the event local business leaders decide to undertake to set up a successor agency.

The Community Chest was established here in 1951, and for several years experienced much success in reaching its objectives, but interest in the Chest has been distracted in recent years by independent drives conducted by a variety of health agencies.

George Hale, Community Chest president, conducted Monday's meeting in the court house assembly room, and he distributed copies of a financial report as of March 31, showing a bank balance of $75.98 in addition to a reserve fund in the amount of $383.53.

The report showed 1959 drive receipts of $9,391.73, and disbursements of $9,099 to participating agencies, including the Sister Kenny Foundation, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation and N. W. Assn. for Retarded Children. Expenses of the campaign aggregated $380.76.

Legion Poppy Days Friday & Saturday

Paper Flowers Are Made by Disabled Veterans

May 27-28 will mark the annual Poppy Days here, according to Miss Nancy Grainger, American Legion auxiliary Poppy Day chairman.

She said Poppy Day, an annual memorial to the nation's war dead, has been held in this area for many years. She added that the poppy became the memorial flower of the American Legion about 40 years ago.

"The first memorial poppies were worn in this country about the time of the Armistice. Following World War I one of the first acts of the newly formed American Legion and American Legion auxiliary was the adoption of the poppy as the official memorial flower," Miss Granger said.

GRADING work was done on the city parking lot south of the post office Tuesday, May 24, by street crew personnel in preparation to surfacing the lot at a later date. A large tree was removed from the eastern section of the lot and cement posts and cable were put into place at the northern boundary. At present, the new surface will be covered with gravel but a more permanent covering will be laid later.

LaVone Taggart and Dale Bernard Wed May 21

Baskets of white gladioli and pink carnations, ferns and candelabra graced the altar of the First Baptist church for the double ring ceremony which united LaVone Rae Taggart and Dale R Bernard in holy matrimony Saturday, May 21, with the Rev. Ronald Dalzell officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Taggart of this city, while the bridegroom's mother is Mrs. Caroline Bernard of Roosevelt, Minnesota.

Lois Dahlstrom, friend of the bride, presided at the piano for the nuptial music and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. James Erickson, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, as they sang "O Promise Me" before the ceremony, "O Perfect Love" during the ceremony and as Mr. Erickson sang "The Lord's Prayer" as they were kneeling at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of Chantilly lace which featured a bouffant skirt of lace and nylon tulle over tiers of net and taffeta and a fitted bodice with a scoop neckline trimmed with sequins and long sleeves that came to a point over the hands. Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of pearls and her bouquet was of pink roses and feathered carnations. Her pearl necklace and earrings were a gift from the bridegroom.

The maid of honor, Carol Taggart, sister of the bride, and bridesmaid, Pat Anderson, wore identical street length dresses of pink chiffon over taffeta with scoop necklines, puffed sleeves and cumberbunds. They wore pink rose headbands with short veils and carried bouquets of pink roses and feathered carnations. Their gifts from the bride were pearl earrings and white gloves.

The junior bridesmaid, Fae Taggart, sister of the bride, and flower girl, Pamela Erickson, a niece, were dressed in identical dresses of pink nylon over taffeta with lace bodices and wide sashes. Their headbands and bouquets were the same as those of the other bridal attendants and their cultured pearl necklaces and white gloves were gifts from the bride.

Attending as best man was Archie Bernard, brother of the bridegroom with Jay Eatling, as groomsman and James Taggart, brother of the bride as junior groomsman. Jeffrey Larson of Detroit Lakes, nephew of the bride, carried the rings on a satin heart shaped pillow. Duane Taggart of Grand Forks, brother of the bride, and Jim Kooyer, seated the guests. The gentlemen of the bridal party wore light suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Taggart chose a navy dress with white accessories while the bridegroom's mother wore a pink dress with matching accessories. They were presented corsages of pink roses and white carnations as was the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Lewis.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlors with approximately 150 guests attending.

A five-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bridal table. Mrs. James Erickson, sister of the bride served as hostess with Mrs. Albin Ranstron, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Walter Hexum, sister of the bridegroom, cutting and serving the cake and Mrs. Don Johnson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Duane Taggart, sister-in-law of the bride, pouring.

Carol Anton was in charge of the guest book and Arlene Hallin, cousin of the bride, and Darlene Olson, at the gift table. Waitresses were Carol Lovly, Judy Owen and Pat Larson.

For travel the bride chose a two piece brown and white dress with matching accessories and a corsage taken from the bridal bouquet. Following a trip the couple will be making their home at 503½ So. Arnold.

The bride attended the Lincoln high school and is now employed at Northwestern Hospital while the bridegroom is a 1956 graduate of the Williams high school and is employed at Dow-Key company of this city.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were from International Falls, Roosevelt, Warroad, Minneapolis, Detroit Lakes, Alvarado, Grand Forks, Warren and Bemidji.

AT FIRST BAPTIST Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bernard, nee LaVone Taggart, were united in marriage Saturday, May 21 at First Baptist church. Rev. Ronald Dalzell officiated at the double ring ceremony. Ray Bren Chooses Michael Soeby for Legionville Camp

Lucky Drawing Enables Officer to Sponsor Boy at School Patrol Camp

Officer Ray Bren, whose name was one of nine drawn at the 1959 meeting of the Minnesota Police and Peace Officers association to sponsor a school patrol boy or girl for a week at camp, has selected Michael Soeby for the honor.

Michael, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Soeby, Oakland Park rd., is a tenth grade pupil at Lincoln high school. He was selected for his outstanding work as a school patrol boy for the past three years and will attend Legionville school safety patrol center near Brainerd, from July 31 to August 6.

According to a letter from Edward H. Bolstad, secretary of the Police and Peace Officers association, the local boy will receive the expense-paid week at Legionville through the nomination of Officer Bren.

Boys and girls chosen to attend the center, which is a statewide training center for school and bus patrol officers, are selected because they will be the leaders in the safety activities of their schools, not as a reward for their services. The camp is located on a [illegible]-acre tract on the south shore of North Long lake. Classroom instruction in safety patrol methods is given by qualified highway patrol officers. Nature study and conservation training is directed by forest rangers and wardens.

Summer youth camp activities will include swimming, athletics and recreation under the direction of selected counselors.

Legionville, while operated by the American Legion, is not restricted to campers sponsored only by local posts or units. Main sponsors are local service organizations, labor unions, church organizations, business firms or individuals.

John Johnson, one of the oldest remaining pioneer settlers of this community, who settled in Rocksbury township in 1893, died Saturday at a local rest home at the age of 94.

Born in Malmo, Sweden, April 28, 1866, he grew to manhood there, and at the age of 23 he immigrated to this country, settling first in Montana, where he was employed by the Great Northern railway for four years, after which he came to Thief River Falls and took up a homestead in Rocksbury.

He was married in 1897 in this city to Alice Nelson, who preceded him in death in May, 1955.

Funeral rites for Mr. Johnson will be conducted Friday, May 27, at 2 p.m. from the First Lutheran church, with the Rev. Marvin Carlson officiating, and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Green funeral home until 11 a.m. Friday, and at the church one hour before the time of the services.

Surviving his death are four sons, Henry, Emil, Elmer and Arthur, all of Thief River Falls; two daughters, Mrs. Holger Nelson of Wallspell, Montana, and Mrs. Howard Wherry of Los Angeles, California; one brother, August Johnson, in Sweden; also four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife, one daughter, two brothers and a sister.

Father of Local Man Succumbs at Crookston May 21

John F. Larson, 88, a resident of Crookston for over 50 years, died Saturday, May 21, at a Crookston hospital. He had been hospitalized a week with complications from a fall suffered a week before.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the Covenant church, where he was a member.

Mr. Larson was born Oct. 21, 1871, in Sweden and came to Crookston in 1903. He worked for the Great Northern Railway for 35 years, retiring in 1940. He was married to the former Anna Olson Oct. 13, 1905, in Crookston.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, Harry and Elmer of Crookston and Rudy of Thief River Falls; two daughters, Adella and Alice of Crookston; three grandchildren and one sister in Sweden.

after being tabled during the previous regular council meeting May 17. The bid of Forkenbrock Motor Co. for $2650 plus $10 for optional engine gauges was accepted for the new truck, with delivery to be made as quickly as possible.

Albert Koop and Gordon Hunt represented the fair board before the council in seeking a more workable agreement with the city in the matter of fairgrounds maintenance.

After considerable discussion it was decided an agreement between the city and fair board dating back to 1951 be kept but that any amount of services over $1000 be paid for by the fair board. Alderman Christianson moved to give the fair board $1000 for the current year, less whatever the board has already used in services from the city. Benson seconded the motion and it was passed unanimously.

An agreement was also made whereby fair authorities may contact department heads to procure the necessary services, without contacting council members for clearance, with the stipulation that any services going over a combined total of $1000 for any year shall be paid for in cash. The city is prohibited by law from giving over $1000 in any fiscal year to the fair board, in cash or services.

The council conferred with Bob Jablinske, street department head, on several matters pertaining to street work in the city this summer. Several problems in drainage of Davis av. N. were discussed and Alderman Rau said time and money spent in attempting to alleviate a frost-boil situation on Davis av. would be wasted unless a storm sewer is laid.

Alderman Peterson made a motion, seconded by Alderman Ranum, and approved by all, that the council get a feasibility report from the city engineer on the Davis av. project, to be heard at the next meeting.

Jablinski also recommended that load limits on city streets be reduced to prevent damages during break-up periods. The matter was discussed and deferred until the next regular meeting when Jablinski is to investigate what is being done in other cities.

Considerable heat was generated when it was proposed that angle parking should be abandoned on both east and west Second st. Alderman Rau stated angle parking is a hazard to life and property, and that there is not sufficient parking problem in the city to warrant continuation of angle parking.

When Alderman Christianson made a counter-proposal that angle parking be eliminated on one side of Second st. only, accusations of unfairness and partiality flew.

The whole matter grew out of a question by Alderman Rau concerning whether the city should seal-coat city streets before traffic lines are drawn on the streets by the street department.

The matter was finally deferred until the next regular council meeting and tempers subsided. Proposals concerning new exits and entries to the parking lot south of the post office will also be aired at the next regular meeting.

A communication from the liquor store manager regarding disposal of old equipment and inventory at the liquor store since remodeling was read. Many items have been sold with $683 received from such sales, while much of the list remaining unsold is completely depreciated.

Change orders to the Ranum Construction Co., orders No. 5, 6 and 7, in the amount of $539.68 were read and approved, while semi-final estimates in the amount of $3301.50 total from Ranum Construction Co., Lee Plumbing & Heating Co. and a final estimate from O. P. Electric Service, were read and approved.

The matter of a building permit application from Wm. Kvalsten for a restaurant at Third st. and Knight av. in the amount of $1800 was approved. The permit has been held over from the regular meeting when the low cost listed on the application caused discussion. Investigation showed the proposed building meets all requirements and the permit was subsequently approved.

The matter of Carl Johnson, city dump operator who was injured some time ago, was again discussed and it was decided there is nothing further the city can do.

The new city wage scale was discussed and approved. The raise amounts to 7 cents an hour across the board and is effective, retroactive to Jan. 1. The meeting was then adjourned.

Plummer Legion Notes Memorial Day Next Monday

The Plummer American Legion and auxiliary will present the annual Memorial Day program at the Plummer high school auditorium on Monday, May 30, at 10 a.m. The cemeteries will be visited immediately following the program.

Rev. Glenn Atchison of Red Lake Falls will be the guest speaker. Special music will be provided by the sixth grade pupils of the Plummer school under the direction of Mrs. Ben Schjeldrup.

A public dinner will be served in the church parlors of the Immanuel Lutheran church at noon.

Mobile Hospital Moved Monday by Teamsters Union

15 Volunteers Move Civil Defense Equipment to Hartz Stores Warehouse

A group of 15 volunteer workers donated their services Monday evening to move the 200-bed civil defense mobile hospital from its former location in the old water plant on East Second st. to new and larger quarters made available in the L. B. Hartz Stores warehouse.

Approximately 20 tons of equipment was moved in about four hours by 13 city employes affiliated with Local 664 of the Teamsters Union and two men from Northwestern Hospital. Two trucks from the Hartz warehouse and one from the city street department were used to transport the equipment.

The workers from Local 664 included Arno Wiskow, John Thorstad, Leland Enge, Pat Casey, Russell Lane, Clarence Breiland, Freeman Lanska, Clayton Rux, Albert Lafrenz, Don Olson, Roy Jensen, Russell Mben and Henry Thorson; and from the hospital, Frank Harger and Al Chruzch.

MEMORIAL Day services will be held at the Satersdal church, above, which is located three miles east and seven miles north of the city, this year in what is expected to be a series of annual memorial services at that church site. The Satersdal church and Our Savior's Lutheran church, right, located at 401 St. Paul Ave. S. were united to form one congregation November 30, 1959, climaxing negotiations which had gone on for nearly a year. The new congregation has guaranteed that the rural church building and cemetery will be maintained. The Satersdal Ladies Aid continues to be a separate organization and meets occasionally at the country church. Rev. Lynn Luthard is pastor of the parish which includes the Rindal, Bethlehem and Reiner Lutheran churches.

Prowlers Upset Bagley Nine 4-3

The Prowlers' veteran right hander, Arlan Hjelle, was called for relief duty in the sixth inning of the Prowlers vs. Bagley Flyers baseball game at Bagley on Monday evening, and the senior hurler protected the Prowler lead to give coach Ralph Skay's club a 4 to 3 decision over coach Ken Severud's district 30 team.

The Prowlers will conclude their pre-tournament schedule this week when, on Friday night they play the Warren Ponies on the Warren diamond, and on Saturday night when they play the Ada Vikings on the Fair Grounds diamond. The 31st district tournament will be played on the Riverside Park diamond in Red Lake Falls on June 1, 2 and 4. The Prowlers are the defending district and regional champions.

Jack Goulet, after limiting Bagley to one hit and one run in five innings of play, and leading the Prowlers to a 4 to 1 lead, was tagged for a single by Phil Anderson, a triple by Ken Theis in the last half of the sixth inning. Goulet struck out clean-up hitter Tom Sorenson, but Jack Klepp drove a ground single into left field, scoring Theis with Bagley's third run, paring the Prowler lead to 4 to 3. Hjelle came in from left field to take over the pitching duties for the Prowlers, and the righthander doled out a pair of walks to fill the bases. Dan Setterberg, attempting a squeeze play bunt, grounded to Hjelle who made the play at the plate to force Klepp. Larry Hoff whiffed to end the rally.

In the seventh inning, Curt Josephson, a righthanded batter, sliced a triple into the corner in right field. Phil Anderson, after attempting a pair of bunts, which were fouled off, struck out; and Theis, to, was a strike-out victim. Sorenson ended the game by swinging futilely at a curve ball on a two strikes and one ball pitch.

The Prowlers picked up three runs in the first inning on a walk to Gary Klungness, an error on Eddie Lietzow's roller to the mound, an outfield muff of Paul Saurdiff's loft to center field, and a single by Paul Klungness.

In the third inning, the locals scored what proved to be the game-winning tally when Hjelle powered a three-bagger to the fence in right center, and when a low throw eluded the relay man, Hjelle sprinted around third and came in with a score.

Bagley scored their first run of the game in the fourth inning on a single by Phil Anderson, an error, and a pair of wild pitches. Goulet, making his second start since recovering from a shoulder injury, retired Bagley in order in the first, third, and fifth innings. The big righthander exhibited fine control, giving up but two walks.

Goodridge Nine to Play Climax in First Round Next Wednesday at 1:30

At a meeting held at Warren on Tuesday evening, plans were completed for the 31st district high school baseball tournament, which will be played at Red Lake Falls on June 1, 2, and 4.

The committee named the district's top four teams, and seeded these teams into the tournament. Thief River Falls was rated number one, Crookston rated number two, Climax rated number three, and Alvarado rated number four. Teams number one and four were seeded into the lower bracket, and teams number tow and three were seeded into the upper bracket.

The pairings for the first round of play on Wednesday, June 1, will be as follows: 1:30 p.m., Climax vs. Goodridge; 3:30 p.m., Crookston vs. Warren; 6:15 p.m., Alvarado vs. Red Lake Falls; and 8:15 p.m., Thief River Falls vs. Plummer or Oslo. A playoff game is necessary between Plummer and Oslo, and this game will be played on the Fair Grounds diamond here at 3:30 p.m. on Friday.

The semi-finals games will be played at 6:15 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. on Thursday, June 2. And the district championship game will be played on Saturday night at 8:15 p.m.

Schedule, Sunday, May 29
Winger at Gonvick
Fosston at Erskine

Six of the seven teams in the Northern Minny league opened play on the 1960 schedule Sunday, with three games being played. The scores in the games were quite one-sided as Bagley, Thief River Falls, and Cass Lake registered triumphs.

In a game played at Thief River Falls, manager John Drury's Thieves, with righthander Bob Hallameck on the mound, defeated the Erskine Merchants, 15 to 5. Last season, Hallameck played with the Erskine club.

The Bagley Merchants, league playoff champions last season, defeated the Winger Tigers, 13 to 3, at Winger. And Cass Lake scored a lop-sided win over Gonvick, a newcomer to league play, winning by a 16 to 1 score in a game played at Cass Lake.

Next Sunday's schedule was shuffled somewhat by the postponement of the Thief River Falls vs. Bagley game at Bagley. Due to conflict with high school baccalaureate services at Bagley, manager Mel Brusted of the Merchants requested a postponement of the Thieves tilt. The game will be re-scheduled at a later date. The other games on Sunday's slate will be played as scheduled, with Fosston playing at Erskine, and Winger playing at Gonvick.

Stan Wilson Heads Local Trap Club

Erling Torgerson Is Reelected Secretary

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Thief River Falls Trap club, held at the home of Tony Dorn Monday evening, Stan Wilson was elected president, succeeding W. E. Dahlquist, retired director.

Wilson had served as vice president, and elected to succeed him was Tony Dorn. Erling Torgerson was elected to succeed himself as secretary-treasurer.

Various problems of the trap club operation and the league organization were discussed. Committees were named to study the possibility of equalizing team membership and to consider the desirability of organizing the club as a non-profit corporation.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Bums' Opener

Wally Grovum's baseball Bums of the Pen-Ro-Shall league will play their home opener on Sunday afternoon when, on the Fair Grounds diamond, they meet the Goodridge club.

The Bums were impressive in their season-opener at Plummer last Sunday, scoring an 8 to 3 win over the club that upset the Bums in the league playoffs last year. The game was featured by the nifty pitching of lefty Freddy Jensen, with the former Prowler the was a member of the Prowler pitching staff in 1956 and 1957) getting nineteen strikeouts, and giving up but four hits.

Coach Wally Grovum states that Jensen will probably get the pitching assignment against Goodridge in the opener, with Buzz Ward, a newcomer to Bums' baseball, being behind the plate.

While Wally Grovum is the manager of record of the Bums club, it is a fact that Wally's father, Gunder, is the general manager and the strategist of the club. Gunder, who is the Frank Lane of the Pen-Ro-Shall league as far as trades and transactions are concerned, emphasized that several of the Bums players are to due to be placed on the waiver list, and mentioned first baseman Dean Anderson and third baseman Rowdy Roy Pederson in particular. According to Gunder, the Bums team is "solid" down the middle, but there is a weakness on the fringes.

Gunder added that if the Bums team isn't leading the league by July 10th, well, he'll consider trading the entire squad for a flock of sheep.

But all kidding aside, why not make the trip to the Fair Grounds on Sunday afternoon for the Bums game? And there will be some added interest to the game, too, as Gary Anderson, a member of the high school Prowlers club, is playing with Goodridge.

They'll Give It a Try

We'll be watching with interest the performance of the Prowler 880-yard relay team in the Region Eight tournament at Bemidji on Saturday. This quartet—Gary Klungness, Paul Klungness, Don Waldera, and Dale Wennberg—won the district 880-yard relay event at Grand Forks last Saturday, speeding over the half-mile in 1:37.2.

That mark tied the district record set by a Prowler relay team of Al Williamson, Jim Anderson, Joe Bradley, and Keith Rosengren in 1949. That 1949 team went on to win the regional relay title, too, setting a record of 1:36.2. This record held up for a number of years, but it was beaten in 1958 by the Bemidji Lumberjacks, who set a mark of 1:36.

We aren't selling this Prowler relay team short, and if they can get some smooth handoffs of the baton, we wouldn't be surprised if Gary and Paul and Don and Dale approach the regional record.

Coach Rod Max's Prowlers will have several entries in the regional tournament. Gary Klungness will run in the 100 and 220-yard dash events; younger brother Paul will run in the 220-yard dash event; and Ken Leitan will compete in the high jump event.

The Season's First

The local golf club will be host to its first tournament of the 1960 season, when during the weekend, the "Spring Swing" tournament will be played.

The championship flight golfers must play an 18-hole qualifying round on Saturday, with the tee-off time being at the convenience of the golfers.

Following the posting of the qualifying scores the pairings for the championship flight matches will be made. Golfers competing in the lower flights can post qualifying scores at the club house, by phone or mail.

The matches will be 18-hole affairs, with first round and quarter-final matches on Sunday, and semi-finals and finals on Monday.

Softball Meeting

Larry Thorstenson informed us that an important softball meeting will be held in the basement meeting room in the Auditorium this evening, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m.

All of the team captains and managers are requested to be in attendance at the meeting, the purpose of which is to nail down the final plans for the 1960 season.

And speaking of softball, we were told this week that it is doubtful if Bob Carlson will be able to play with the Bridgeman's team this season. Bob contends that he has been feeling the aches and pains of arthritis in his hands, and that it is difficult for him to grasp a softball. We surely hope that Bob's condition will respond to treatment, and that he will be able to strut out to the mound on the East Side diamond and throw his cannonball delivery. He's a colorful character.

Prowler Nine Easily Defeats RLF 16 to 1

The Prowlers, winning their tenth game of the season and remaining undefeated in district conference play, scored a 16 to 1 win over the Red Lake Falls Eagles on the Fair Grounds diamond Wednesday evening. The game was curtailed at the end of four and a half innings of play.

The Prowlers will travel to Warren on Friday for a conference game against coach Irv St. John's Warren Ponies. Game time has been slated for 7:00 P.M. And on Saturday night, in an 8:00 P.M. game on the Fair Grounds diamond, the Ada Vikings of district 30 will meet the Prowlers in the season's finale. On Wednesday, June 1, at 8:15 P.M. at Red Lake Falls, the Prowlers will meet either Plummer or Oslo in a first round game of the district tournament.

In Wednesday evening's tilt here, coach Ralph Skay's club bounced into an early 5 to 0 lead. Gary Klungness led off with a single to right, stole second, and advanced to third on a wild pitch. Arlan Hjelle walked; Eddie Lietzow also walked, loading the bases. Jim Wegge, who had "two for two" during the game, pulled a two-base hit down the left-field foul line, scoring Klungness and Hjelle. Paul Klungness punched a single to center field, scoring Lietzow and Wegge. That blow sent the Eagles' starting pitcher Doug Theroux, into right field, and brought rangy Jason Huseby in from shortstop to take over the mound chores. Paul Saurdiff, who had a big night at the plate with two doubles and a single, greeted Huseby with a single scoring Klungness.

The Prowlers, on singles by Hjelle and Wege and a double by Saurdiff, plus a pair of walks and an error, tallied four runs in the second inning, gaining a 9 to 1 lead.

The Eagles scored their lone run in the second inning when, with two men out, Gary Anderson doled out walks to Tom Byers, Doug Theroux, and Lowell Kalbakdalen to fill the bases. Jim Fellman singled to center field, scoring Byers. Fast fielding by Gary Klungness held Theroux at 3rd base. Anderson, who gave up but four hits, struck out Bill Phillon to end the threat.

The Prowlers racked up seven runs in the fourth inning, with five walks and a hit batsman giving the locals an opportunity to romp across the plate. Two hits were marked up during the rally, with Saurdiff hitting a double and Jack Goulet beating out an infield hit.

Questions Answered as to Bangs Disease

Several dairy herds in Pennington county have had "brucellosis or Bangs" infections in the last year. A series of five articles has been prepared by County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk and Dr. Kenneth Rye, veterinarian, to cover this problem. Following is the fourth in the series.

This article will answer some of the questions farmers are commonly asking about brucellosis.

It the blood agglutination test an accurate method for detecting Brucella infection in cattle?

When properly performed, the blood agglutination test is a reliable means for diagnosing bovine brucellosis. There are, of course, limitation to all biologic tests, but the present standardization of procedures and materials, these limitations have been reduced to a point where they are negligible. The most recent check conducted by the bureau to determine uniformity of results obtained in the field, showed that 95.84 per cent of the tube test interpretations were within the same acceptable range that was recorded for 93.3 per cent of those made by the plate method.

Do calves contract brucellosis?

Calves are normally quite resistant to brucellosis and rarely, if ever, become permanently infected. The disease primarily affects sexually mature animals, especially females during pregnancy. However, calves recently weaned from infected dams are, for a short time, potential sources of exposure for susceptible contact animals, due to the probable presence of infection in the milk they have been consuming.

How important is the bull in transmitting Brucella infection?

Although bulls occasionally become infected in the genital tract, they are infrequently responsible for the transmission of bovine brucellosis.

Recent reports from Denmark indicate that Brucella infection in bulls may be more common than realized in the past. A case report is cited, where one infected bull transmitted brucellosis to 71 per cent of the animals in which his semen had been used for artificial insemination purposes. Thus, even though the danger of bulls becoming infected is remote, the fact that they are not always resistant emphasizes the need for considering them potential sources of exposure.

Do cattle recover from brucellosis?

Although some Brucella-infected cattle may overcome the disease spontaneously, the number of such cases (10 to 12 per cent) is too low for consideration in a control program. Generally speaking, the infection becoms permanently established.

Is there a cure for brucellosis in cattle?

As yet, no specific cure has been found for brucellosis in man or animals. Investigations of newer agents including the sulfonamides and various antibiotics, either alone or in combination, have shown them to be even less effective in animals than in man, where their usefulness is questionable.

Will vaccination of calves with strain 19 reduce their breeding efficiency in later life?

Bureau records, covering several hundred vaccinated and unvaccinated heifers show no evidence of difficult breeding associated with vaccination.

Are vaccinated calves dangerous to associated unvaccinated cattle?

No. Vaccinated calves will not transmit the organism to the animals they contact. Deliberate attempts to increase the virulence of strain 19, to such a degree that it might be pathogenic for cattle, have always failed.

Should vaccinated calves be isolated from the adult animals in an infected herd?

No special handling, beyond that which constitutes good herd management, is necessary for vaccinated calves in either Brucella infected or free herds. The idea that heavy contract exposure of vaccinated calves is necessary in infected herds to fortify the vaccinal resistance, has not been proven.

Should bull calves be vaccinated with strain 19?

Because of the normal resistance of bulls to Brucella infection, there is no necessity of vaccinating male calves. Moreover, there is an apparent tendency for vaccinal blood titers to be somewhat more persistant in males than in females.

Is it necessary to test calves prior to vaccination with strain 19?

The number of calves that will react at vaccination ages is so low that prevaccinal tests are considered unnecessary.

MOVING SIDEWALK — Stamford, Conn. — The gentleman standing and casually reading his newspaper is actually moving at the average speed of a pedestrian, as the "moving sidewalk" under him advances at almost two miles per hour. Counting Ruffed Grouse in State

Game Wardens and Others Check 43 Areas in State

Small game hunters today learned that the annual spring ruffed grouse census is under way around the state.

Game wardens, game managers and refuge officials are up at dawn these mornings to run 43 census routes in the principal ruffed grouse range.

The census technique is based upon a count of "drumming" male grouse. Stops are made at certain points on pre-scheduled routes and all male birds heard drumming during a four minute period are counted.

These counts when compared with previous years give a good indication of the number of male birds present.

Since the inception of the census in 1949, high counts in the spring have usually spelled good hunting in the fall. Game officials point out that during the last peak in the grouse "cycle" which occurred in 1951-52, nearly one and one-half million birds were harvested. Spring drumming counts in those years yielded about three birds per stop on the census routes. Last year's count showed only one and one half birds per stop.

If the "cycle" continues its ten-year period, game authorities expect a peak may occur once again in 1961 and 1962.

Summer Campaign for Safe Driving

State Safety Director Pleads with Motorists to 'Slow Down and Live'

The Memorial Day weekend opens the annual summer vacation traffic safety program, "Slow Down and Live," Harry A. Sieben, state traffic safety director announced today.

The 1960 theme will be "Highway Safety Makes Driving Fun," Sieben said. "Remember when you took your family on a motor trip for the pleasure of it," he asked. "Highways have improved to it should be more fun than ever to take an automobile trip today.

"But the attitude of the man behind the wheel seems to be 'I've got to get there fast . . . so I can get whatever I plan to do over with and get back.' The national sponsors, the Association of State and Provincial Safety Coordinators, believe that highway safety makes driving fun. They merely ask motorists to 'Slow Down and Live' and enjoy our modern highways and modern motor cars," Sieben said.

The summer program extends from Memorial Day to Labor Day and is conducted in all the United States and the Canadian provinces. This is the eighth year of the summertime highway safety campaign which runs through September 5, 1960.

"Highway motorists who obey all highway safety rules and those who take time out for relaxing on long trips know the value of the plea 'Slow Down and Live'," Sieben said, "and will find out that 'Highway Safety Makes Driving Fun'."

Accidents to farm residents claim more than 11,300 victims and injure about 950,000 persons annually, according to the National Safety Council.

"I find the great thing in this world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port of heaven, we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it; but we must sail, and not drift, nor lie at anchor."

Economic "Truce"

Economic harmony in Western Europe has been threatened by the conflicting interests of the two trade blocs that have been formed. One of these groups is made up of six central European countries, working together in the development of a Common Market plan. Seven other countries, that were not included in the central organization, have banded together in self-defense with the result that a large-scale economic war has become more than just a possibility. The neighbors were not speaking to each other.

At a recent meeting of the foreign ministers of the Common Market group it was decided that there should be a "truce" in the threatening trade conflict, and some time in June there will be a meeting of representatives of both groups to see what can be done about stopping the war before it starts.

The trend away from trade barriers in Europe is an encouraging development that should result in higher living standards for all of the nations. Our higher living standard is due largely to the fact that there are no barriers to trade between our 48 states, and we all enjoy the advantages of a free exchange of goods and services.

There are some disadvantages, and the transition to a common market in Europe will require some painful adjustments. Under the plan, however, the barriers will be lowered gradually and the adjustments will be less painful as they are spread over a period of years. But the disadvantages will be more than offset by the advantages.

Public Not For It

Fred Hechinger, in his column on education in the New York Times, points out that the big obstacle to federal aid for our schools is public opinion. Most people are opposed to it, he said, and, come to think of it, that is a pretty good reason why we shouldn't have it.

It is the organized educators who want the aid, and they want it because they want financial independence from local taxpayers. The educators have been the main beneficiaries of our greatly expanded state aid program, and, over a period of time, it would be the educators who would benefit from federal aid.

Under this program we have greatly increased the quantity of education, but the quality has not been improved and many educators thinks it has deteriorated.

For the information of our representatives in Congress, the members of the Thief River Falls Parent-Teacher Association heard the arguments for and against federal aid and decided against it.

Righting A Wrong With Another Wrong?

The Minneapolis Tribune is opposed to apportionment of represention in the state legislature on the basis of both area and population as provided for in the amendment to the Constitution to be voted on in the coming election. It says, "In view of the confusion and controversy over its provisions we are inclined to agree that it deserves defeat."

The Tribune thinks the plan supported by Governor Freeman would be better. That plan would give the outstate areas less representation than the proposed amendment as it finally was approved by both houses of the legislature. Under that plan each county, except the small ones, would have one representative in the House and the rest of the 135 members would be elected on the basis of population only. Agricultural Minnesota would lose control of the Senate at once and eventually the House would also be dominated by the metropolitan area and the larger cities of the state.

We can understand why Governor Freeman would want it that way. Giving to the large cities the control over both houses of the legislature would be in the best interests of the political party of which he is the head. But the Tribune's position is less easy to understand.

The Tribune is suffering from a persecution complex. This is indicated by the occasional editorial explosions on how unfairly the city is treated by the state. Just wait till we get the power, it grumbles, and we will show you folks from the country.

The Tribune should be smart enough to know that Minnesota would not be a good state if both houses of the legislature were controlled by the large cities. Such control would not be in the best interests of the large cities themselves.

By giving to the outstate area control of one house of the legislature would assure to the outstate interests a reasonable bargaining power that would make for good government.

The Tribune has been sulking for years because the outstate area has controlled both houses. Outstate representatives have admitted that heavily populated areas should have more representation. Under the plan that is being submitted to the voters the metropolitan area will have more representation and with other large cities will control one house. But the outstate area is justified in demanding control of one house too, and under the provisions of the amendment to be voted on this balance is assured.

The outstate area admits the need for a change. But the Tribune is unreasonable and unfair in demanding a change that will shift control of both houses from the outstate to the large cities. That would merely replace one evil with another evil. Righting a wrong with another wrong would not be a proper solution.

More About Cranberries

In his syndicated column, Ed Koterba made some interesting observations on last year's cranberry scare and the $10 million the government is now paying for the bungling of a publicity-seeking department head. Koterba had checked on how the cranberry growers were going to be paid. He reports:

> "Today there are, lying around the country, more than a million barrels of cranberries—some mushy and deteriorated by now, others raw and in freezers, and the rest processed and waiting—mostly in vain—for someone to buy them.
> "In the next few months, most of them will be buried in vast holes in the earth. And then Uncle Sam will pay the growers up to $8.02 a barrel for getting rid of the berries (which could be selling for $12 a barrel).
> "The man at Agriculture, however, was telling me: 'Before we pay the growers, we'll encourage them to sell the berries.'
> "Sell poison cranberries? 'They're not poison at all,' he said. 'They're not even condemned. There's nothing wrong with them.'
> "But what about the edict of Nov. 9 issued by Arthur Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare?" Hadn't he warned that they could induce cancer?
> "The Agriculture man spluttered. In the first place, he said, the amount of berries found contaminated with weed poison was infintesimal. Of the berries tested, only 37-thousandths of 1 per cent were found to contain the residue.
> "In the second place, a human being would probably have to eat more than 16 bushels of cranberries at one sitting to get into a position to justify any concern about cancer.
> "And, in the third place, it has never been proven that the weed poison would ever produce cancer in human beings—only in rats.
> "This not-yet-finished cranberry episode becomes an even greater puzzle when you consider that the food and drug administration and the ntaional institutes of health have found suspicious cancer-inducing elements in at least a dozen other foods which we continue to eat without fanfare.
> "But this won't bring back the 10-million-dollar loss in cranberries—charged to the taxpayer."

Students and the Census

Northfield, with its two colleges, is very much a college town. Especially interesting, therefore, was the reaction of Herman Roe, Northfield News publisher, to a comment by August Erickson, editor of the Springfield Advance-Press, on counting college students as residents of the place they attend school. Said Mr. Erickson:

> "The editor of a Redwood county newspaper blames the drop in his town's population on the counting of college students in the town where the college is located. That rule went into effect in the 1950 census and if more papers had taken up the fight to restore college students to their home towns, as this column did, we might have got the old custom back, counting the boys and girls in towns where the money comes from and where they spend their summers, vacations and every weekend possible. Since liquor and cigaret taxes are based on population, the small towns have suffered an unjust loss under the census rule."

To which editor Roe agreed, indicating that student citizens can be a problem. Said Mr. Roe:

> "Despite the fact that Northfield is a beneficiary of the Census Bureau's ruling, the reasons for the Bureau adopting such a policy are a mystery.
> "This ruling by the Census Bureau entitles students who are over 21 years attending Northfield's two colleges to vote here in elections. There is no objection to that as far as a presidential election is concerned, but the courts have handed down an opposite opinion in test cases involving voting in elections on local bond issues.
> "Including approximately 2900 college students in Northfield's population results in an inflated total of bonafide residents. This total is misleading when statisticians and researchers study the population figures listed as correct in the Census Bureau's publications giving the final tabulation of the 1960 census.
> "Taking a federal census has all sorts of complications. We agree with August Erickson that the Census Bureau's ruling about college students should be changed."

Borrowed Nonsense

In a Western cowtown an old man was walking by a saloon when, without warning, a young cowhand dashed out, took a flying leap from the sidewalk and landed on the seat of his pants in the gutter.

The man hurried over to him. "Are you hurt?" he asked.

"No," was the angry reply, "but I'd shore like to meet the so-an-so who moved my horse."

A department store had advertised a hundred hats for sale at a dollar apiece, and the millinery department was jammed with hysterical women. One finally struggled through the mass of squirming bodies, reached a clerk, and handed over a dollar. "Don't bother to wrap it," she said. "I'll wear it."

"But don't you want a bag for your old hat?" asked the girl.

You and Your Eyes

Cheap Sunglasses Are Like Cheap Diamonds

Cheap sunglasses can do more harm than good to your eyes. Their lenses are invariably inferior. They are likely to be full of irregularities which may interfere with clear, strain-free seeing.

Inadequate sunglasses may cause image degradation, eye strain, headaches, fatigue, even nausea. What's more, they don't give scientific ultraviolet and infrared protection. Cheap sunglasses are no bargain.

Choose your sunglasses with care. Their lenses should have flawless quality, should be precisely ground and polished. The glass should be as fine as that used for corrective spectacles, but with extra properties that filter and soften light.

One more thing. The ideal density of sunglasses varies with the part of the country and the season of the year. Best recommendations range from lenses of moderate density in the North during the spring and fall to very dark lenses in the South and in shore and desert areas during the summer. Which sunglasses, then, are right for you?

The answer to this question can best be learned from an eye examination. This is especially important if you wear corrective glasses. In this case you should have your prescription ground into your sunwear in order to get accurate vision as well as glare protection.

Remember that cheap sunglasses are like cheap diamonds. They are never really a bargain. If your eyes are important to you, you should have prescription sunglasses and not a mere imitation of protection.

Support Dairy Month, State Chairman Asks

Statewide support of Minnesota's June Dairy Month activities was urged today by Axel Hansen, Minneapolis, state chairman of the 1960 promotion.

The veteran agricultural columnist and "dean" of Minnesota dairy cattle judges cited the industry's 320-million dollar volume in Minnesota last year as a "vital segment" of the state's total economy.

"In Minnesota dairy affects everyone," Hansen told a June Dairy Month kickoff luncheon audience of industry, education and business leaders. "Dairying is the largest single industry in our state."

[illegible] the importance of the industry in Minnesota and the nation becomes clearer when it is realized that 20 per cent of all farm income comes from dairying and that about 40 per cent of the nation's total labor force is engaged in food production, processing or distribution.

Hansen pointed to the latest annual production figures to emphasize the scene of dairying in Minnesota. Minnesota became second largest producer of milk, behind Wisconsin, in 1959 with a total of 9,970,000,000 pounds of milk from 1,305,000 cows.

Manufactured products included 321,900,000 (million) pounds of butter, 477,809,000 (million) pounds of nonfat dry milk, 63,604,000 (million) pounds of cheese and 17,400,000 (million) gallons of ice cream.

"We hold first place in the nation in butter production and second in total milk and nonfat dry milk production," Hansen noted. "With this huge volume, about 83 per cent of it must be sold outside our state."

State Mill Names Personnel Here

R. Thompson, Ed Longren, Alvin Nelson Promoted

Three personnel appointments were announced this week for the Thief River Falls area by the North Dakota Mill and Elevator at Grand Forks. Robert Thompson was named as poultry service representative for the area north of Thief River Falls; Ed Longren, a long-time employe of the Dakota Maid feed division, was named poultry representative in the area south of Thief River Falls; and Alvin C. Nelson was appointed as manager of the Dakota Maid feed store in Thief River Falls, according to Kenneth Ford, feed division manager of the mill and elevator.

Thompson, who will be living in Thief River Falls, will work directly with the feed division in Grand Forks. Associated with turkey sales and service in the Thief River Falls area, he has had 11 years of experience with Red River Produce of Grand Forks and six years with Land O' Lakes. He attended school in Grand Forks, and has had a number of years of intensive training in poultry health service. Married, with four children, he spent four years in the service. He is a member of Trinity Lutheran church.

Nelson has been associated with the Dakota Maid feed store in Thief River Falls, serving as assistant manager. He has resided here 18 years and prior to that he spent 16 years as a farmer. Married, with three children, he is a member of Oak Ridge Lutheran church.

Nearly one-third of all American homes have ice cream on hand on an average day and about half of them serve ice cream as a dessert at least once a week.

About 83 per cent of Minnesota's total milk and milk products are sold outside of the state.

Backers of Wetlands Given Court Decision

Supporters of Minnesota's "Save the Wetlands" program were encouraged today by the report of a district court decision holding that the state was entitled to compensation when wetlands were adversely affected by drainage activities.

Commissioners of Conservation George A. Selke stated that the findings in the case were of great importance since a precedent has now been established for recognizing that wildlife and public hunting lands possess an actual monetary value and the reasons for which these lands are purchased and held by the state.

The case concerned a judicial ditch in Lac qui Parle and Yellow Medicine counties which when constructed lowered the water level of a state owned wetlands area.

Special Assistant Attorney General Raymond Haik, who represented the department of conservation, said that this is the first drainage case involving state wetlands where the non-agricultural interests of wildlife and public hunting were given consideration in determining benefits and damages, and is the first time that money has been paid for damage to state areas.

STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE

Mr. Welling mows his lawn every Saturday — he and his two assistants.

Technically, it's a one-man operation. But not to Billy and Jean. They insist on helping.

And, what is more, they NEED to help! Imitating what Daddy does is standard operating procedure for children. It's an essential part of growing up.

Remember this need as another Sunday approaches. You are alarmed over the spread of delinquency. You are determined that your children have adequate religious education.

The Church can provide all but one of the essentials in religious education. THE EXAMPLE which affords real incentive for your children's every effort MUST COME FROM YOU.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NOW LOOK WHAT CORVAIR'S GONE AND DONE!

The same Corvair that tallied a thumping 27.03 miles per gallon* in the Mobilgas Economy Run . . . went right on to climb Pikes Peak earlier in the spring than any car has ever tried!

We wanted to show you what the fabulous traction of Corvair's rear-engine design and the surefootedness of four-wheel independent suspension really mean. So the identical Economy Run car went right on to 14,110-foot Pikes Peak—and right up to the top of that savage mountain, on April 15, still deep in winter's snow and ice. No other car—even specially equipped—had ever been able to conquer that nightmare alpine road so early in the spring. But Corvair (with United States Auto Club officials aboard to certify that not one nut or bolt was changed) purred right to the summit without chains or even snow tires! That just underscores the fact that Corvair is totally unique. But you'll find that out the first five minutes you're at the wheel!

Agriculture Dept. Okays Sales Barn

All Auction Markets Are under Federal Control

The United States Department of Agriculture has posted the Thief River Sales Barn livestock auction at Thief River Falls, and the auction market now operates under the Federal Packers and Stockyards Act. The 85th Congress amended this act to bring all markets operating in interstate commerce under the same uniform regulations.

After a market has been posted as coming under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the selling agency registers with the Secretary of Agriculture. They also file their schedule of rates and charges for selling and other marketing services which apply uniformly to all patrons of the market. The scales are tested at least twice each year by a competent testing agency and weighing is conducted in accordance with established weighing rules.

The local market has provided bond which is acceptable to meet the bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act. The bond requirement is for the protection of the farmers who sell through the auction. The act seeks to maintain open competitive livestock markets, free from unfair practices, where prices can be established by open competitive bids.

Oklee Graduation Held Wednesday

LOL Turkey Plant Opens Wednesday for Ten-day Run

Turkey processing at the Land O'Lakes plant probably will get under way Wednesday, June 1, according to Stuart McLeod, branch manager.

He anticipates about a ten-day run of hens. This operation is later than in previous years due to the greater demand for poults and the longer egg laying season.

Several changes have been made in the turkey processing plant that will increase its capacity, McLeod states. He anticipates a substantial increase in volume this year.

Commr. Geo. Selke Discusses Middle River Watershed

Tells 250 at Newfolden That People Should Decide Controversial Matter

Emphasizing repeatedly thruout his talk that "it is up to you people to decide your problems, not us down in St. Paul," Dr. George Selke, state commissioner of conservation, laid down his department's stand on the proposed Middle River watershed and its Interbeach Lake project, says the Warren Sheaf.

Commissioner Selke, accompanied by Leo P. Brown of the division of market services of the state department of agriculture, dairy and foods, spoke to a gathering of 250 persons at Newfolden Friday, May 20.

Discussing watersheds, he announced that a plan has been approved by his office for consideration by the federal government. Mr. Selke's talk was followed by a spirited question and answer period.

His advice was "Pay a great deal of attention to this problem. Do it openly, freely and honestly with the final decision resting with the local people. Get a committee from each side, talk it over and see if you can agree. Take your time," Commissioner Selke advised.

Following the question and answer period Einar Strandquist, chairman of a group in opposition to the watershed, said, "We appreciate Dr. Selke's advice that we should work together, but we have felt left out. We have set up a committee to oppose the interbeach lake but I don't think we are so narrow minded that we will turn a deaf ear to the other side."

To Offer Course in Architectural Drawing Next Fall

Area Vocational School Offers Opportunity to High School Graduates

Arnt Aune, director of the area vocation school in Thief River Falls, announced this week that a new course in architectural drawing has been added to the curriculum of the Area Vocational school.

Employment specialists in other areas of the state have indicated that graduates of this type of course have been placed immediately, and there is a growing demand for the work. Any young person who completes this course in a satisfactory manner probably will have a job waiting for him, said Aune.

The two-year, or 72-week, course will cover the principal objects and practices of architectural drawing including mathematics, instruments, copying, reading plans and sketches, construction drawing, electrical plans, computation and most problems faced in this field.

The first class will begin Sept. 6. Young people who are high school graduates and are under 21 years of age are accepted on a tuition free basis, those over 21 pay a moderate tuition. Those interested in this course or in any of the others offered through the area vocation school are invited to contact Arnt Aune, director.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Purdy accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hoehn, left Sunday morning to spend the weekend at the Lake of the Woods.

ASC to Check Seeding on 900 County Farms

Six Farm Reporters to Make Inspection of Wheat Acreage

Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the Pennington county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced today that six farm reporters would begin work on June 1 inspecting approximately 900 farms in the county to determine planted acreages of wheat under the acreage allotment program, and soil bank base crops under the soil bank program.

Culkins stated that informational cards were sent to all wheat allotment farmers in the county about two weeks ago, requesting information relative to wheat acreage planted on the farm in 1960. He said that quite a number of these cards had not been returned as of today, and requested all producers who have not returned the card to the county office to do so without delay.

He also pointed out that farmers seeding wheat who do not have an allotment are requested to notify the county ASC office of their planted acreage so the county office can arrange to measure the planted acreage and determine performance at the same time allotment farms are checked in the community.

Culkins stated further that farmers who have not seeded 75 per cent of their alloted acreage and desire to protect their base acreage are invited to visit the county office and sign a statement giving the reason why 75 per cent of their alloted acreage was not planted to wheat for 1960 if they wish to preserve their present base acreage.

Bridgeman Plant Adds Equipment

Bridgeman Creameries have installed additional milk processing equipment at their local plant that will assure a more uniform quality product. One of the problems of milk processing is weed flavor at certain seasons of the year, William LaFave, manager of the plant, states.

The new equipment has proven itself to be effective in the removal of all off-flavors and feed odors and restores pure milk flavor without dilution, concentration or quality loss.

Regular pasteurization equipment heats the milk to 165 degrees. The new equipment increases this heat to 190 degrees, made possible with a wash steam process before the milk is homogenized. Installation of this equipment makes the Bridgeman Thief River Falls branch the most modern as well as one of the largest milk processing plants in Minnesota.

Older Folks Require Better Diet Habits

Older folks need to improve their eating habits and their choice of foods.

Sufficient protein, minerals and vitamins, plus the right calorie intake, will give older people greater vitality and improved mental vigor, according to Jane Leichsenring, professor of nutrition at the University of Minnesota.

Older people must watch their calories. Because they need less food energy than in their more vigorous years, older folks can easily become overweight.

Excess weight puts a strain on body organs, especially the heart and circulatory system.

Many studies show protein, mineral and vitamin deficiencies in the diets of older people, reports Miss Leichsenring. A person who does not get enough protein to keep up the body's soft tissues will tire quickly and will show muscular weakness and mental depression.

Elderly people with low thiamine intake showed symptoms of swelling of the legs, tenderness of the calves of the legs and poor apetite. In other studies, elderly people with low levels of vitamin C reported an increase in well-being and strength after taking orange juice or other sources of ascorbic acid.

Older people need good protein foods such as meat, eggs or milk. Miss Leichsenring suggests ground beef or lamb, or stewed meat for older people who have difficulty with dentures. Older people could drink skim milk and buttermilk to avoid extra calories of milk fat.

Light breakfasts and between-meal snacking on high-calorie foods are poor nutritional habits for older folks. They need a substantial breakfast of fruit, an egg or milk, and hot cereal or toast. The noon meal should be the heaviest meal of the day with a lighter evening meal, which is more conducive to a good night's sleep.

The daily meals of an older person should include: the equivalent of one pint of milk, in the form of a beverage, soup, cheese or dessert made from milk; one or more servings of meat or other protein foods; two or more vegetables; two or more fruits; and bread or other cereals, some of which should be of the dark or whole grain variety.

Morrill to Retire from 'U' June 30

Had Headed Institution During Period of Growth

President J. L. Morrill of the University of Minnesota will step down June 30 after 15 years at the helm of the University. He and Mrs. Morrill will leave July 1 for New York where he will take over his new position as a consultant to the Ford Foundation later in the summer.

During his career in higher education, the University's eighth president has been recognized as one of the nation's leading spokesmen for the land-grant institutions and state universities. Under his leadership, the University has expanded on several fronts — more than doubling its enrollment, constructing new buildings and adding new campuses, expanding its curricula in many major colleges and enhancing its prestige in many fields of education and research.

President Morrill has seen the University through its period of gratest growth when its enrollment mushroomed from 11,396 in 1945 to 28,312 in the postwar boom and leveled off at 26,538 in 1959. Extension of the University's teaching and research programs to various parts of the state came about through the addition of the Duluth campus in 1947, establishment of the University's Rosemount Research Center and Experiment Station in 1948, creation of a new school of agriculture at Waseca in 1951 and the decision to establish college courses at the Morris campus (West Central School and Experiment Station) in the fall of 1960.

President Morrill has been awarded honorary degrees by 13 colleges and universities. He was decorated as commander of the Royal Order of the North Star by the King of Sweden in 1946.

No decision was reached toward buying another airplane at the special meeting of the Thief River Falls Flying club held Thursday evening at the airport administration building. Club president Robert Wurst presided.

A fairly representative group attended the meeting to discuss aspects of purchasing a larger, more utilitarian plane, preferably a 4-passenger type in the Cessna 170 or Tri-Pacer class. A Grand Forks Cessna dealer was present at the meeting and presented several club plans.

It was agreed, however, that in the event such a plane is purchased, active membership will be limited to 20 pilots. In the past the club has carried as many as 70 members on the roster, a large majority of whom were inactive and did not attend meetings to the detriment of the club.

The claim of some members that having a very light plane in the Cub or Aeronca class for members to "knock about in" would increase club flying volume was also refuted. In the past four years, particularly up to 1958, such light planes have been available but for the most part remained in the hangar, thus leaving claims that a majority of club members prefer such planes unsubstantiated.

It was conceded, however, that if a sufficient number of members on the roster, in addition to the 20 who would pay an additional assessment for a larger plane, become active again and desire a smaller plane, suitable arrangement could be made.

The annual meeting of the club will be held Monday, June 6, at which time further discussions on the purchase will take place. It is hoped a far larger number of members will attend to make their wishes known.

Weekend Weather Forecast Is Fair

1.27 Inches of Rain Wednesday and Thursday

Memorial Day vacationists have little but good weather to look forward to over this weekend with only scattered light showers late this afternoon and tonight to mar an otherwise good forecast.

Partly cloudy and a little warmer has been predicted by the KTRF weather station for today and partly cloudy and a little cooler tomorrow. Southeasterly winds of from 10 to 15 miles an hour today are expected to become light and variable tomorrow.

Temperatures today should be from 70 to 76 during the daylight hours and from 48 to 58 tonight. The humidity is expected to be low.

Highs this week have ranged from lows of 57 Thursday and Friday to 79 Monday and nighttime lows from 40 during the early morning hours of today to 53 Wednesday.

Total precipitation for the month was raised to 2.27 with the 1.27 inches which fell Wednesday and Thursday. This is still 1.57 inches short of the total rainfall during May of last year.

Dairy Products Termed Best Buy

Dairy Month Chairwoman Cites Nutritive Value

Bargain-conscious June brides will find their best buys in the dairy cases of their favorite food stores, according to Mrs. Leonard Harkness, 1960 Minnesota June Dairy Month chairwoman.

The St. Paul homemaker, who is wife of the state 4-H club leader and mother of three children said that dairy products return about 30 per cent of the average family's nutritional requirements for about 17 per cent of the food dollar.

Mrs. Harkness, a trained home economist, said the variety and abundance of dairy products in Minnesota "is a blessing to all homemakers."

"Nutritionists agree that if you were to duplicate the food elements in a quart of milk by purchasing other products it would cost about 43 cents," she said.

Mrs. Harkness also pointed to U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics figures which show the price of dairy products to be at an all-time low in relation to earnings. In 1980 it took the average factory worker 25 minutes to earn the price of a quart of milk, in 1929 it took 15 minutes, in 1947 9.5 minutes and in 1959 just 6.8 minutes.

Goodridge Girl Wins Study Grant at Iowa College

Arlene Christianson of Goodridge, graduate of N. D. Agricultural college, Fargo, recently received a one-year public information internship from the State University of Iowa at Iowa City.

Arlene will enroll in the school of Journalism at the State University on Sept. 15 to spend a year in graduate study toward her masters degree in journalism.

The internship will include practical fact gathering and writing on news releases. Arlene will work with trained journalists as well as a professional photographer.

Arlene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville M. Christianson of Goodridge. She graduated from North Dakota Agricultural college on Sunday, May 22, with a bachelor of science degree in home economics education and a minor in communications.

Baudette Man Buys 2 Polk Co. Papers

Edward P. Kellogg Buys Fertile, Winger Papers

The Fertile Journal and Winger Enterprise will be under new management May 30, as a result of a transaction whereby Edward P. Kellogg of Baudette purchased the newspapers from Owen K. Knudson.

Knudson has been publisher of The Fertile Journal since November 1952, when he took over management of the newspaper, then owned by Wayne Peterson of Moorhead. He purchased the paper in May 1953.

The Winger Enterprise has been published by Knudson since early in 1957 when the owner, the late Clarence W. Balkee, became ill. He purchased the paper after the death of Balkee and it has been printed in the Fertile Journal plant since that time.

Kellogg, 24, was born in Ames, Iowa, and moved to Warroad in 1945. He lived there until 1951 when the family moved to Baudette. He is the son of the late Oliver Kellogg who was in the newspaper business for many years.

Kellogg is no stranger to the newspaper business having virtually grown up in it. He graduated from Baudette high school in 1951 and attended the University of North Dakota for two years. He spent two years in the U. S. Army, 14 months of which were spent overseas in Germany.

For the past several years he has been working for his brother, Bill, who now owns and publishes the Baudette Region. He has another brother in the newspaper business also, Marvin, who owns and publishes the Warroad Pioneer.

SECOND MINN. DISTRICT FIRST TO FINISH CENSUS

Friday, April 29, Frank Bargen received at Mankato a highly significant telegram. Mr. Bargen, retired newspaper publisher, supervised the federal census operation in Minnesota's second congressional district. The telegram was from Congressman Ancher Nelsen, representing that district. He congratulated Mr. Bargen and his co-workers on being the first congressional district in the nation to file a complete census report. The district gained 13.6 per cent in population, from 321,307 in 1950 to 372,067 in the current census.

COINCIDENCE UNLIMITED

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Larson are next door Rochester neighbors to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Larson; they are not related and hadn't met each other until becoming neighbors three years ago; one goes by the nickname of Swede and the other spells out in full the middle name Hjalmer, and they get along smoothly with mailmen and delivery folks and all other comers . . . While her daughter Patricia gets practical teaching experience in the public school at Grey Eagle, Mrs. Eleanor Kirchenwitz will take Patricia's place in St. Cloud State college to complete after a lapse of 25 years, required work for her bachelor degree . . . Henry Torborg and Andrew Willenbring have sung together in the choir of Sts. Peter and Paul Church, in St. Joseph, for 50 years . . . Herman Eck of Wykoff becomes attached to his personal belongings—he has had the same car 13 years, and an $8.25 pocket watch 48 years . . . Mrs. W. K. Mooers of Windom thoroughly enjoyed her first plane flight at 92.

STATE PARKS ARE NATURALLY POPULAR

Last year more than 3,000,000 persons enjoyed the choice natural scenery and the superb rest and recreational facilities of Minnesota's 67 state park units. More are expected this year. "Thousands of different species of natural plant life are found in native settings, animals indigenous of the habitat live undisturbed in true natural balance, and the countless bird species fascinate all ornithologists," says a Conservation Department spokesman. The number of park campers in 1958 multiplied by the number of days camped out came to the surprising total of 260,000 camper days; 1959 will be higher, and '60 probably still more.

Final Statement on Brucellosis Ailment

Several dairy herds in Pennington county have had brucellosis or Bangs infectors in the last year. A series of five articles has been prepared by County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk and Dr. Kenneth Rye, veterinarian, to cover this problem. This is the last in the series.

In summarizing this series, let's remember that brucellosis is a very serious disease. It inflicts economic losses and affects human health. Farmers can eradicate brucellosis by prevention in a clean herd and eradication in infected herds.

Brucellosis is an infectious disease causing abortions in cattle, goats and swine.

The person becomes very sick and runs high and then low temperatures repeatedly. It may localize in different parts of the body. Its effects may last for years and many never fully recover.

The blood test for brucellosis is equally as accurate as other biological tests like the tuberculin test.

A county is a modified certified free area when a complete test of all cattle in the county reveals that less than 1 per cent of the cattle and less han 5 per cent of the herds react.

Calfhood vaccination pays because:

1. Vaccinating heifers with Strain 19 vaccine will insure your herd against severe losses, amounting to hundreds and even thousands of dollars. Strain 19 is reliable. It has never been transmitted from vaccinated to nonvaccinated animals by contact.

2. Vaccinated females sold for breeding usually bring higher prices. In fact, some states will not allow you to ship in breeding stock unless they have been vaccinated as calves.

3. Vaccinated animals are much less likely to contract brucellosis. Vaccination won't give absolute immunity against heavy exposure, but it will protect the majority of animals.

4. Vaccination gives protection when you add animals to the herd, pasture heifers away from home, exhibit cattle at shows, or when nearby herds are infected. When infected animals are added to a herd, nonvaccinated herds are hard hit and sometimes wiped out. Vaccinated herds are usually not infected.

5. The cost is small, especially when done as a part of a veterinarian's routine practice.

Some Vaccination Facts

1. Nonvaccinated herds which have passed several clean tests are the most susceptible to brucellosis. This situation, long recognized by research workers, veterinarians and progressive cattlemen, is not generally understood by all cattle breeders. Many owners of clean nonvaccinated herds do not realize that they are sitting on a potential "powder keg."

2. Area testing has reduced but not wiped out brucellosis. While over 95 per cent of our herds and over 99 per cent of our cattle are considered brucellosis free, scattered centers of infection remain in all counties. This small percentage of infection is of great potential danger to clean susceptible herds but of less concern to vaccinated herds.

3. Present regulations of the Livestock Sanitary board permit vaccination of heifers any time between 4 and 8 months of age.

4. The U.S. Department of Agriculture reports that calf vaccination with Strain 19 has been very effective for many years. It cuts down abortions making for larger and healthier calf crops, and it prevents infection. The protection given thousands of Minnesota herds during the last 25 years is local proof of its effectiveness. If you have any doubt, ask your neighbor who has been vaccinating. Vaccination can be compared to the usual immunization given to children. There is some opposition to even such protection measures, but most people accept immunization as an everyday necessity.

5. Only veterinarians can officially vaccinate—They are especially trained and will:

Give the proper amount of vaccine.

Use fresh, properly stored vaccine so essential to success.

Properly identify all vaccinated animals by ear tag, plus the vaccination tattoo which indicates the year and month vaccinated.

Report vaccination to the Livestock Sanitary board immediately so that records will show that your cattle have been vaccinated.

6. Vaccination of heifer calves does not cause sterility.

7. Protect your herd by buying vaccinated females when purchasing replacements, by eliminating reactors, and by separating suspects from the rest of the herd just as you would with a nonvaccinated herd. Vaccination cuts down your risk greatly, but it won't protect your cattle fully against heavy, unnecessary exposure.

8. Keep a record of vaccinated animals. Record new tag numbers when old tags are lost. If you don't you may have difficulty in identifying your vaccinates when selling or testing them.

9. Continue to test animals. A few may accidentally contract the disease in spite of vaccination. Infected animals could spread the disease in spite of vaccination, to both humans and other cattle.

10. Vacination of bull calves with Strain 19 vaccine is not routinely recommended, because bulls are relatively resistant to brucellosis.

11. In every disease control program there are exceptions. On rare occasions, a vaccinated animal may show enough reaction so the individual is considered a suspect and needs to be retested frequently. The animal may even have to be disposed of for slaughter. This is a rare risk and the advantages of vaccination far outweigh it.

In most cases, vaccination will result in a negative reaction to a blood test after a certain time has passed. In addition, vaccinated animals are given special consideration when their blood tests are diagnosed, if good records have been kept on them. Technically, veterinarians call this a one titer benefit.

Vaccinate all heifers that are kept for breeding at 4-8 months.

Rotary Cancels 2 Monday Meetings

Ladies Night Banquet Scheduled for June 7

There will be no meeting of the Rotary club Monday noon, May 30, and Monday, June 6, it was announced at the regular luncheon meeting of the organization May 23.

Rotarians and Rotary Anns will have their banquet Tuesday, June 7, in the Elks clubrooms beginning at 6:30. This will take the place of the regular June 6 noon meeting.

Rotarian Jim Smillie, commander of the Legion post, introduced Ellsworth Jorgenson, a former Legion commander, who addressed the group on the proper display of the United States flag and flag etiquette. He traced the flag's history and then told the Rotarians how it should be displayed on standards, on stages and on the street.

During Memorial Day, the flag should be displayed at half mast until noon, then raised to the top of the staff, Jorgenson said. He also explained that the 48-star flag can be used properly until it is replaced because of wear or soiling.

At the close of the meeting, Mochammed Sjachrani, Indonesian exchange student who will return to his native land soon, was presented with a letterman's jacket on which he may wear the letter which he won as a member of the wrestling team.

Rani Addresses Lions at Luncheon

Exchange Student to Go Back to Indonesia Soon

Mochammed Sjachrani, exchange student from Indonesia, who is leaving Thief River Falls late in June to return to his native land, was the guest speaker at the Lion clubs luncheon Wednesday noon.

Rani, as he is generally known, has been attending Lincoln high school the past year, and was introduced by Joe Iverson, high school director, who commented that the young student had made a good impression on local people during his residence here.

Stating that Indonesia looks to the western nations for guidance, Rani told how his country had obtained its freedom after being ruled by the Netherlands for 350 years, and added that there are more than 50 large and small political parties.

He mentioned that one thing he had learned during his residence here is that hot dogs are not made of dog meat.

In the club's business session Ralph Lohman, treasurer, reported that the Dale Carnegie courses sponsored by the Lions had been a financial success.

On the recommendation of Dr. O. D. Beich, chairman of the sight conservation committee, the club voted to provide spectacles for a girl from a needy local family.

"The most gladsome thing in the world is that few of us fall very low; the saddest that, with such capabilities, we seldom rise high."

—James Matthew Barrie

We Ask For Them

During the past ten years federal spending has doubled and state spending has more than doubled, according to Ted Miller, research director of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association. Federal appropriations have increased from $40 billion in 1950 to $80 billion in 1960. State appropriations for the four main money bills have gone up from $110 million to more than $221 million.

The same trend has been followed generally at the local levels. Along with increased spending has come increased indebtedness, which will mean a still heavier burden of taxation in the future.

It seems strange that during a period of prosperity we should find it so difficult to live within our means. It appears that occasional depressions are necessary to restore us to straight thinking. We ask for them.

Favorable Reaction

President Eisenhower's report to the world on the failure of the summit conference has met with a favorable response. His moderation and restraint were in marked contrast to the bluster of Khrushchev and others who have been speaking for the Soviet government, and no doubt this report influenced favorably the members of the Security Council of the United Nations. Their favorable vote was very encouraging.

If the reaction of the Winnipeg Tribune is a fair sample of foreign reaction, then we have recovered much of the prestige we lost by the manner in which the U2 incident was handled. Following are the editorial comments of the Winnipeg newspaper:

> "President Eisenhower's report to the American people on the failure of the summit conference was awaited in his own country and in other nations not so much as an explanation of the past but as a forecast of the future.
> "The U.S. position on the U2 plane incident and on the reasons for the summit collapse had already been placed on the record by Henry Cabot Lodge in the Security Council on Monday. The President could only enlarge on this position in detail.
> "The main interest centered on what Mr. Eisenhower would have to say about future U.S.-Soviet relations. Many must have felt a great sense of relief as the President spoke. He rose above the personal insult and the invective against the presidency to which he had been subjected in Paris. He mentioned the circus exhibition staged by Khrushchev but more in regret than in anger. He emphasized that the U.S. and the West must 'continue businesslike dealings with Soviet leaders on outstanding issues.' He pledged again that he would 'journey anywhere to promote the cause of peace.'
> "Mr. Eisenhower's restraint was admirable, and his determination to continue negotiations reassuring.
> "It should be borne in mind that two important East-West meetings had been going on in Geneva—one between representatives of Britain, the U.S. and the Soviet Union to ban nuclear tests; the second a ten-nation conference on disarmament.
> "When the summit collapsed, the immediate prospect was that these meetings had disappeared in the wreckage. Now it seems likely that the meetings will proceed. The three powers were close to agreement on a ban on nuclear tests when the meeting adjourned for the summit. It would have been a major disappointment to lose the ground that had been gained. The disarmament conference had not made much headway but at least the nations were talking about putting a halt to the nuclear and conventional arms race that could end in annihilation.

> "Undoubtedly the torpedoed summit meeting has increased tensions and destroyed much patient work designed to achieve East-West accommodation, but it seems evident that a complete rupture has been averted."

Let's Pick The Best—

(The Shakopee Argus Tribune)

Recently, the trend in America has been to play down the individual excellence. This can be seen in many instances. The All-American football teams, for example, formerly contained only 11 names. Now, such a mythical selection may run from 22 to 60 or more players. It has become meaningless.

A similar trend has been noted in the policy of naming high school valedictorians. Some schools are merely selecting the top ten students while others may have two, three or six or more valedictorians and an equal number of salutatorians. There are arguments for and against this practice. One argument is that the top ten students deserve some recognition while another argument is that "hard feelings" are created when only two students are singled out for recognition. To this, we say what of it.

In life, whether the business be large or small, the executive, the supervisor or the foreman is not picked at random from among the top ten candidates, nor is more than one person picked for one job. There has been a decided trend in America to grade all workers—except the supervisory positions—at a common level. This trend, while producing a uniform pay check surely doesn't produce individual incentive and pride in production and excellence.

In all matters of this kind, whether it be high school honor students or adult pursuits, there can be the best and the good. And lumping them both together doesn't make the good the best but probably lowers the best to the level of the good.

So let's continue to single out the best. Let's continue some of the old-fashioned traditions and pick the best in each school.

Was He A Martyr?

(Chicago Tribune)

Fay Heasley, who recently saw his North Dakota farm of six square miles sold to meet his income tax bill, fancies himself as something of a martyr. If so, what can we call Mr. Heasley's fellow citizens all over the country who do make honest returns and do pay their income taxes?

Farmer Heasley had his day in court. The government said he should have paid $12,007 in taxes on his 1946 income but he reported only enough income that year to warrant his paying $317. The next year it was $19,093 and $150.50 and the year after that, $27,518 and $240. Mr. Heasley's day—or rather days—in court cost him $45,000 in assorted legal fees but he lost all along the line. Three years ago he was handed a two year sentence for tax dodging and served a year of it before being paroled.

Now his farm has been sold and he and his family have hit the road for an unknown destination. We can't feel very sorry for him and we shall be surprised if his former neighbors in North Dakota follow his advice to pray for him and call upon God to "let His wrath fall" on the oppressors who "covet the land."

Anyone who protests against the crushing weight of the income tax will get no quarrel from us; but to say that is not to say that Farmer Heasley is entitled to better treatment than the rest of us get.

All in all, we don't think Mr. Heasley need be included in any new and revised editions of the Book of Martyrs.

Better milk production from less pasture — that's the result of ration-a-day pasturing on the Robert Felt farm in Swift county. According to J. L. Edman, county agent, Felt has been pasturing this way for the past two years. The system means dividing the pasture up into lots just big enough to provide a day's grazing. They go into a fresh lot each day — or oftener. The practice is being used on many dairy farms around Minnesota.

Public Opinion

Editor Times:

I have just seen a copy of your editorial of May 12 entitled "Civilian Defense," in which you raise some challenging questions regarding the role of the National Guard in a Civil Defense emergency. We sincerely appreciate the confidence you express in the National Guard organization, but, although it is perfectly proper that you should raise the question as to what the National Guard would be doing in a Civil Defense emergency, we cannot agree that "the National Guard should be recognized as basic in the emergency organization of the civilian defense program."

The National Guard is a military organization, part of the first-line Reserve Forces of this nation. In time of war or the threat thereof the National Guard will be mobilized into federal service and will be deployed as quickly as possible to the theatre of operations. It is likely, therefore, that in time of a Civil Defense emergency the National Guard unit, instead of being in its home community, will be stationed at a far distant training center or will actually be engaged in the theatre of operations. If the National Guard unit in each community were to be designated as the basic unit of the civilian defense organization, it follows that the whole organization would fall apart if the National Guard unit were mobilized. Therefore, we believe the concept that Civil Defense is fundamentally a civilian organization and a civilian responsibility is sound.

This does not mean that, if National Guard units are still at their home stations when a Civil Defense emergency occurs, they will sit idly by and take no part. This headquarters has for several years had in force a "War Emergency Plan" which provides for the mobilization of all National Guard units in time of Civil Defense Emergency and the assembly of these units at designated locations for emergency employment. The agreement between this headquarters and the State Director of Civil Defense, as approved by the Governor, contains, among other things, the following provision:

"The Minnesota National Guard will be committed in support of Civil Defense operations only on the basis of requests submitted by the State Director of Civil Defense to the Adjutant General. Such requests will designate missions that can be performed by military units and personnel under military control. Military units or personnel will not be attached to or come under command of Civil Defense officials."

I can assure you that, if the Minnesota National Guard is still in Minnesota at the onset of a Civil Defense emergency, the full resources of the Guard will be dedicated to restoring order and aiding in relief. We must, however, reckon with the likelihood that the Minnesota National Guard will be elsewhere and that the civilian defense organization must, therefore, be basically a civilian undertaking.

Sincerely yours,
Leon H. Hagen

Flying Farmers to Convene in St. Paul

Nearly 400 Members to Assemble June 12 and 13

Nearly 400 members of Minnesota Flying Farmers will hold their annual meeting at Capp Towers motel, St. Paul, June 12-13, Eugene Miller, Crookston, president of the organization, announced today.

The group was organized in 1946 and now carries on an active program to promote general aviation interests, flying safety, legislative action benefiting community type airports and several other educational programs.

Present programs include guarantee for airspace for smaller aircraft, equal treatment with automobiles at the Canadian border customs, flight clinics around the state, promotion of lights on high towers and flying scholarships for high school youth.

Today's "Flying Farmer" pilots his plane with the skill and confidence of an airline pilot, says Miller.

Members come from all kinds and sizes of farms. The one standard farm item is the airplane. Usually there is also a small grass strip into the prevailing wind with a hangar nearby which houses plows, trailers and grain drills as well as the airplane.

The average age is about 40. Many, however, are younger, and several in their "sixties" still fly. The four-passenger type of airplane has gradually become the most numerous in farm families. With an average speed of 120 miles per hour these planes make Minnesota and surrounding states close for both business and pleasure trips.

The present officers are Eugene Miller, University of Minnesota Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, president; Elmer Anderson, St. James, vice president; Stanley Ewald, Brownton, second vice president; and Mrs. Norman Kottke, Stewart, secretary-treasurer.

Program Subject to Change Without Notice

Sheep Days Slated in Greenbush June 7-9

A lamb shearing school, fitting and judging contests, a market lamb show and reports on the sheep outlook and feeding research—those are highlights of the Greenbush Sheep Days, June 7-9.

The event will also feature the official state junior shearing contest, according to William M. Provance, Roseau county agent and secretary for the Minnesota Sheep Producers association.

The shearing school will be June 7 and 8 and will be conducted by Ed Warner, Chicago, Sunbeam corporation representative and well-known shearing instructor.

Shearing contest eliminations will be held Wednesday, June 8.

All market lamb and wool competition, fitting and judging contests will be held Thursday morning, June 9. The Thursday afternoon program will feature the shearing contest finals and demonstrations and talks by several livestock experts.

Winner of the junior shearing contest will take part in the national junior contest at the Indiana State Fair later this year.

Wool may be entered in two classes—⅜ blood and finer, and ¼ blood and finer. The market lamb show is open to pens of ten lambs each, weighing 75 pounds or over, born after Jan. 1, 1960. The 4-H and FFA market lamb show is open to pens of three lambs each.

Contestants in the 4-H and FFA judging contest may compete as teams or as individuals. Youths entering the fitting and showing contest are encouraged to bring their own lambs, but other lambs will be available.

Thursday afternoon's program will begin with a carcass cutting demonstration by W. J. Aunan, University of Minnesota meat researcher and Harold Sanden, Swift & Co. representative. R. M. Jordan, sheep researcher, will report on recent developments in lamb feeding.

R. E. Jacobs, extension livestock specialist, will view prospects for the sheep producer. Ray Solac, extension veterinarian and A. F. Larson, Greenbush veterinarian, will discuss health problems in sheep.

The event will wind up with the annual Sheep Men's banquet at the Greenbush auditorium Thursday evening. Speaker will be W. H. Kircher, editor of The Farmer, St. Paul.

Persons wishing to enter any phase of the event may contact their county agent or local vocational agriculture instructor for further details.

A good corn harvest where he had expected failure was the result of contour strips for Willard Hartfiel, Foley, last summer. According to L. T. Connelly, SCS technician, Hartfiel's strips held what little moisture fell on his sloping fields. After last summer's dry weather, Hartfiel really didn't expect much of a yield. But to his pleasant surprise, the corn did quite well. A cooperator in the Benton county soil conservation district, Hartfiel also has four waterways in gullied areas on his contoured fields.

Small Damage in 3 Minor Accidents

One Car Collides with Rear of School Bus in City

Comparatively little "property damage resulted from three traffic mishaps in the city the past week, as compared to the unusually large property damage toll the preceding week, police reported Saturday morning.

The first mishap occurred at 9:05 a.m. last Tuesday when Mrs. Alice Miller, city, driving north of LaBree av. turned toward the curb to park and was struck in the right side by John W. Biskey, Falls Hotel, city, who was leaving a parked position. Damages amounted to an estimated $45 to the Miller car.

At 7:25 the same day a car owned by Joseph H. Sullivan, Seattle, Wash., rolled down a slight incline in the Froseth Grocery parking lot and struck another car owned by Harvey R. Hanson, city, which was also parked in the lot as the two drivers talked outside. Sullivan was inquiring of Hanson the way out of town to the west, when the mishap occurred, causing $65 damage to Hanson's car, about $5 to Sullivan's.

Friday, at 4:10 p.m. a car driven by Virgil M. Burger, city, struck a school bus driven by Ralph E. Dowers in the rear at the E. First st. crossing as Dowers stopped to pick up a flag boy whom he had let out prior to crossing the tracks.

The school bus sustained approximately $35 damages, Burger's car $55. Burger was tagged for following too closely.

Lloyd G. Bakke of Newfolden Given $300 Scholarship

Nine Minnesota students, including one from Newfolden, are among the 87 throughout the United States and Canada sharing a total of $32,900 in 1960 scholarships awarded by Lutheran Brotherhood, fraternal life insurance society with headquarters in Minneapolis.

Carl F. Granrud, president of Lutheran Brotherhood, said the awards are part of the society's expanding program of financial aid to Lutheran students on high school, college, seminary and postgraduate levels.

A $1,000 scholarship has been awarded to Lyman T. Lundeen, Deer River, a member of the 1960 graduating class at Augustana Theological seminary, Rock Island, Illinois.

WALLEYES are biting in the river here, as this photo of L. E. Morehouse proves. Morehouse, who has consistently fished the river for 60 years says yesterday was the first time he ever caught two such large fish in one day, the one at left weighing approximately eight pounds and the one at right, six. He reported minnows were used for bait but refused to divulge the exact location where the catch was made. Morehouse lives at 203 Maple av. N.

District Tournament

If the 31st district high school baseball tournament, which gets under way on Wednesday afternoon at Red Lake Falls, proceeds according to form, the championship finals on Saturday night should find coach Ralph Skay's defending champion Prowlers meeting coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston Pirates.

It's doubtful, though, if the play will follow the form sheets, and it's possible for Warren, Alvarado, Climax, Red Lake Falls or one of the other, teams to provide an upset. With the finalists required to play three games, it is a certainty that the coaches will be very careful in manipulating the pitching. Crookston's Lehrer will rely on highthander Jim Turner for the "big" game hurling; while coach Skay will rotate the Prowler staff so that veteran Arlan Hjelle will be available for the "pressure" games.

We can assure fans that if the Prowlers and Hjelle are pitted against the Pirates and Turner in the finals on Saturday night, they will witness championship ball.

The Prowlers were "weathered" out of their final two games, with Warren cancelling the game that was to have been played at Warren on Friday night, and Ada, because of the press of sub-district play, being forced to cancel the game they were to have played here on Saturday night. As a result the Prowlers have closed out their season's play with a mark of nine wins and four losses. In district conference competition, the Prowlers are undefeated. The losses that the Prowlers have absorbed this season were in inter-district play, with Roseau winning a pair of games, Argyle winning one, and Fertile winning one game.

Athletic Coaching Changes

There will be quite a number of changes in the athletic coaching staffs in the high schools in this area when next season rolls around. Heading the list of resignations was Hartley Story's relinquishing the Prowlers basketball job here to accept a position at Osseo. John (Jack) Junker, coach of the Newfolden Nordics resigned his post there effective at the end of the school year. And Julian (Tex) Morgan, track coach and assistant basketball coach at Warren, will not return for next season's campaign.

And there are a number of former Prowler athletes who will move into the ranks of coaching next season. Loren (Sid) Vraa, who was co-captain of the Prowler football, hockey and baseball squads in 1954-55, has signed a contract to teach and coach at Browns Valley high school. Browns Valley has a fine athletic tradition, being particularly strong in track and field competition.

Myron (Mike) Hajostek, co-captain of the 1952-53 Prowler hockey and baseball teams, is reported to have signed a contract to teach and coach at Red Lake Falls. Mike will probably assist Andy McCarthy with the Eagles' varsity football squad, and handle the hockey squad.

Jerry Furuseth, a member of the Prowler football and basketball squads in 1949 and 1950, will be at Twin Valley high school next season. Jerry is finishing up at Moorhead State college this year, and has been doing his practice teaching at Mahnomen. Twin Valley's baseball coach, Jerry Mehlisch, has transferred to Halstad high school, taking the place vacated by the Pirates' coach, Al Droen.

Record Breakers

We were fortunate enough to be on hand Wednesday afternoon at the Lincoln athletic field as coach Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians successfully defended their grade school track and field championship.

The Indians, scoring heavily in the fifth grade competition, rolled up a total of 127 points. In the sixth grade competition, the Knox Tigers outpointed the Indians, 58 to 56; but in the fifth grade events, the Indians had a 71 to 33½ margin over Knox. Coach Roger Dorn's Knox squad had a total of 91½ points.

In Wednesday afternoon's tournament we watched Tommy Cummings break the running broad jump record with a leap of 14 feet, 9 inches. Tom made that record leap in his first try in the broad jump event. And we also saw Dennis Hanson set a new mark in the high jump event with a leap of 4 feet, 3 inches. Cumings and Hanson will be concluding their grade school athletic careers this year, and they have been a couple of vital cogs in the championship clubs that coach Beadle has developed at Northrop. Tommy and Dennis will be moving up into junior high school competition next season.

Rain and threatening weather apparently kept a number of the city's trapshooters away from the traps on Thursday evening, with the result that several of the teams were forced to shoot short-handed.

The three league leaders — Wilson Bros., the Times, and Ben Franklin—continued undefeated in league competition, marking up their third successive wins. Next week's schedule will find the Wilson Bros., meeting the Times, with a share of the top rung being at stake.

The Ben Franklin team defeated the Coast-to-Coast, 114 to 94, with Dr. Jim Disse having a 25 straight, and Bill Ranta scoring a 21-6 and Dr. Ralph Helm having a 20-6. Walt Fischer, with a 22-3, and Darrell Wood, with a 21-4, had "25's" for the losers.

The Wilson Bros. squad, with Roy Peterson having a 19-7 and Wally Vagle an 18-8, defeated the Ekeren Pharmacy, 118-112. Ray Thyren had a 25 straight for druggists, and young Wayne Schantzen, outshooting his dad Cy, who was a member of the Wilsons, had a 23-4.

The Times won by default over the Oen's Appliance, 116 to zero. Bill Dahlquist had a 20-6 to post a "25" for the winners.

The Northern Chevrolet defeated the Statekow Clinic team, 116 to 49, with only two shooters competing for the Clinic. George Mackenroth had a 20-6 for the winners, while Steve Skadsen, a youngster making his first appearance in league competition, had a 22-8.

Ranum Constr[illegible] Awarded Contract for Walks and Curb

Bids in connection with the street improvement project of 17 lineal blocks north of the business district were opened at an adjourned meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, May 31.

The Swingen Construction company of Grand Forks was the successful bidder for the installation of the Sixth st. water main and the replacement of service connections in the area. The bid was $11,690.80. Other bids were: Ewald, Wagner & Corrin, International Falls, $13,452.50; Lee Plumbing & Heating company, Thief River Falls, $12,874 and the Ripley Plumbing & Heating company, Thief River Falls, $13,370.37.

The Ranum Construction company, Thief River Falls, was the successful bidder on the installation of curb, gutter and sidewalks in the area with a bid of $4,575.77. Other bids were: Ralph Norlund, Warren, $4,820.66 and Swingen Construction company, Grand Forks, $5,243.

The bid of Oscar Schenkey of Middle River to furnish crushed rock for the street improvement project at 50c a cubic yard was accepted over the bid of the Ness Construction company of Mahnomen which bid 58c a cubic yard.

The feasibility report of Doug Stewart, consulting engineer, on the storm sewer drainage of Davis and Dewey aves. and Red Lake blvd. was read but the proposal was tabled until the matter is further examined.

According to the report, the area would be drained by two outlets to the Red Lake river at Fifth and Sixth sts. Total cost of the project was estimated at $13,300 with $9,750 to be raised by special assessment against benefited property owners and $3,550 as the city's share. An assessment of $173 for a 50 by 140-foot lot was mentioned but this amount could possibly be adjusted so that commercial property would bear a larger portion of the total cost and residential property would pay less.

N.W. Bell to Make Postcard Canvass of Local Patrons

George Hale, Manager of Local Exchange, Invites Comments and Criticisms

A postcard canvass to help give telephone customers the kind of service they want will be conducted in a few days by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company office in Thief River Falls, according to George Hale, manager.

Every telephone user in Thief River Falls will receive a double post card asking for comments and criticisms of telephone service and the company that provides it. Cards will be mailed Monday, June 6, and subscribers will begin receiving them Tuesday or Wednesday.

"We hope that everyone will take a minute to fill out the return half of the cards and mail them to me," Hale said. "We're not necessarily seeking compliments and if any of our customers have criticisms, we would like to know what they are. Comments will help us give subscribers the kind of service they want."

Similar post card canvasses are planned for other areas where Northwestern Bell operates. The purpose is to find out which customers have complaints so that the company can try to remove the causes of the criticism.

"We'll contact everyone who replies unfavorably and make every effort to clear up the sources of dissatisfaction," Hale said.

Connie Ekeren to Go to Greece Late This Month as AFS Student

CONNIE EKEREN

Connie Ekeren, Lincoln high school junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Ekeren of this city last weekend received the welcome news that she had been selected by the American Field Service in New York to spend July and August with a family in Greece.

The local AFS chapter, which is supported by numerous civic and fraternal groups, will supply about half of the cost of Miss Ekeren's trip, with her parents paying the remainder, it was announced by Joe Iverson, president of the chapter.

Connie will leave June 29 from New York city for Greece aboard a special AFS charter plane, and on arriving there will live for two months in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicolaos Geletopoulos in Patra Achaia, Greece. Their family includes a daughter, age 16, and sons 17 and 13. The father is a store operator.

While in Greece, Connie will study the country, its way of life and its people, and will undertake to impart information about life in the United States.

A screening committee of the local AFS chapter had narrowed the list of candidates from this community from ten applicants to three. These three then submitted detailed applications to New York headquarters of the AFS, where the final selection was made.

In 1959 slightly more than 1,000 junior students from this country were selected for trips overseas. This group included Judy Wold of Thief River Falls, the first local student to be chosen for a trip by the AFS.

216 of 494 Autos In Safety Check Have Some Defects

Jaycees and Car Dealers Cooperate in Check Last Friday and Saturday

The two-day car safety check Friday and Saturday, May 27 and 28, revealed that 216 of the 494 vehicles checked by the Thief River Falls Jaycees had one or more mechanical defects, according to Loren Borsheim, chairman of the project.

Seventeen motorists returned for a second check after having defective equipment repaired to have the "Green Circle of Safety" affixed to their windshields.

The safety check by the local Jaycees in cooperation with local automobile dealers and service stations was part of a statewide project of the Junior Chamber and the Minnesota Safety council.

According to Borsheim, defective windshield wipers led the faulty equipment parade with 103 discovered. Other defects were: rear lights, 47; front lights, 31; tires, 38 and exhausts, 39. Other items included brakes, steering, glass, horns and rear-view mirrors.

The safety committee announced that it was well pleased with the number of motorists who took part in the voluntary program and with the number who cooperated in checking vehicles.

Earning Living Is Not Enough, Seniors Told

Dr. John Neumaier Addresses Lincoln Graduates Tuesday

"We are living dangerously today because of the many comforts and advantages we have," Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of Moorhead State college told Lincoln high school graduates and their guests at commencement exercises in the school gymnasium Tuesday evening.

Dr. Neumaier told the capacity audience that they must recognize the regimentation that governments use to gain power over us, the changes brought about by mechanization which are so rapid that people don't adjust to them, and the seriousness of living in a period when nuclear destruction threatens the world.

He pointed out that the graduating class has opportunities to further its education and to practice freedom. The German-born educator went on to show how fortunate the graduates have been to be provided with the education they completed in high school and asked, "What are you going to do with it?"

"Just to use the knowledge you have gained to earn a living is not enough," he warned. He indicated that graduates have a duty to further their knowledge of their own nation and of others so that the problems now facing the world may be solved.

He pointed out that too much of our leisure time is taken up by unproductive pursuits while it could be used to learn the philosophies and objectives of governments and parties.

"We must use our freedom or it will wither and die. If we lose our vigilance, we will lose our freedom," the speaker said. "Don't give up your freedom for security."

The record graduating class of 176 members, through its spokesman, Don Wennberg, welcomed the guests to the exercises and the speaker was introduced by Irwin T. Mickelson, superintendent of schools. The class was presented by Arnold L. Larson, principal of Lincoln high school, to Arnold Pearson, president of the board of education, who awarded the diplomas. Pearson also presented certificates to the 16 graduates of the teacher training department who made up the final group of this kind. The department will be discontinued at the end of this school year.

Cummings Reminds Bike Licenses Due

Permits Available at Police Station at 25c

Licenses for bicycles owned and operated in Thief River Falls are now available at the police station and may be purchased for 25c, according to Elton Cummings, police chief.

The chief said that the deadline for the purchase of licenses has now passed and that all bicycles must display a tag according to city ordinance.

To purchase a tag, either bring the bicycle to the police station or bring the information that is necessary to secure the license. Data required includes the serial number, color and make of the bicycle and from whom it was purchased.

Cummings also warned that bicycles should have a headlight, a taillight or reflector and be equipped with good brakes. The use of reflectorized tape on bicycles to make bicycles more easily seen during late hours was also suggested as a safety measure.

Memorial Day Duly Observed in TRF Monday

Rev. Jas. Bernauer, Bemidji, Delivers Inspiring Address

The Rev. James Bernauer of St. James Catholic church in Bemidji, and formerly assistant pastor of St. Bernard's church in Thief River Falls, delivered a thoughtful address at Memorial Day exercises held in the National Guard Armory Monday morning.

Preceding the program, a procession including the Legion municipal band, color guard, firing squad, and Gold Star parents riding in automobiles, made its way thru flag-decked streets from the municipal Auditorium to the Armory.

The exercises, over which Selmer Dimmen, junior vice commander of the local VFW post, presided, opened with a group of selections including "The Star Spangled Banner", by the band, the advance of the colors, invocation by Dr. Walter M. Pedersen and a vocal solo by Duane Rafteseth, accompanied on the piano by Jerry Joringdal.

Memorial Day, said Father Bernauer, is a time to remember that the best blood of this nation has been shed in our behalf. This, he added, should teach us patriotism that goes beyond class or creed or nationality, and is based on a firm belief in God. He cited the late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles, as an outstanding example of true patriotism. We must hope, he said, for a future in which young men's lives need no longer be sacrificed.

Stan Wilson Jr. recited the "Tribute to the Unknown Soldier", after which wreaths were placed on symbolic graves by Mrs. Clara Larson and Mrs. LeRoy Nabben, respectively presidents of the VFW and American Legion auxiliary units.

The exercises closed with the salute to the colors by the Company D firing squad, sounding of taps by Ron Stordahl, the benediction by Dr. Pedersen and the retirement of the colors.

CRASH AFTERMATH The body of Oscar Hogquist, 65, lies pinned in the wreckage of his car after it and a car transport collided headon about five miles southeast of the city on U.S. 59 about 5 p.m. Wednesday. Also killed were Mrs. Hogquist 56, and Loren Hogquist, 27, both of whom were thrown clear by the impact. The truck driver, Lawrence Golden, 57, St. Paul, suffered fractures but is not listed in critical condition. The fatal smash-up occurred on a straight stretch of road under near ideal driving conditions.

3 County People Die in Collision

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hogquist and Son Killed Near City

A Pennington county farm family was wiped out with appalling swiftness late Wednesday afternoon in the head-on collision of their car with an automobile transport trailer-tractor rig about five miles southeast of the city on U. S. 59.

Killed instantly in the crash were Oscar Hogquist, about 65; his wife, Myrtle, 56, and their adopted son, Loren, 27. They were returning to their home about eight miles southeast of the city about 5 p.m. Wednesday when their car and a McKee car transport, from St. Paul, driven by Lawrence Golden of St. Paul collided about a half mile north of the Hazel cut-off. The accident occurred on a straight stretch of road under conditions of perfect visibility.

According to the physician attending Golden, he suffered a fractured knee-cap and fractured vertebrae, cuts and abrasions. He was hospitalized here and underwent surgery last night. The nature of the back injury suffered by Golden was not classified as serious by the doctor.

Exact cause of the crash is as yet undetermined. The case is still under investigation by the highway patrol and Golden is being questioned this morning, but no information was available shortly before press time.

The impact drove the hood and engine of the tractor into the interior of the car almost to the [illegible] rest of the front seat, pinning Hogquist in the wreckage. Mrs. Hogquist and Loren were thrown clear, both considerably mutilated by the impact.

Hogquist's body was so badly jammed into the wreckage the twisted metal had to be cut apart before he could be removed. A large crowd quickly gathered to view the gruesome proceedings but traffic was kept flowing smoothly by the crash scene by city and county law enforcement officers who were sent to the crash to help the highway patrol.

Hogquist is survived by a brother, John, rural Thief River Falls. Mrs. Hogquist is survived by two brothers, Harry and Alvin Dahl, of this city and by two sisters living elsewhere, while Loren is survived by a brother and sister, whose names were not available.

Green Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete at this time. A complete obituary will be published in Monday's Times.

North Dakota Oil May Be Valuable Revenue Source for Soo Here

North Dakota oil may develop into an important source of revenue for the Soo Line's Winnipeg division, according to Ed Hamerski, division superintendent. The first shipment of 33 tank cars passed through here Monday from the Ryal field west of Devils Lake enroute to Clearbrook where it is received by the Great Lakes Pipeline Co for delivery to refineries at Wrenshall and St. Paul.

Hamerski anticipates a daily shipment of 20 cars from the Devils Lake line and this total may increase later. Starting later this month he expects from 25 to 35 cars a day from the the Wylie field on the Kenmare line.

Facilities for transferring oil from tank cars to the pipeline at Clearbrook were installed in 1956 and about 1,200 cars were moved to that point from western Dakota at that time. An assembly pipeline moving the oil from the wells to the Mandan refinery cut off that source of supply.

In the meantime the Soo line has negotiated with Great Lakes for a combination rate that makes it possible to ship oil from several other north Dakota fields to the Minnesota refineries and the prospects are good for a revival of this traffic. The Soo Line now has daily service on the Drake branch but the Kenmare branch is now served with only three trains a week and with the new business it may be necessary to resume daily service on this line, Hamerski said.

No Charge Will Be Made for Six-weeks Course to Be Taught by F. Skogen

A six-weeks course in basic typing will be offered at Lincoln high school beginning Monday, June 6, and ending on Friday, July 15, Joe Iverson, high school director announced today. Franklin Skogen of the high school business department will be the instructor.

Students who desire to enroll should report to the west cafeteria on Monday, June 6, at 9 a.m., 10 a.m., 11 a.m., or 1 p.m. There will be no charge for the course. Each class will meet for one hour daily.

Parents of bus students are advised that a bus schedule will be worked out as soon as registrations can be completed. In order, however, to work out the most practical individual assignments and the most practical bus schedule, no buses will operate until Monday morning, June 13.

Parents are urged to enroll their children only if the student intends to be regular in attendance and has a sincere desire to learn typing. Absences will be handled through the principal's office, in the same manner as they are during the regular school year.

ANDERSONS JEWELERS

By Eleanor Olson

The history that surrounds us always takes me by surprise. Not long ago I was amazed to learn that the beautiful examples of bead work at the Library were taken from burial mounds on Squaw Point where the Red Lake and Thief Rivers join.

Like everyone else I think of archeology as being for scholars and I don't think of history as being in my own backyard. I didn't until I became a gardener. (We dig up the most fascinating things; yesterday it was a bronze propeller in as perfect condition as the day it was buried.)

Such artifacts as I find aren't earth-shaking, historically speaking, but is easy to see how amateur "diggers" develop. Perhaps my next discovery will be a copper kettle or an arrowhead.

A new book that has made me more aware of "digging" and "diggers" is "Hidden America," by Roland Wells Robbins and Evan Jones. Mr. Robbins was a New England handyman until he became interested in Walden Pond and the locations of Thoreau's little house. The house itself was known to have been moved away and its original site had been lost. Robbins, determined to see if he could find the site began to do research.

Armed with a probing rod, a spade and the clues he had gathered from reading, Robbins got permission to dig. Through his efforts, the site was established conclusively. From that project he went on to the Saugus Iron-works, the first full scale smelting and refining operation in colonial America. After three hundred years the site was buried beneath a newly built town street. With the financial backing of the modern steel industry the "dig" was successfully completed.

A high water table beneath the dirt covering of the years had kept the existing timbers of the water wheel and race in a marvelous state of preservation for three centuries. In any other site they would have decomposed in less than a hundred years.

One of the most controversial subjects that Robbins touches on is the existence of a Vinland which the Vikings were said to have founded long before Columbus ever set sail. Many possible locations have been suggested, investigated and pooh-poohed. The authenticity of the Kensington Rune Stone also highly debated is questioned by Robbins who feels it could not have been produced in 1363. His opinion is completely in opposition to that of Mr. Hjalmar Holand, who has devoted a lifetime to proving the truth of its runic inscription. (It is now in the museum at Alexandria.)

Hjalmar Holand, a recognized historian on Norwegian emigration, has spent most of his life on the Green Bay Peninsula of Wisconsin. He has written eleven other books on the Vikings and Scandinavian immigration in this country. But, I found, most interesting of all his recent autobiography, "My First Eighty Years." It takes a lot of gumption to produce a well written volume any time, but doing when you are over eighty seems a very worthy achievement. His story is the full flow of all the constructive activities of a man who has always been curious. Here also is the whole story of the Kensington Stone.

Mr. Holand says "the golden secret of staying young is to find an occupation for which one has a native aptitude. Then, when this is followed diligently, one can live joyfully." Would that through God's grace we were all able to do just that. But perhaps reading Mr. Holand's book will put you closer to the secret. It will certainly fill you with an interest in the Scandinavian immigrants, both of this century and of several centuries ago.

Pennington Board Defers Action on Ditch 76 Project

The Pennington county board last Thursday conducted a hearing on the proposed improvement of County Ditch 76, formerly Judicial Ditch 40. Some of the small number of affected property owners who made an appearance favored repairing the entire ditch system instead of only part of it, as the present petition calls for. The board voted to table the matter until the July meeting to permit filing of a petition for the larger project, and, if it is not filed by that time, the board will act on the present petition.

May '60 Was Warmer and Dryer Than in '59

Although it seemed to some winter-weary residents of this area that spring would never come, a look at the month's summary shows that temperatures climbed gradually and steadily to the warmest reading of May, an 82, the last day.

It hardly seems possible that 1½ inches of snow fell just 38 days ago. Since then, there have been no daytime readings below 39 and only 10 nights this month have been cool enough to be below the freezing mark.

Compared to the same month a year ago, the past month has been warmer, both night and day, and less precipitation has fallen. The average high temperature during May of 1959 was 61.3 and the average low was 38.8 while this year, the average high was 66.6 and the average low 40.5.

A total rainfall of 2.29 inches fell the past month in comparison to 3.84 inches during the same period in 1959.

Looking forward to June, the high reading of 1959 was set on the seventh when 93 was registered at the KTRF weather station. The previous day, 92 was posted on the radio station instruments and 95 on the First Federal time-temperature sign.

Here is a summary of the temperatures and precipitation for the month of May:

Rep. Langen Asks for Change in Sugar Act

Congressman Odin Langen Monday in Washington criticized the proposal of Congressman Harold D. Cooley, chairman of the House agriculture committee, that the present Sugar Act be extended unchanged for one year. Langen called this "an injustice to the expressed desires and needs of our domestic producers."

Cooley has scheduled an executive, or closed, session of the agriculture committee to act on his bill to maintain the status quo of the Sugar Act for one year and has expressed the hope that the rules committee will grant his bill a closed rule, which would make amendment on the House floor impossible.

Langen, who has proposed legislation which would provide a small increase in the domestic sugar quotas and reserve the increases in consumption to the domestic areas, said "there is no reason why consideration should not at least be given to apportioning the increased needs each year to the domestic areas. This is not a new proposal, or an attempt to 'get back' at Castro. This is simply legislation which has been requested for many years, and to which consideration should be given regardless of the situation in Cuba."

"What is being done by those who would attempt to 'ram through' unchanged a one-year extension of the Act is that they are letting the present state of affairs in Cuba interfere with the orderly and logical consideration of domestic affairs."

"A cut-and-dried extension of the Act will mean that the countless requests and resolutions which we have received that consideration be given to increased production in the domestic areas will have been wasted and thwarted by an argument which doesn't really exist."

OVER THE BACK FENCE

Road Hazards

Recently, Elton Cummings, chief of police, issued a warning in regard to the operation of go karts on the public streets and highways.

The warning, as with all police warnings, was for the safety and welfare of the operators of these vehicles as well as for that of the general public.

The laws are specific as to the type of vehicles which can be used and to their licensing. Certain items of equipment must be used for safety and the drivers themselves, no matter how small a motor vehicle may be, must have valid drivers' licenses.

This is known throughout the world as the nation whose sons and daughters have mechanical aptitudes beyond those of many other nationalities. Nearly every boy and girl has access to tools and machines to "monkey with" and to increase their knowledge and dexterity.

With good weather and dry roads, the pent-up desire to "make something that runs" has again emerged and we are again seeing a number of home-made cars and cycles powered with small gasoline engines on the streets—all unlicensed and operated by youngsters too young for drivers' licenses. These drivers apparently know that they are breaking a law for they do their joyriding during evening hours—a practice which in itself is dangerous. They are difficult to see and are likely to be hit by automobiles.

From the standpoint of originality, mechanical ability and labor, these small vehicles are a credit to their builders and drivers. They are, however, a hazard to their owners and to drivers and pedestrians.

If these vehicles must exist, may I ask that those who are operating them install the minimum equipment of lights, reflectors and horns which are required of bicycles? May I also ask that they stay on their own side of the streets? If not, someone will soon be injured or killed.

Congratulations!

Since you last read this column, you have had six chances each day to die or be injured by crossing the railroad tracks in our city. You are also to be congratulated for having your house unburned and for not having to call a doctor on an emergency or to make use of an ambulance. Lucky you!

We still need an underpass on First street. How many more days will go by before it is again brought to our attention by tragedy?

Josephine Hansen Succumbs; Rites to be Held Today

Funeral services will be held at Mission Covenant church in this city today, Thursday, June 2, at 2 p.m. for Josephine Hansen who died May 30, at the age of 82 years, at Northwestern hospital. Rev. Eldor E. Langager will officiate and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery. She will lie in state one hour prior to services at the church. Sinding funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hansen was born August 27, 1877, in Muskegon, Michigan. In 1882 she moved with her parents to Upsala, Minn., a small town near Little Falls, and here she attended school. She was united in marriage to Rasmus Hansen in 1895. In 1901, they moved to Mizpah, where Mr. Hansen operated a sawmill and light plant until 1921 when they moved to Grygla. They moved to Thief River Falls in 1949 where they since lived.

Her survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Hazel Bakken of this city; three sons, Erving of Toledo, Ohio, LeRoy of Duluth and Gordon of Bemidji; one brother of Greenhurst, N. Y.; nine grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband, four sisters, one grandchild and four great-grandchildren.

Final Rites for Hans T. Aakre Held Tuesday

Funeral services were held for Hans T. Aakre of Grygla Tuesday, May 31, at St. Petri church of Grygla, with Rev. N. A. Langness officiating and Helgeson funeral home of Roseau in charge of arrangements. Interment was in St. Petri cemetery.

Mr. Aakre passed away May 26 at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

He was born January 20, 1893 in Norway and in 1911 came to Edmore, No. Dak., where he engaged in road construction work for 14 years. In 1932 he moved to the Grygla community where he began farming and has since lived. January 11, 1932 he was united in marriage to Tillie Flom.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Hans Jr. of Crookston and Steinar at home, two grandchildren, two sisters, and one brother. Preceding him in death were his parents, three brothers and one sister.

Coach Rod Max's Prowler 880-yard relay team of Gary Klungness, Paul Klungness, Don Waldera, and Dale Wennberg, was just 4/10 of a second off the regional record as they won the event in 1:36.4

Other Prowler points were garnered by Gary Klungness, who had a third in the 100-yard dash and a fifth in the 220-yard dash; and Paul Klungness, who had a fourth in the 220-yard dash.

176 Graduates Appear in Caps and Gowns at Annual Baccalaureate Services

The first of two final appearances as a group of the Lincoln high school graduating class of 176 members was made at baccalaureate services Sunday evening in the school auditorium.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Lynn Luthard, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran church, who pointed out that making a living is not all of life. You can't buy pleasure, he said, and the federal constitution guarantees, not happiness, but only the right to pursue it. He closed by urging his young hearers to adhere to what he called the three C's: contrition or repentence; confession, or admission of guilt; and commitment to God.

The exercises opened with the processional march played by Shirley Peterson, followed by the invocation by the Rev. Ronald W. Dalzell, pastor of the First Baptist church, and two selections by the high school chorus. Two hymns by the audience completed the program, along with the benediction and recessional.

Citizens Pay High State Income Tax

Pay 3d Highest Tax in U.S. on $5,000 Income

A Minnesotan who earned $5,000 in wages in 1959, married, with two children, paid the highest income tax among all the states, Harold T. Miller, research director of the Minnesota Taxpayers association pointed out today.

"That new ½ of 1 per cent increase in individual tax rates in each bracket keeps up in an unenviable spot among the high income tax states," Miller said.

According to a recent study by the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin, the Minnesota taxpayer in the $5,000 income class, married and having two children, and using the optional standard deduction, will pay $72.60, the third highest state income tax — following only Hawii and Vermont.

At the $10,000 level, the same typical Minnesota family will pay $331.87, the fourth highest among the 28 states imposing an individual income tax.

FARMING TODAY

by your County Agent

Paul Stelmaschuk

Chemical on Dairy Farm

Keeping insecticide residues out of milk is crucial to the well-being of dairy farmers and public health.

The important thing is to use insecticides this summer according to label directions.

If chemicals are used incorrectly, residues may show up in the milk. Milk containing such residue may be seized and the person selling it may face court action.

Residues in milk may result from incorrect use of chemicals on cows, on crops, in barns or sheds, and around feed, water or equipment.

Here are safe uses of the main insecticides around dairy cattle.

For direct application to cows, you may apply a 4 per cent malathion dust, at least 5 hours before milking. Methoxychlor 50 per cent wettable powder may also be used dry on the cows. Other approved chemicals for use this way are pyrethrins mixed with synergists (like piperonyl butoxide or MGK R-11 and MGK R-326).

If you wish to spray the barn or shed and cattle are in the building, the only approved treatment is the pyrethrins-synergists mixture, used as spray or fog. If cattle are not in the barn, you may also use Diazinon, malathion or Korlan spray or bait, or dipterex or DDVP bait for residual action against flies.

At least five recommended chemicals are cleared for use on forage or pasture. But with each, there is a specific waiting period between treatment time and cutting, feeding or grazing.

With either malathion or methoxychlor, you must wait 7 days before harvesting or grazing. Other waiting periods are parathion, 15 days; demeton (Systox), 21 days; and Phosdrin, one day.

Here are some other precautions, too. Don't pasture fields sprayed with DDT, dieldrin, heptachlor or toxaphene, and don't feed silage, stover or cannery wastes treated with any of those chemicals.

Corn may be fed or put in the silo 15 days after treatment with EPN or parathion, but not until 45 days after treatment with endrin.

Fertilizing Alfalfa

It's no trick to keep good alfalfa stands on those rolling hills for 8 or 9 years.

In University of Minnesota trials, alfalfa stands 8 or 9 years old are still producing up to 3 and 4 tons of forage per acre—where the right kind of fertilizing and management plan is being followed.

But with haphazard managing, the fields may be taken over by grass.

It has been proven that adequate phosphorus, and on some soils potash, is a must on long alfalfa stands. The most productive alfalfa plots after the first few years were ones receiving plenty of both nutrients.

Annual top-dressing was also important, and better than putting fertilizer on the alfalfa every other year. For the 8-year period, it cost $30 more to apply 200 pounds of 0-20-20 annually than every second year, but the annual top-dressing also meant an extra half ton of hay per acre each year.

However, top-dressing every second year was much better than not at all.

Starter fertilizer helped, too. Where researchers applied a starter like 300 pounds of 0-20-20 the year before seeding and followed up with annual top-dressings, alfalfa went 3.5 tons more per acre over the 8 years than with top-dressing alone.

Applying nitrogen fertilizer was no help. Nor was there any benefit in these tests from trace elements, like copper, boron, zinc, manganese or iron.

Veterans Slow to Decide on Pension

New Pension Law Will Take Effect July 1st

Only about 7½ per cent of the 7,256 persons in North Dakota and that part of Minnesota served by the Fargo VA office receiving pensions from the Veterans Administration have so far elected to choose payments for which they are eligible under the pension law which goes into effect July 1.

John R. Parrish, manager of the Fargo VA Center, said 7,256 veterans, their widows and children were mailed a card with their March monthly payments on which to choose the new pension law. To date, only 555 have been returned to VA.

Parrish urged all persons who have made up their minds to elect the provisions of the new pension law to notify VA as soon as possible. This will avoid a last minute rush and bottleneck in June as the effective date nears.

Complete assistance in determining whether the new or old law is advantageous to the pensioners can be obtained from any VA office.

A Prime Prospect

Said Hawley's veteran championship flight golfer, Vint McDonald, after scoring a first round win over Prowler freshman Ron Kvikstad in the shortstop tournament played here Sunday: "Ron is one of the finest golf prospects that I have seen or played against."

That statement is quite a compliment for the golfing potential of the smooth-swinging Ron as Vint McDonald is a well-qualified expert on golf, and other sports. McDonald is one of Hawley's all-time greats in athletics, being adept in basketball, baseball, and football. Following his high school days, McDonald enrolled at Concordia, and had a colorful career as a Cobber.

Vint's young son, George, also played in the shortstop tournament here Sunday, and in the consolation finals he met, and defeated, Ron Kvikstad. Said Ron after the tournament: "I won't be satisfied until I have beaten both the McDonalds in one day."

And speaking of George McDonald, he pitched and won a doubleheader for the Hawley Nuggets in the 23rd district high school baseball tournament on Saturday. Hawley won the district title and this week will compete in the Region Six tourney.

Letter Winners

Sixty University of North Dakota spring sport athletes were awarded varsity letters and freshman numerals. And included in this group were Ron Severson and Ken DeLap, former Prowler athletes.

Ron won his varsity letter as a pole vaulting member of coach Frank Zazula's Sioux track team; and Ken earned his letter as a member of coach Lloyd (Boots) Richmond's Sioux tennis squad. Both Ron and Ken have a couple of years of eligibility remaining.

Taking a Look

The Grand Forks Chiefs of the Northern league, a farm club of the Pittsburg Pirates, have taken a look at Bruce Lindell and Ken Weber, members of the North Dakota Sioux baseball squad. Lindell, a right handed hurler, pitched batting practice against the Chiefs; and Weber, an all-conference choice at shortstop, was given a tryout as an infielder.

Ken and Bruce will be playing their baseball this summer with the Ada Athletics. Weber will be handling the Ada junior Legion team, and Lindell, who will be attending summer school at UND, will be playing in the outfield and pitching for Ada.

Won Some Loot

Local golfers who participated in the shortstop golf tournament at Crookston on Monday were successful in bringing home some loot. Curt Johnson was runner-up to Red Lake Falls' Larry Turgeon in the second flight competition; Arnie Lee defeated Sig Sonju of Hawley in the second flight finals; Chuck Wilcox defeated Neil Prenevost of Red Lake Falls in the fifth flight finals; and Billy Lee was the consolation winner in the fifth flight.

Crookston's veteran Ernotte Hiller won the championship flight honors by defeating Morris Goden of Pembina in an extra-hole finals match.

Fishing

Although we received a few conflicting reports, the consensus is that the fishing last week-end was the best in a number of years. Lake of the Woods, and especially the Buffalo bay area, produced limit catches of walleyed pike. And these pike were of a uniform size, averaging out at two or three pounds apiece.

The report of the largest walleye taken during the week-end was the 11½ pounder that Jimmy Anderson hooked and landed on Sunday evening. Jimmy, who has established his headquarters at Springsteele Island, caught the trophy-sized walleye while fishing off that island.

And there are a number of reports of successful lake trout fishing expeditions into Canadian waters. Gene Sjoberg and his son Stan had a fine trip and excellent fishing at Kay lake. They flew into Kay lake from Nestor Falls, a short flight. And they reported catching a limit of trout, four to seven-pound average. In addition, Stan caught a 15-pound musky, but as the season on muskellunge is not yet open, the fish, after being weighed, was released.

Leo Pahlen again showed us a creel-ful of brook trout, caught in a stream somewhere between here and Duluth on Monday. Leo states that he used angle worms in catching the trout. He added that he would resort to salmon eggs whenever he "spooked" the trout, and this bait proved successful.

Leaving town tomorrow, Friday, enroute to the Nipigon river in northern Ontario, will be Bill Ranta and Dr. Jim Disse. The two trout anglers will be outfitted with a boat and camping gear, and they intend to "float" the Nipigon in an attempt to catch a five-pound trout.

Rain and wet grounds forced postponement of the Thief River Falls Bums vs. Goodridge game slated to have been played here Sunday afternoon, but the Badger vs. Greenbush and Plummer vs. Grygla games were played.

Badger gained a one-game lead over the Bums in the win column by scoring a 3 to 0 triumph over Greenbush in a game played at Greenbush. And the Grygla club handed the Plummer Red Sox their second loss of the season, winning by a 14 to 9 score.

Next Sunday's game at Badger, between the Bums and Badger, should be one of the season's highlights, with the winner gaining sole possession of first place in the league standings.

Manager Wally Grovum of the Bums stated that southpaw Freddy Jensen would be given the pitching assignment against the heavy-hitting Badger club, with Buzz Ward doing the catching. On Wednesday night, June 8, the Bums will play an exhibition game against the Warroad Muskies at Warroad.

Reid Stromberg Wins Golf Tourney Sunday

Sunday morning's persistent drizzle, and threatening weather forced the local golf club's tournament committee to revise the "Spring Swing" tournament into a one-day shortstop tournament. Four flights of golfers participated in Sunday's competition.

Reid Stromberg of the local club won the championship flight title by defeating Jerry Tygeson in the finals. In the championship flight consolation finals, George McDonald of Hawley defeated Ron Kvikstad.

In the championship flight play, Stromberg defeated Jon Larson, 1-up, in a first round match, and then bested Hawlee's Vint McDonald, 1-up, in a semi-finals encounter. Tygeson, in a first round match, defeated George McDonald, 2 and 1, and then eliminated club champion Stan Larson in the semi-finals.

Ron Solheim won the tournament's medalist honors when, in qualifying play on Saturday, he carded a 34-36 for a 70. Other qualifying scores were: Vint McDonald, 75; Ron Kvikstad, 75; Reid Stromberg, 78; Jon Larson, 76; George McDonald, 79; Jerry Tygeson, 79; and Stan Larson, 76.

Interest High in June Dairy Month—Conlon

A statewide groundswell of enthusiasm was cited Wednesday, as an omen of the most successful June Dairy Month observance in Minnesota history.

Manager L. H. (Lew) Conlon of the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, coordinating agency of state June Dairy Month activities, said interest in the 1960 celebration "appears to be at an unprecedented high."

Conlon, 15-year veteran with the American Dairy Association and originator of the series of "Dairy Day" cattle shows and dairy princess contests which have become annual events in this state, said organization and preparation for this year's events have been excellent on all levels.

"Most gratifying is the fact that much of this marked increase in interest and enthusiasm is coming from sources outside the dairy industry," Conlon said. "Participation and cooperation of civic organizations, business and industrial institutions and our educational leaders always has been good — but this year is remarkable."

The dairy industry spokesman said the "turnout, response and obvious interest" for the annual campaign kickoff luncheon in St. Paul May 24 made that affair the most successful to date.

The 1960 campaign was keynoted by state cochairmen Axel Hansen of Minneapolis, veteran agricultural columnist, and "dean" of state dairy cattle breeders, and Mrs. Leonard Harkness of St. Paul, wife of the state 4-H club leader. Both called for all-out support of June Dairy Month activities from all segments of the state.

"Minnesota became the second largest milk producing state in the union (behind Wisconsin) during the past year and we have to sell more than 80 per cent of our dairy products outside Minnesota," Hansen noted. "Generating enthusiasm for June Dairy Month and the dairy industry is not only tradition in Minnesota—it's common sense."

Mrs. Harkness, a trained home economist and mother of three children, pointed to the food value of dairy products which she said make them "the best food bargain in June or any other month."

"Having been raised in Texas where the dairy industry doesn't compare with what we have in Minnesota, I'd like to tell every woman in our state that we have something to be thankful for here," she said.

An international touch was added to this year's state campaign kickoff with the appearance at the luncheon a New Zealand dairy farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stuart. They were brought by Gov. Orville L. Freeman who met the couple on their own farm which was used for a training area for the Marines in World War II.

ROSEMARY ZOPPE, SOMERSAULTING EQUESTRIENNE

CIRCUS From Italy has come to America one of the outstanding riding acts of this generation—the Zoppe family, composed of six famous bareback riders. They are among the stars to be seen with the King Bros. Circus coming to Thief River Falls, Friday, June 10 for performances at 3:30 and 8:00 p.m.

Long famed in Continental Europe the Zoppe family made their home in Italy where the name is famous for five generations in the world of sawdust and tinsel. Their incomparable feats as riders has made their act outstanding, but they excel chiefly as somersaulting equestrians.

Miss Rosemary Zoppe is one of the highlights of the circus. An ordinary jump to the back of a galloping horse she performs "just to limber up." Old timers of the circus state she is the all time tops as a feminine rider.

There are two scores of riders with the King Bros. Circus this season. They hail from all parts of the globe. Altogether there are 150 performers with the show, the advance man states.

We would like to invite the readers of this column this week to go along with us on one of our airplane census flights made along the Mississippi river between Hastings and the Minnesota-Iowa border. Of course, there's not room for all of you in our 4-seater plane but at least you can accompany us in this column for now. To set a date let's make this trip on Memorial Day, 1960. This trip is usually scheduled each year as part of our Mississippi river fisheries survey.

As we take off from a Twin Cities airport we cannot avoid noticing how the Mississippi river winds through these two great cities before it continues its southward journey to New Orleans. To the south the Minnesota river increases its flow and to the east we see the St. Croix river bringing an entirely different kind of water from the forest lands to the north.

At the junction of the St. Croix and Mississippi river the plane passes over a large concentration of fishing boats. We'll see many more from here on. Downriver we see boats on almost every backwater river lake, on the main channel—even under the shade of trees along one of the myriad side channels. Most boats carry fishermen but many on the main channel are on a scenic cruise up or down the river or beached on one of the many islands.

As the river spreads out into Lake Pepin, hundreds of boats are counted at the head and foot of the lake as well as along the two shores. Although we have passed over two locks and dams we now begin to see these more frequently. Anchored immediately downstream from many of these are large fishing floats dotted fishermen and studded with poles on all side.

In about one hour we have reached the end of our flight at the Minnesota-Iowa border and probably have tallied from 1,000 to 1,500 boats and perhaps several hundred shore fishermen. In this 141 miles of river we have seen about 117,000 acres of water, a body of water almost equivalent to Leech lake in size but with every type of water and shoreline.

Such aerial fishing—census flights are carried on at certain times during the year to spot fishing concentrations and assist in ground census operations. The information collected will be important in selection of public access sites where needed most.

This and much more information is being continually collected and used by the Upper Mississippi River Conservation Committee. Here, representatives of the five states bordering the river from Hastings to Caruthersville, Mo., together with federal corps of engineers, fish and wildlife service and public health service coordinate their individual efforts toward a common goal, providing the maximum recreational use of this great river.

Organized since 1943, this group has sponsored studies on the fish and game produced in this "Hiawatha Valley" with most emphasis on fish, leaving the waterfowl work in the hands of the Mississippi Flyway council. It has sponsored fisheries surveys to make an inventory of the fish populations at regular intervals, creel census to find out how good fishing is at various localities, what kinds and sizes of fish are being caught and other facts about the fisherman and his catch. These things must be known before agencies responsible for maintenance of such fishing can know what, when, where and how fish management measures should be carried out.

The cooperating states have pooled their information on access requirements and such knowledge will assist the various agencies controlling lands along the river in planning their access program.

In 1957, a survey was made of Minnesota fishermen who fish the river. It found that about 40 per cent of our southeastern anglers use the Mississippi river. It also pointed out that 330,000 trips were made in 1957 and that approximately $1,700,000 was spent by these people to go fishing on the Mississippi river. Hundreds of commercial fishermen also find an income on harvest of coarse fish.

Such figures point out the importance of this part of "Ole Man River" to a large section of our state. Other states to the south rely on it much more because of the lack of natural fishing lakes.

Where formerly this river was thought by many only as a navigation route for barge traffic, now it is quite obvious that it is serving many more interests and hunting, as well as being of such as pleasure boating, fishing tremendous historical, scenic and aesthetic value for time to come.

To safeguard these interests especially those involving game and fish this upper Mississippi river conservation committee wil act as a common meeting place for the river. It will also be vigilant for the abuse that can arise with many conflicting interests involved in the hope of preserving this heritage and make it possible for many hundreds of thousands of people to have such a place to relax and enjoy in the fashion of Mark Twain.

Bass Fishing to Start Saturday

Bass become the target for many anglers throughout most of the state on Saturday, June 4, remind state fisheries officials. Anglers may take six bass daily, being either large or smallmouth or both in the aggregate. The possession limit is also restricted to six.

In the southern areas largemouth bass will be providing anglers with plenty of thrills and excitement. A variety of baits and lures will be used with most fishermen sticking to their favorites that have produced a few lunkers over the years.

"To destroy the Western tradition of independent thought it is not necessary to burn the books. All we have to do is to leave them unread for a couple of generations." —Robert M. Hutchins

A Reasonable Demand

Congressman Odin Langen has fought effectively for the interests of sugar beet growers in the Valley. He deserves a pat on the back for this year's acreage increase and for his efforts to secure a larger share of future sugar production allotments.

This problem is before the House Agriculture Committee, whose chairman favors retaining the present formula. Langen takes the position that American producers should be favored in any production increases that are needed to meet growing domestic needs. That makes sense. Each additional acre of sugar beets takes an acre out of production of some surplus crops at no additional cost to the taxpayer.

Steel Production Down

Steel mills in our country were operating at less than 70 per cent of capacity last week, and officials believe that production will drop to about 60 per cent before the downward trend will level off. The decline is attributed in part to inventory reductions by manufacturers. As long as steel is in ample supply there is no need for carrying large inventories, and stockpiles are being substantially reduced.

Foreign competition is an important factor in this market. Foreign mills are delivering some steel products to the American market at prices far lower than those of American mills. Barb wire, made in Germany, can be bought in Duluth for much less than the American made product.

Conditions of this kind bring increasing pressure for protective tariffs, but trade barriers are not the right solution. As we increase duties on imports, other nations will retaliate with barriers against our exports. A free exchange of goods and services is best for all in the long run.

We have lost the competitive advantage we enjoyed for many years by mass production methods. Other nations now have machines that are equal to ours and because of lower labor costs are able to produce for less. We are moving in the direction of steadily increasing wage scales with less employment and smaller pay checks.

He Didn't Know

A grain trade spokesman, appearing last week before a Senate special subcommittee checking on government grain storage operations, was sure the recent cut in grain storage rates by the department of agriculture was "arbitrary, illogical and unfair." But when asked what it cost his own firm to store grain he stated that he did not know.

This witness was president of a Kansas City firm that received $2,300,000 from the government in 1958 and 1959 for the storage and handling of surplus grain. He didn't know how much this operation cost his organization but he was sure the government's 19 per cent rate cut could not be justified.

Our off-hand opinion about this fellow is that he was not telling the truth. He must have had a pretty fair idea of how much his company profited by these operations. Possibly he was not anxious to become involved in matters that had not been disclosed in his company's income tax returns.

This company's operations probably should be checked a little further to get the actual facts that the head of the organization said he was not informed about. And we think the company itself should pay at least half of the cost of getting the facts just so its officers could be better informed on the overall operations.

—The Head That Wears A Crown

Developments following the breakdown of the Summit meeting indicate that Premier Khrushchev has adopted a much more conciliatory attitude toward us. His talk in East Germany was surprisingly mild. He was not pressing the Berlin question. Back in Moscow he was not nearly as belligerent as he had been in Paris.

As frosting on the cake came the friendly release of the plane and crew that had gotten off course and had been forced down in East Germany. It was feared that he would turn this matter over to the East Germans to handle; putting pressure on us to recognize the East German government. Not so. The members of the American plane crew were wined and dined and sent on their way in the friendliest manner possible.

President Eisenhower's restraint in all phases of the difficult situation no doubt was a factor in Khrushchev's about-face. The unity of the three western powers and his inability to divide them must have been helpful too in convincing him that he wasn't scaring anyone. But the most important influence in bringing about this change must have been the considered judgment of his associates in the Soviet government. Khrushchev knew that they knew that he had failed. Instead of bringing home a brilliant diplomatic victory, he was coming home with a humiliating defeat.

Khrushchev knows that the powers behind the Soviet throne do not take kindly to blunders and defeats. The loss of prestige by the failure to gain even one neutral vote in the Security Council of the United Nations could very well mean the end of Khrushchev as the spokesman for the Communists.

Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown, and we may be quite certain that Mr. K's main concern right now is the security of his own head rather than the security of his country.

Coordination Needed

Neither National Guard nor Civil Defense officers agree that they should be prepared to work together in the event of a national emergency. We have known how they have felt about this possibility ever since the Civil Defense organization came into being in Minnesota. The top brass of these organizations wanted nothing to do with each other.

But we still believe that closer coordination of these organizations would be in the public interest, and that provision for such coordination should be made. We recognize the obvious fact that each of these organizations has been created for a special purpose. But there also is a field of overlapping purpose that would be better served if provision were made in the planning for a coordinated effort.

No one knows how the next war will come, if it does come. In planning for it however, it probably is fair to assume that it will be another Pearl Harbor on a much larger scale. The result of that first, surprise attack would be appalling and the confusion indescribable. The picture isn't pleasant to contemplate, but if we are preparing for such an emergency then let's be realistic about the problems we would be confronted with.

We are satisfied that few National Guard units would be moved any great distances during the first weeks of such a war, and it would be during those first weeks of confusion that a trained and disciplined organization of that kind would be most needed to maintain order within its own state.

It is no reflection on the Civil Defense organization to assume that it would not be possible to become effective almost instantly in the event of a surprise attack. In this the National Guard would have a big advantage. The greatest need would be during those panicky first days, and that is when the National Guard could perform its most effective service.

After those first panicky days the national defense program would be reorganized according to the needs as they developed. In this program the Civil Defense organization would serve a useful purpose. But for the special needs of those first trying days the National Guard and the Civil Defense organizations should be prepared to work together.

Rules For Living

(The Redwood Gazette)

The New York Mirror sent an investigator to a camp where convicted juvenile delinquents live and work out their terms. Interviews with the boys produced three steps which, according to them, would have kept them out of trouble: (1) Firm and fair discipline regarding habits, hours and friends. (2) A happy home of which they are a respected part, and into which they can proudly bring their friends. (3) Instruction in how to make a living and get along with other people—that is, preparation for the basic economic relationships of adult life.

The Triple Squeeze

(Wall Street Journal)

Mayors of some of the nation's big cities were in Washington recently with their hats in their hands, a posture one has come to expect of these otherwise dignified gentlemen when they call on Uncle Sam.

As usual, they were pleading for Federal funds. Mayor Tuck of St. Louis wants a half billion dollars more for urban renewal or slum clearance and he joined Mayor Wagner of New York and some others in a plea for $100 million in Federal loans to help street car and bus riders and commuters.

But it is just this sort of approach to their fiscal problems that have the states and cities in so much trouble as it is. And the trouble does not come from a lack of knowing what goes on; the mayors and governors know very well that the Federal funds they beg or demand of Washington come from the same pockets as the taxes they receive. Too many of the mayors and governors will simply not face up to the difficulties increased demands on the Federal purse bring to their own cities and states; they prefer to let their successors deal with that problem.

It is very true that state and municipal tax money is harder and harder to come by; after the Federal Government has siphoned off its growing share there isn't much left for the other taxing authorities.

But it isn't going to change matters one bit for the states and the cities to run to Washington to beg a few bucketsful back, for Washington will only drain off more and more to satisfy everybody lined up with their bucket.

The honest thing for the mayors and governors to do would be to tell their people the only sound way to solve local problems is to increase local taxes. And the only sound way to increase local taxes is for the voters to tell their Senators and Representatives to quit grabbing off so much for Washington or they'll find themselves out of a job.

That, perhaps, would be too revolutionary an approach for one set of politicians to take concerning other politicians. But it will take something revolutionary before the taxpayer frees himself from the triple squeeze of Federal, state and local spenders all busy playing the old shell game with the taxpayer in the role of yokel at the county fair.

Bring Data Along When Applying for Social Security

Grand Forks Agent Lists Necessary Information; to Visit City June 7th

"Help us to help you," is the advice of Walter D. Kistler, manager of the Grand Forks Social Security district office, to persons planning to retire soon and apply for their social security benefits. "We can get that first check to you a lot sooner if you bring the necessary proofs with you when you come in to file a claim for benefits," Mr. Kistler states.

Mr. Kistler pointed out that many people retire early in the year. They are coming to the social security office to file claims for benefits. These claims can be completed much faster when needed proofs are presented at the time of filing. A telephone call to his office before retirement may save a great deal of time by insuring that all evidence will be produced promptly.

Generally, claimant for monthly benefits must establish his age. This may be done with a birth certificate or some other record that is old and reliable. Also, evidence of the claimant's earnings for 1959 is necessary. A copy of Form W-2, withholding statement, for 1959 is acceptable if the income was earned as an employee. The self-employed should bring a copy of their 1959 income tax return, including the Schedule C or F which shows their self-employment income, and the cancelled check, money order stub, or bank receipt which shows they paid the tax.

"Bring your proofs with you," Mr. Kistler stressed, "for prompt payment of your first social security check."

A representative from the Grand Forks district office, of the Social Security Administration, will be in Thief River Falls at the city Auditorium on Tuesday, June 7, at 10 a.m. He will answer questions about social security and accept claims for benefits.

Business Boosting Exhibit Slated in St. Paul Oct. 5 to 7

Development Departments of Nine States to Share in Sponsoring 2d Event

A second Midwest Business Opportunities exhibit, designed to attract federal government and civilian contract opportunities to Upper Midwest firms, has been set for October 5, 6 and 7 at St. Paul.

Hundreds of prime suppliers of industrial goods from the Midwest and all parts of the United States are invited to participate in the event which will bring procurement agents of the federal government, the nation's principal government prime contractors and commercial industry to the area.

In announcing the scheduling of the 1960 exhibit, J. W. Clark, commissioner of the department of business development and exhibit coordinator, stated that the event is "a repeat performance of the highly successful 1958 exhibit which resulted in upwards of $20 million in contracts being written because of contacts and displays made at the showing."

Serving as co-sponsors of the three-day industrial trade fair will be the business development departments of nine states, including Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Montana, Wyoming, Wisconsin and Illinois.

Also cooperating in staging the exhibit are the Department of Defense, federal civilian agencies, local and state chamber of commerce organizations.

Clark explained that the "entire project serves as a centralized meeting place for large companies seeking production sources in the Upper Midwest area, small firms on the lookout for added business and for federal procurement agencies who let government contracts."

The 1960 Midwest Business Opportunities Exhibit, to be held in the St. Paul municipal auditorium will provide 600 booths for exhibitors. Approximately 150 booths will be devoted to the armed forces and federal civilian agencies.

Space reservations for the Midwest exhibit, which will be one of the three such authorized shows in the nation this year, are now being taken through the office of J. W. Clark, exhibit coordinator, 213 State Office Building, St. Paul.

Chiropractors Cite Diving Peril

Should Make Certain Water Is Enough

Every year newspapers tell of dozens of drownings but little attention is given to the hundreds who suffer from diving injuries. "It is high time," says the Minnesota Chiropractic association, "that more thought is given to prevention of such accidents."

"Swimming and diving go hand in hand and both have their pleasures. They have dangers, too, as evidenced by the mounting totals of casualties every summer. Yet most of these can be avoided with a little care," says the association. Observance of the following rules may save many lives this year.

First of all no one should dive unless he is a good swimmer for the dive propels the body under water some distance and the novice may panic or become confused and get into serious trouble.

The most common cause of diving accidents is from striking the head on the bottom which may result in a broken neck, fractured or misplaced vertebrae and strains and sprains of the muscles and ligaments of the neck and back.

Therefore, the first rule of safety is to check the depth of water before diving. Six feet of water is the minimum for diving from a raft and a greater depth is better.

No one should dive from a tower with less than ten feet of water for even an expert may miscalculate his turn and wind up with an injury or even a broken neck.

Booklet Promotes Industry in State

Lists Industrial Sites in 193 Minnesota Towns

Minnesota's industrial development program has quickened its pace with the announcement of a new and enlarged industrial lure book.

It's title is "Industrial Horizons: an armchair tour of industrial sites in Minnesota," and it replaces the 1958 booklet which was the first effort by the Minnesota department of business development in compiling information on available industrial sites.

Publication of the new booklet, which contains a 30 per cent increase in the number of Minnesota communities listing potential industrial sites, will give the state a concise and up-to-date instrument to use in contacting industries which inquire about business or plant location.

The 1960 "Industrial Horizons" lists 193 Minnesota communities including Thief River Falls, as compared to the 149 in the 1958 lure book.

James Clark, commissioner of business development, said that copies of "Industrial Horizons" will be distributed in limited number within Minnesota. Most, however, will be sent to a select group of governmental and business leaders around the country or held for use in answering inquiries of substantial interest.

Travelers from Indonesia, Tarawa and Russia were just a few of the nearly 900,000 persons who visited Minnesota's famous Itasca state park last year.

Director of State Parks U. W. Hella announced today that during 1959, there were 816 residents of 41 foreign countries who signed the Mississippi headwaters register located at the river's source at Lake Itasca.

Park records show that tourists from every state including Alaska and Hawaii attended the park during the past year.

Hella said that although 53,512 of these visitors from other states paused to sign the register there were many others who journeyed through the park without doing so.

More than 19 million American workers outside the agricultural fields today are women, one-third in offices.

Announce 1960 Small Game Hunting Dates

Wondering when you should schedule your vacation this fall in order to go hunting? State game and fish officials today announced the opening dates for the 1960 small game hunting seasons, except for ruffed and sharptail grouse.

In announcing the opening dates for this fall's hunting seasons, James W. Kimball, state game and fish director, explained, "this marks the fourth consecutive year that we have made this information available in the spring. Hunters have been able to arrange their vacations and schedule their trips to coincide with their favorite hunting."

According to Kimball the conservation department establishes the opening date on game species at this time but postpones setting season length and bag limits until shortly before the seasons open.

"I wish to point out," added Kimball, "that the department reserves the right to close any season even though the opening date has been established, if it is later learned that such a closing is necessary to the welfare of the game in question."

The opening dates for small game only are set at this time but similar information on deer will be released in the near future.

The fixed opening days in 1960 are: Hungarian partridge, October 29; pheasant, October 29; quail, October 29.

Kimball pointed out the only change in announcing the fixed opening dates this year concerns sharptailed and ruffed grouse.

"Observations by our game wardens have shown that opening the sharptailed grouse season in advance of the ruffed grouse season has in many instances not proved popular with some upland game hunters, and has created some additional enforcement problems. In some locations both sharptails and ruffed grouse are found in the same cover and this has resulted in some illegal killing of ruffed grouse.

"We are in the process of sending questionnaires to sportsmens clubs and conservation groups around the State seeking their suggestions in this matter," explained Kimball. "We plan to tabulate their replies and examine their recommendations at the annual seasons setting meeting in July. At that time we can also have the views and suggestions of our field personnel on this important subject. We very definitely wish to establish fixed opening dates that are mutually satisfactory from the standpoint of management, law enforcement and sportsmen satisfaction, concluded Kimball.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Galatians	5	1
Monday	Psalms	119	41-48
Tuesday	I Peter	2	13-23
Wednesday	Romans	8	31-39
Thursday	Romans	12	1-8
Friday	Romans	12	10-21
Saturday	Romans	15	1-7

Our future presidents and prime ministers — from what spiritual heritage shall they arise?

The ultimate giants of science and industry — what faith will they profess?

The fathers and mothers of our grandchildren and great-grandchildren — what convictions will be taught in their homes?

All this we are deciding today . . . in our churches . . . in our families.

For one generation can bequeath only to the next that which it, itself, possesses.

Our own religious life, our own determination to provide our children with thorough spiritual training, our own faithfulness in filling our churches with families — these positive purposes, expressed Sunday after Sunday, will mold TOMORROW'S LEADERS.

Son and Daughter of Middle River Couple Also Suffer Injuries

Memorial Day weekend ended with a fatal auto accident for two persons and injury to two others returning from the holiday late Monday night after visiting in Middle River.

Killed were Fred Larson, Jr., 25, of Minneapolis, and Patricia Carlson, 19, of rural Anoka. Injured were Sheldon Qualey, 20, and his sister, Gail, 12, both children of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Qualey of Middle River.

Larson was a cousin of the injured youths and both he and Miss Carlson were weekend visitors of the Qualey family.

Both the Qualey youths are in Little Falls hospital. Sheldon suffered serious chest injuries and Gail received a broken leg. At the time of the accident, Gail was alone in the back seat of the car and the others were riding in front.

Mr. Larson was driving the ill-fated car when it struck an overpass abutment head-on about 16 miles north of Little Falls on Highway 10. All except the driver were thrown from the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Qualey went to Little Falls early Tuesday when informed of the tragic car accident in which their children, Sheldon and Gayle were involved, being patients at St. Michael hospital in Little Falls.

Sheldon suffered a crushed chest, a back injury and lacerations on his legs and forehead while Gayle has a broken leg and will be hospitalized at Little Falls about two weeks when she can be moved to Thief River Falls for further hospitalization.

Sheldon has been taken off the critical list, but will be hospitalized for some time.

Calf to Be Awarded to Erling Olson, Roseau, on Dairy Day June 14

The calf purchased by the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, to be presented this year at Dairy Day in Thief River Falls June 14 to Erling Olson of Roseau, is an animal of the same quality that has been purchased over the past years.

The breeder and owner of the calf is Hugo Albrecht of New Ulm, well-known in Holstein and dairy cattle circles. He is past president of the State Holstein Breeders assn., and has been a member of the board of directors for 20 years. He has been an official cattle judge at some of the largest state fair, dairy cattle shows in the past 15 years.

Albrecht had a 464 lb. average on 43 purebred Holsteins last year. This was on an official HIR test. He has 125 registered Holsteins on his farm. In partnership with him is his son, James, and Mike Waltz has been their herdsman for the past ten years.

The sire of the calf purchased is classified good-plus and is registered as Sir Monte-Brae-Treasure. His nearest seven daughters have averaged 895 lbs. of fat. His sire was a Franlo bred bull, Franlo-Treasure-Model, classified excellent. He, with his four daughters sold for $30,000. In the pedigree of the calf are 11 all-Americans, seven classified excellent. Her dam, Spitzer-Roburke-Rosalee, classified good-plus, made 324 lbs. of fat and 7280 lbs. of milk in 144 days for her first lactation.

The Northwest Dairy Improvement association again feels justifiably happy in presenting an animal that will prove to be the kind of beginning for a future herd that any young dairyman would be proud to own.

More Than 170 Had Been Entered Friday in Dairy Day Show

Several hundred 4-H club and FFA members in 11 counties are busily engaged this week in grooming their best dairy calves, preliminary to entering them in competition for more than $3,000 in prizes at the 11th annual Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 14. More than 170 entries had been received Friday, with three counties not yet reported.

The event is sponsored by the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, in cooperation with creameries and business firms of the 11-county area. Stuart McLeod of this city is association president, and he extended a cordial invitation to everyone to share in the Dairy Day program.

An outstanding feature of the event will be the selection of a Northwest Dairy Princess from a field of about 30 candidates. She will succeed Bonita Christianson of Blackduck, reigning princess, and will be crowned by Miss Betty Jax, Princess Kay of the Milky Way. The girl selected here will go on to compete for the state title at the state fair late in August.

The dairy calf show, as in past years, will be staged on West Second st. north of the city Auditorium and arena, and serving as master of ceremonies will be Lew Conlon, manager of the Minnesota dairy industry committee, who has been charge of the show each of the past ten years.

The exhibitor of the grand champion grade calf will be the recipient of an outstanding purebred dairy calf, while the youth showing the grand champion purebred will receive a free trip to the Waterloo, Iowa, Dairy Cattle Congress.

Following the timetable for the various events: 7:30 a.m., calf registration begins; 10:30, judging starts; 3:45 p.m., showmanship contest; 4 p.m., award of prizes; 4:30, princess coronation; and 5 p.m., parade of champions.

E. L. Andersen Given GOP Nod for Governor

State Convention Backs Minneapolis Mayor for Senator

Elmer L. Andersen, St. Paul businessman, was given the Republican endorsement for the race for governor of Minnesota at the closing session of the state GOP convention in the Leamington Hotel Saturday.

At the same time, Mayor P. Kenneth Peterson of Minneapolis, an avowed candidate for the governorship, yielded to heavy pressure and accepted the endorsement for the Republican nomination for United States senator to oppose Hubert H. Humphrey, DFL incumbent, who is seeking a third term.

More than 1,100 delegates attended the spirited three-day convention, and endorsed a full slate of candidates for state offices in the September 13 primary election, including:

Senator—P. Kenneth Peterson, Minneapolis.
Governor—Elmer L. Anderson, St. Paul.
Lieutenant Governor — Arthur Ogle, Mankato.
Treasurer — Val Bjornson, Minneapolis.
Attorney General — Gaylord Saetre, Moorhead.
Secretary of State — Ken Joyce, Morningside.
Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner—Robert W. Johnson, Lakeville.

In the formal roll call insisted on by Peterson supporters, Andersen won 938 votes. Tellers reported 210 abstentions as well as five votes by name for Peterson and one for former governor C. Elmer Anderson, Nisswa.

Saetre, Joyce and Ogle all received necessary 60 per cent majority votes on initial ballots. Since the convention had provided for 1,154 eligible delegates, 692 votes were required for endorsement.

Son and Daughter of Middle River Couple Also Suffer Injuries

Memorial Day weekend ended with a fatal auto accident for two persons and injury to two others returning from the holiday late Monday night after visiting in Middle River.

Killed were Fred Larson, Jr., 25, of Minneapolis, and Patricia Carlson, 19, of rural Anoka. Injured were Sheldon Qualey, 20, and his sister, Gail, 12, both children of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Qualey of Middle River.

Larson was a cousin of the injured youths and both he and Miss Carlson were weekend visitors of the Qualey family.

Both the Qualey youths are in Little Falls hospital. Sheldon suffered serious chest injuries and Gail received a broken leg. At the time of the accident, Gail was alone in the back seat of the car and the others were riding in front.

Mr. Larson was driving the ill-fated car when it struck an overpass abutment head-on about 16 miles north of Little Falls on Highway 10. All except the driver were thrown from the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Qualey went to Little Falls early Tuesday when informed of the tragic car accident in which their children, Sheldon and Gayle were involved, being patients at St. Michael hospital in Little Falls.

Sheldon suffered a crushed chest, a back injury and lacerations on his legs and forehead while Gayle has a broken leg and will be hospitalized at Little Falls about two weeks when she can be moved to Thief River Falls for further hospitalization.

Sheldon has been taken off the critical list, but will be hospitalized for some time.

Calf to Be Awarded to Erling Olson, Roseau, on Dairy Day June 14

The calf purchased by the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, to be presented this year at Dairy Day in Thief River Falls June 14 to Erling Olson of Roseau, is an animal of the same quality that has been purchased over the past years.

The breeder and owner of the calf is Hugo Albrecht of New Ulm, well-known in Holstein and dairy cattle circles. He is past president of the State Holstein Breeders assn., and has been a member of the board of directors for 20 years. He has been an official cattle judge at some of the largest state fair dairy cattle shows in the past 15 years.

Albrecht had a 464 lb. average on 43 purebred Holsteins last year. This was on an official HIR test. He has 125 registered Holsteins on his farm. In partnership with him is his son, James, and Mike Waltz has been their herdsman for the past ten years.

The sire of the calf purchased is classified good-plus and is registered as Sir Monte-Brae-Treasure. His nearest seven daughters have averaged 893 lbs. of fat. His sire was a Franlo bred bull, Franlo-Treasure-Model, classified excellent. He, with his four daughters sold for $30,000. In the pedigree of the calf are 11 all-Americans, seven classified excellent. Her dam, Spitzer-Roburke-Rosalee, classified good-plus, made 324 lbs. of fat and 7280 lbs. of milk in 144 days for her first lactation.

The Northwest Dairy Improvement association again feels justifiably happy in presenting an animal that will prove to be the kind of beginning for a future herd that any young dairyman would be proud to own.

Goplin-Malm Vows Exchanged at Warren

Baskets of white lilies and white candlebra graced the altar for the double ring ceremony which united Corrine Annette Goplin and Lowell John Malm in marriage Saturday, May 28, with Rev. Leslie Wassberg officiating at the 4 p. m. service at the First Evangelical Lutheran church in Warren.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Goplin of Warren and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Malm of Argyle.

Mark Forkner of Langdon, N. Dak. played the nuptial music and also accompanied the soloists, as Mrs. Clinton Gjeride of Ada sang "Be Thou With Them" and "Jesus Shepard be Thou Near Us" and Mrs. James Danielson sang "Wedding Benediction."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white taffeta over layers of tulle. The bodice was fashioned along princess lines with Mary Stuart sleeves and a portrait neckline edged in Venice lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis and her jewelry was a silver cross on a chain, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Lyle Beaudry of Argyle, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor while Carolyn Adolphson also of Argyle and Mrs. Darrell Rude of this city, cousins of the bride, served as bridesmaids. They all wore identical street length dresses of plaid silk organza over turquoise organdy. They carried cascade bouquets of pink rubrum lilies and wore pearl earrings and white gloves, gifts from the bride.

Kenneth Malm of Grand Forks, brother of the groom, was bestman while Virgil Tollefson of Osnabrock, N. D. and Dennis Anderson of New York Mills, served as groomsmen.

Mark Beaudry and Jeri Malm, nephews of the bride and groom respectively, were ring bearers. Ushers were Lyle Beaudry, brother-in-law of the bride, Duane Ekman, cousin of the groom and Howard Goplin, brother of the bride. All the men wore black trousers, white dinner jackets and white boutonnieres.

A reception for 175 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony with center pieces of lily of the valley and tulips decorating the reception and serving tables. Miss Carol Ann Omdahl of Minneapolis was at the guest book with Deanna Broullard, Joan Sederholm and Karen Hoxeng were at the gift table. Mrs. Stanley Johnson of Alexandria and Mrs. Oscar Peterson of Warren cut and served the cake while Mrs. George Ekman of Argyle and Mrs. Floyd Godel of Warren poured, aunts of the bride and groom. Waitresses were Kathleen Adolphson, Myrna Godel and June Goplin and Louise Ann Carlson.

By Eleanor Olson

It's not that I don't like fiction; I like it very much. But I just don't dare start a good novel these days when there are so many jobs shouting to be done. Good fiction demands constant and undivided attention. I was caught in just such a "tender trap" a couple of weeks ago when I took home "The Strange One" by Fred Bodsworth.

I had heard an inviting review of it on the Canadian radio and as a result knew that it had a subplot and background which meshed with by own personal reading interests. But the review didn't leave me with the impression that it was going to be a book that I couldn't put down as it proved to be.

The book revolves around two chief characters. One is a young Scotch naturalist whose summer job banding geese takes him into the muskeg region south of James Bay. The second is an Indian girl with a white man's education and upbringing who, after seven years of fighting the prejudice of white society, determines to return to her own people and their way of life.

In sub-plot and parallel is the story of a barnacle goose who is blown far west of his normal migration route by an Atlantic hurricane. The Barnacle mates with a Canadian goose. (Geese mate only once in a lifetime.) Thus begins the struggle between his desire to stay with his mate and the instinctive pull to return to his home in the ocean marches of the Hebrides in the North of Scotland when fall comes.

Mr. Bodsworth has interwoven the story of the two geese and the two humans with such drama and finesse that at times I mentally cursed his literary skill. One plot intrigued me as much as the other. The flow of the narrative moved without effort or drag. Whenever work prevented my finishing the book, I was in a state of irritation and impatience.

The appeal of this novel doesn't depend solely on the story and the depth of understanding with which the author tells it. Life among the Crees in this sub-Arctic area is graphically pictured. Their dependence on their skills and abilities and upon one another in their fight for survival makes life in our "civilized" society seem soft and unrealistic.

Whether or not you have an interest in the far North and birds as I have, you will find a look into this harsh world, where starvation is an ever present threat, a revelation which will compel you to re-evaluate your ideas of basic morals and necessities. For truly enjoyable and suspenseful reading I heartily recommend "The Strange One."

Danish AFS Student to Return Home Soon

ELISABETH SORENSEN

Elisabeth Sorensen, American Field Service student from Denmark, sponsored by the Middle River Parent-Teacher association and student council, and whose home during the past year has been with the Delmar Hagens of the Gatzke community, will leave from Duluth June 27 to start a long journey home to her native land.

From Duluth she will travel by bus with other visiting students, covering much of the United States and leaving for Denmark from New York, arriving at her home in south Jutland July 27.

In an interview with a Times reporter last week, she expressed her appreciation for the many kindnesses that had been extended to her in the Middle River community and to the Delmar Hagens who had opened their home to her. She is greatly impressed by the exchange student program, certain that it makes for better international understanding and world peace.

Miss Sorensen is an only child of her Danish parents who operate a farm in Jutland, specializing in dairying and hogs. She had five years of English before coming to this country but admitted considerable difficulty in carrying on a conversation in our language. Conversation is no longer a problem however, and this will be of great help to her if her hope materializes and she becomes a teacher of languages.

Besides her five years of English, Miss Sorensen had four years of German, two of Swedish and one of French. These were required subjects in the Danish schools, she said. As a teacher, she probably will qualify for teaching English and German and possibly French.

Son of the Former Mrs. John Stewart to Spend Summer in West Germany

Jim Stewart, son of Mrs. John Dietz of Chandler, Arizona, formerly Mrs. John Stewart of Thief River Falls, was chosen to represent the Chandler high school in the American Field Service foreign exchange student summer program which designates that a third-year high school student is elected to spend the summer months in a foreign country.

Last week Jim Stewart, 17-year-old member of the junior class, received notice that he had been selected to go to West Berlin and would be an adopted son for the summer in the home of Mrs. Clementine Hosemann, a widow who lives with her 17-year-old son Volkmar. Mrs. Hosemann is a refugee from East Berlin.

Hill-Burton Hospital Fund Priorities Set

The 1960-61 revision of the Minnesota State Plan for hospitals, public health centers and related medical facilities, as developed in accordance with the provisions of the Hill-Burton program, was approved by the state board of health on May 24. The plan is now being submitted to the U. S. Public Health Service for final approval.

Tentative priority ratings for Hill-Burton participation in general hospital projects during the fiscal year July 1, 1960 to June 30, 1961 have been established. Letters of solicitation outlining the procedures to be followed by prospective applicants for new general hospitals or for additions and improvements in existing facilities are now being sent to high priority areas.

Participation for general hospitals remains at 45 per cent with the community providing 55 per cent of the total construction and equipment costs. A total of $293,029 will be reserved to complete three hospitals which received part of their funds from the current allotment, namely: Winona, Wabasha, and Lake City.

Communities now being contacted in order of their priority ratings include: Spring Valley (Area R-60); Caledonia (Area R-61); Park Rapids (Area R-8); Graceville (Area R-27); Greenbush, Roseau, and Warroad (Area R-2); Milaca and Princeton (Area R-33); New Prague (Area R-43); Moose Lake (Area R-21); Jackson (Area R-50); New Ulm—2 hospitals—and Sleepy Eye (Area R-51); Red Wing (Area R-55); International Falls (Area R-12); Walker (Area R-7); Canby and Dawson (Area R-30); Glencoe and Hutchinson (Area R-40); Waconia (Area R-41); and Farmington (Area R-44).

Minnesota's 1960 fiscal allotment of funds for the construction of hospitals was $3,211,808. Since the first Hill-Burton funds were appropriated by Congress in 1948, the state has received a total of almost $30 million for the construction of hospitals and related medical facilities. This represents only 11.4 per cent of the total estimated expenditure of $262 million for care facilities completed and under construction during the same period. In addition, an amount of approximately $143 million is involved in various stages of planning, making a grand total of $405 million for the state during this 12-year period.

The 1954 amendment to the Hill-Burton Act provided an expanded program to include four categories of facilities: nursing homes; chronic disease units of general hospitals, also eligible under the original program; diagnostic and treatment centers; and complete rehabilitation facilities.

PACKAGE-CARRYING customers leaving the Hartz Super Market do not need to open the exit door any longer, since it opens automatically. Operated by stepping on the rubber mat in front of the door, it cannot open when someone is standing outside. The aluminum railing between the entrance and exit doors is another safety feature. This latest in a series of market improvements required two weeks for installation.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Monday, June 6

Pursuant to Notice of Hearing, the Board of County Commissioners met in the Meeting Room, First Floor, Court house at 8 p.m., May 26, 1960, to consider Petition for Repair of County Ditch No. 76 of Pennington County.

Members present: Hanson, Olson, Anderson, Lindberg and Tass. All present.

Attorney for Petitioners, Stanley N. Mortenson, reviewed the history of the ditch and traced the events leading up to the renumbering of the ditch to County Ditch No. 76.

Engineer Lloyd [illegible] testified as to feasibility of proposed project and reviewed the estimated cost of $7,254.58.

Letter was read from Jim Childs with reference to drainage problem in Sec. 5, Black River Township. It appeared that the reference in the letter was to a road ditch on the road west of St. Hilaire and the matter was referred to Committee on Roads.

Of the six landowners present, four of them expressed opinion that the entire ditch should be [illegible] instead of the one mile requested in the petition.

After discussion of feasibility of an entire repair job and an indication from the County Board that another petition for Improvement of the entire ditch would be considered, it was moved by Olson seconded by Anderson that the petition for repair of County Ditch No. 76 be tabled and meeting adjourned until 11 a.m., July 11, 1960, when the matter would be taken up and considered.

Motion carried.

ODIN C. HANSON, Chairman
Pennington County Board.

Attest:
C. W. Rodekuhr County Auditor & ex-officio, Clerk of the Board.

Report on March of Dimes Survey

Birth Defects, Polio and Arthritis Affect Many

The three crippling diseases now under attack by the National Foundation affect about 30 per cent of Pennington county homes answering a questionnaire in the January Mothers' March for the New March of Dimes, Charles Rodekuhr, chairman of the National Foundation chapter, reported today.

The three are birth defects, arthritis and polio.

Of the 1,300 households reporting in the annual appeal, 286 had persons suffering from arthritis, 70 reported family members who had been stricken with polio and 45 had persons born with some defect.

Five out of six of the patients reported the diagnosis had been made by a physician.

The Marching Mothers also found that more than half of the individuals in the households reporting had not yet completed their full series of three Salk polio vaccine shots.

"While the door count was not a scientific survey," Rodekuhr said, "it does provide a good working estimate of the size of these problems in our county. It will be of great value to the chapter in planning its future program of assistance to individuals with these conditions."

State Bar Group to Meet in Duluth

Much Entertainment at Convention June 15-17

The law has its lighter side—and so has a lawyers' convention.

The Minnesota State Bar association, holding its annual convention in Duluth June 15, 16 and 17, will intersperse its business sessions with more entertainment and socials than at any previous parley.

Donald B. Crassweller, Duluth, general convention chairman, says social activities have been planned not only for the 1,200 attorneys and judges expected to convene in Duluth, but also for their wives.

There will be another party and district bar association presidents' reception; a brunch and style show for the women at the Glitchi Gammi club; a banquet in the Hotel Duluth with the singing Schmitz Sisters, comic dancer Teddy Qualls, Duluth's Carillon Choir an an orchestra on the entertainment bill.

Also scheduled between and after business sessions are golf parties, a dinner-dance at the Northland Country club, a visit to the Duluth Port Terminal and harbor, followed by another reception.

Holt 8th Graders Graduate June 1

Supt. Prickett of Middle River Addresses Class

The Holt school held eighth grade graduation exercises Wednesday, June 1. Speaker for the occasion was Supt. Robert Prickett, Middle River.

In his address Supt. Prickett used for his theme the Biblical statement that "he who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is not worthy of the Kingdom of Heaven." He pointed out that neither young people nor adults have time to indulge in self pity or in wishing they might have done something else, but must be continually looking ahead. Early in life, he stated, one should formulate a goal beyond that of merely making a living and should courageously proceed toward that goal, looking back only long enough to profit from experience before once again forging ahead.

He concluded by quoting President Eisenhower to the effect that this generation was wasting the hope of its children in the present arms race, and called for Americans to once again set ideal and spiritual values which are a credit to the individual and to the nation as the only way to insure a bright future for the next generation.

Hallameck Holds Gonvick to 1 Hit

With righthander Bob Hallameck pitching a one-hit shutout, and aiding his own cause by banging out a two-base hit in the sixth inning to drive in a run, the Thieves defeated Gonvick, 2 to 0, in a Northern Minny league game played on the wind-swept Fair Grounds diamond on Sunday afternoon. The game was called at the end of six and a half innings of play.

Next Sunday the Thieves will travel to Cass Lake for an important game.

In Sunday afternoon's well-chilled game, Gonvick managed to mark up a base hit in the first inning when, after lead-off batter Larry Eck had struck out, Steve Eck punched a single. Dave Birkland drew a walk, but a double play, John Drury to Harley Drees to Jack Goulet, retired the side.

Excepting Steve Eck's single in the first inning, Gonvick batsmen had difficulty solving Hallameck's delivery, with only two balls being hit out of the infield. In the third inning Mike Smith lofted a fly ball to left fielder Hodsdon, and in the fourth inning Neil Hendrickson flied out to centerfielder Gary Klungness.

Crookston, Prowlers Win Semi-final Tilts

The Crookston Pirates and the defending district champion Thief River Falls Prowlers gained the finals of the 31st district baseball tournament by scoring victories in semi-finals games played on Thursday evening at Red Lake Falls. Crookston, in a game that was well-played and which required an extra inning, edged out coach Curly Gasperlin's Goodridge Huskies, 2 to 1. The Prowlers, with pitcher Arlan Hjelle coming in relief in the fifth inning and striking out the dangerous Jason Huseby for the side-retiring out after the Eagles had loaded the bases, defeated Red Lake Falls, 9 to 5.

Goodridge gained a 1 to 0 lead over the Crookston club when, in the fourth inning, two hit batsmen and Bob Jelle's two-base hit to left field scored Clarence Carlson. Coach Lin Lehrer's Pirates evened the score by plating a run in the sixth inning on a single by Pete Mickelson, a sacrifice, and a double to left-center by Curt Hannah. In the top half of the eighth inning, Crookston put across their winning run when, with two men out, Mickelson doubled to the fence in right-center, and Alden Hermodson followed with a ground single into left field.

Howard Hendrickson, pitching his second game in two days for the Huskies, limited the Pirates to four hits, and had 11 strikeouts. Righthander Ron Brown started on the mound for Crookston and hurled five and one-third innings. Jim Turner, who finished out the game for Crookston, pitched no-hit and no-run ball.

The Prowlers erupted for a four-run fourth inning to break up a 4 to 4 tie and go on to defeat coach Pete Carney's Red Lake Falls Eagles 9 to 5 Thursday night. Gary Klungness opened the inning on a misjudged double to center field; Hjelle followed with a triple to right field; and an error, a walk and Jim Weckwerth's single accounted for the Prowler scoring activities.

The Eagles threatened in the fifth inning when they scored a run and had the bases loaded with two men out and the free-swinging Jason Huseby at bat. Hjelle was called in from left field to replace Prowler starter Jack Goulet, and the fast-balling Prowler veteran set down Huseby on strikes. In the sixth and seventh inning, Hjelle struck out the side, getting four of the batsmen on whiffs and two of the batsmen on called third strikes.

Prowlers Yield Dist. 31 Crown to Crookston

The Crookston Pirates, capitalizing on erratic play by the Prowler defense, scored five runs in the fifth inning to "break up" the 31st district baseball championship finals and dethrone coach Ralph Skay's club as district champions, winning the game by a 6 to 2 score. Coach Linton Lehrer's Crookston club will represent the district in the Region Eight tourney at Bagley on June 9 and 10, meeting the Roseau Rams of district 32 in a first round game at 6 p.m. on Thursday. The Fertile Falcons of district 30 will play the winner of the Cass Lake vs. Laporte game in the other first round game on Thursday.

In Saturday night's district finals, the Prowlers moved into a 2 to 0 lead after two innings of play, and appeared to have control of the game. In the first inning, with Prowlers batting first, lead-off batter Gary Klungness beat out a hit to third base. Arlan Hjelle, attemping to sacrifice, popped out to catcher Eldon Nelson. Klungness stole second, and advanced to third base on a passed ball. Eddie Lietzow grounded to second base, and was out, Pete Mickelson to Alden Hermodson. Klungness scored on the play.

The Prowlers had a fine opportunity to add to their run total in the third inning when, with one out, Gary Klungness lined a single off Curt Hannah's glove. Hjelle, a southpaw hitter, sliced a hit into left field, with the ball bounding past Charley Hannah for a double. With runners on second and third, Lietzow rapped sharply to the mound and pitcher Jim Turner made the play to third base, retiring Klungness. Bob Irwin whipped the ball to second base, trapping Hjelle off the bag, and in the run-down, Hjelle was tagged out to complete the double play.

Crookston picked up a run in the last half of the fourth inning when with two men out, Hjelle issued a walk to Turner. On a pick-off play, from pitcher to first base, which went awry, Turner scampered to second base. Charley Hannah looped a single into right field, scoring Turner.

In the hectic last half of the fifth inning, Nelson, the last man in the Pirates batting order, drew a walk. Glen Myrold enered the game as a runner for Nelson, who is handicapped by a "bad" right leg. Gary Harris put down a sacrifice bunt, and all hands were safe when Hjelle's throw to second base was high. Pinch-hitter Ron Brown struck out. Pete Mickelson bounced a ground ball to second base, and when the ball skipped through Paul Klungness' legs, Myrold raced home with the tying run. And on a high throw to the plate from centerfielder Gary Klungness, the runners moved around to second and third. On a two-and-two count, Hermodson singled to right field, scoring Harris with Crookston's go-ahead run, with Mickelson advancing to third base. With runners on second and third, Curt Hannah grounded to shortstop, and on Eddie Lietzow's high throw to the plate, Mickelson scored. A wild pitch permitted Hermodson to score; and Curt Hannah to move to third base. Turner lofted a long fly to center field, with Hannah scoring after the catch, giving the Pirates a commanding 6 to 2 lead. Charley Hannah struck out to end the inning.

Righthander Jim Turner, who had been tagged for four hits in the first three innings, retired the Prowlers in the sixth and seventh innings, striking out the side in the seventh inning.

The Softball Campaign

The city softball league, with six teams in competition, will begin play tonight, Monday, with the Vets playing Pinky Adolphson's Len's Tire Service.

And the first week of play should give the softball fans plenty of excitement as on Thursday evening, at 6:16 p.m., the league-champion Hamm's Beer will engage coach Lowell (Mukkett) Collins' Bridgeman's squad. The two teams have been installed as the league favorites, and a look at the rosters of the two squads indicate that the two teams can be labeled as "contenders".

Directing the destinies of the champion Hamm's this season will be Gene Sack who, for a bonus fishing trip to Lake of the Woods, agreed to terms with Cy Glass, the team's sponsor. In addition to Gene, it is reported that the Hamm's will have George Schlieff in the lineup.

Make a trip to the East Side diamond on Monday or Tuesday or Thursday evening.

The Crowd's Favorites

The best game of the 31st district baseball tournament, which was concluded at Red Lake Falls on Saturday night, was the Goodridge Huskies vs. Crookston Pirates game on Thursday afternoon. The Crookston Pirates defeated coach Curly Gasperlin's youngsters, 2 to 1, in an extra-inning tilt, but the Pirates were fortunate to come out of that game with a victory.

The Huskies proved to be the "darlings" of the tournament. In a first round game on Wednesday afternoon, Goodridge, behind the steady righthanded pitching of slender Howard Hendrickson, defeated a highly-regarded Climax Vikings team, 6 to 4.

Hendrickson, after pitching seven innings of pressure baseball against Climax, came back on Thursday to face Crookston. And for five innings, Hendrickson had a no-hit no-run game in the scorebook.

Goodridge, in the fourth inning, on a pair of hit batsmen and a double by Bob Jelle, had scored a run off righthander Ron Brown. Alert base-running would perhaps have added a run to the Huskies' total in the inning.

Crookston, on the verge of being eliminated from the tournament, scored the tying run in the sixth inning on a single by Pete Mickelson, a sacrifice by Hermodson, and a double by Curt Hannah.

With one out in the sixth, Goodridge's Clarence Carlson doubled to right field, but Jim Turner was brought to do the pitching, and the fastballing Pirate set down the Huskies in order, and was the winner as Crookston scored a run in the eighth inning to win. But the Huskies made a valiant bid.

Calling All Midget Baseballers

Gene Sack, who will supervise the midget baseball program here this season, has issued a call for all youngsters interested in partcipating in the program to report for practice at the Fair Grounds diamond during the morning hours.

This year's midget program has been well-planned and an inter-city schedule has been arranged. The local midgets will play a schedule of games against midget teams in an eight-team league that has been organized.

A Golfing Opportunity

Jack Boyer announced that free golf and golfing lessons will be available for high school and junior high school students on Monday and Friday mornings, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. at the local course, Boyer emphasized, morning's only.

This program will give the youngsters an opportunity to play golf and to learn the fundamentals. It is a great advantage to be able to learn golf at an early age and then develop a basic swing that will pay dividends in later years. Golf is one of the few sports that can be called a "carry-over" sport, and which can be enjoyed and played after hectic contact sports of high school and college have lost their attractions.

The Prowler Relay Team

Coach Rod Max and his Prowler 88-yard relay team left town this morning, Monday, enroute to Minneapolis and participation in the state high school track meet.

The team has been re-shuffled for the state meet at Don Waldera, who has been running the third leg of the 880, will not be along. Don has obtained a job in Fargo and he reported for work there this morning.

In Don's absence, Roger Johnson, a sophomore, will run with Dale and Paul Klungness and Gary Wennberg. Johnson isn't a stranger to his relay mates, as he has competed in a couple of meets in the 880-yard relay.

Bums Take Lead in Pen-Ro-Shall Loop

Local Team Scores 12-7 Victory over Badger

Manager Wally Grovum's Thief River Falls Bums moved into first place in the Pen-Ro-Shall baseball league standings on Sunday afternoon by scoring a 12 to 7 win over Badger in a game played on the Badger diamond. In other league games played on Sunday, the Plummer Red Sox defeated Goodridge, 12 to 7, in a game played at Plummer; and the Greenbush club defeated Grygla, also by a 12 to 7 score.

The Bums will travel to Warroad for an exhibition game against manager Del Hedlund's Muskies. On Saturday night, June 11, the Mayville Red Caps, one of North Dakota's top-flight teams, will play the Bums on the Fair Grounds diamond. And on Sunday afternoon, in a league encounter, the Bums will play the Greenbush team on the Fair Grounds diamond.

Featuring the Bums' victory over Badger on Sunday was the batting performance of Larry (Buzz) Ward. Ward collected 4 hits in six trips to the plate, clouting out a pair of home runs.

Newfolden Athletic Director Will Coach Prowler Basketball

JACK JUNKER

John R. (Jack) Junker, former athletic coach and social studies teacher in the Newfolden school system, has signed a contract to be head basketball coach at Lincoln high school beginning this fall, it was announced late Friday by Supt. Irwin T. Mickelson.

Junker, a graduate of Denver university and a native of Stillwater, succeeds Hartley Story, who resigned to join the Osseo high school faculty.

Junker had remarkable success at Newfolden during the three years that he was at the helm of the Nordics athletic teams. During the 1958-59 season, the Newfolden Nordics 9-man football team was runner-up to the Warroad Warriors in the Northern Lites conference; the Newfolden basketball squad won the district 32 title and gained entry into the Region Eight tournament, losing to Bemidji in a first-round encounter; and the Nordics' baseball squad gained the semi-finals in the district tourney.

Junker is well known to local baseball fans, having been a member of the senior Thieves baseball club for a couple of seasons. In his senior year at Denver U, Jack gained all-conference recognition as an outfielder with the Denver team of the Skyline conference.

Statewide Campaign on Rheumatic Fever Prevention Started

A statewide program to cut down on recurrent attacks of acute rheumatic fever through the provision of penicillin or sulpha drug at reduced cost to patients for whom the long-term use of the drugs presents a financial burden was announced today.

Since the program was launched last February 1, 350 physicians from 62 counties have enrolled 1,100 patients. It is anticipated that more than 3,000 patients will be registered before the end of the year. Of the 1,100 patients now in the program, 77 per cent are in the age group 4-20 years.

The Minnesota rheumatic fever secondary prevention program is cooperatively sponsored by the Minnesota State Medical association, the Minnesota department of health, the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical association and the Minnesota Heart association.

Physicians who wish to enroll a patient in the program fill out an application form and send it to the Minnesota department of health. The state health department sends each physician a coded pad of four prescription blanks. The physician decides which of three types of medication is best for his patient and gives the patient the appropriate presciption blank. The patient takes the prescription for a three months supply of medication to his own druggist.

Pharmacists forward a coded portion of the prescription to a Minneapolis wholesale druggist who is authorized to release the specially labeled drug to pharmacists. The wholesale druggist fills each order received from local pharmacists and patients get their drug from their local druggist a few days later.

Patients purchase the drug as they would any other medicine prescribed by their physician, but at a reduced cost. Penicillin and sulfadiazine needed for purposes other than for rheumatic fever Prophylaxis must be purchased at their regular retail price.

The Minnesota department of health maintains a case registry of all physicians and their patients enrolled in the program. Coded prescription stubs from the wholesaler enable the health department to credit each patient in the registry with the purchase of the prescribed medicine. If the stubs are not received on schedule the patient's physician is notified. Periodic appraisals by the physicians on the rheumatic fever status of their patients will be done once a year for reapplication purposes.

The importance of the rheumatic fever secondary prevention program is indicated by a 1958 survey made by the Minnesota State Medical association in coopration with the health department. It showed that the 1,400 physicians participating in the study had diagnosed and treated 2,400 cases of acute rheumatic fever the previous year.

Nearly 40 per cent of these cases were recurrences. In 90 per cent of the patients, recurrences could have been prevented by an adequate secondary prevention program at a cost of approximately $20,000 a year.

"These same recurrent cases cost $175,000 in hospitalization and medical expenses," Dr. Arthur C. Kerkhof, president of the Minnesota Heart Association states, "and this is only the down payment, particularly if valvular disease develops as a complication.

"With each recurrence the likelihood of further valvular damage increases. In later years these patients often require many hospitalizations for the numerous complications of rheumatic heart disease."

Although continuous use of either penicillin or a sulpha drug is of extreme importance in the prevention of recurrent attacks of rheumatic fever, the 1958 survey revealed that more than 1,000 of the 2,400 rheumatic fever patients were not on the continuous prophylaxis recommended by their physicians. Cost of long-term medication was a factor for 25 per cent of the patients, lack of interest a factor among 66 per cent of the cases.

County Increases Yule Seal Returns

Pennington county residents contributed $2,733.40 to the Chrismas Seal organization during the past year, Judge Herman A. Kjos of Thief River Falls, said in checking the final report for this year's Seal sale issued by the Minnesota TB and Health association. He is president of the Pennington county Christmas Seal organization.

Of this amount 54 per cent remains in the county for local TB and health programs; 40 per cent is used for state-wide health projects, and six per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis association for work on a national level.

This year's local Seal sale compares to $2,576.93 raised in 1958, making Pennington one of the 26 counties in the state to have exceeded last year's Christmas Seal receipts.

Because costs of raising the Christmas Seal dollar have been cut, more of the money received will be available to carry out the association's health education program, and to enable it to eventually eliminate tuberculosis, a disease which still takes more lives than all other communicable diseases combined.

Marshall Nurse Conducts Hearing and Vision Tests

A total of 3,862 hearing tests were given, and 101 pupils were referred to doctors for advice. A total of 2,605 vision tests were given, with 415 referrals.

Editorials . . .

"When you feel gloomy put your gloom to work. No one can read the biographies of the great composers without knowing how fearfully some of them were afflicted with melancholy. What they did was to employ their emotional energy—no matter what form it took—to create their music. For the most secure gaiety in the world, perhaps the only gaiety that is really secure, is distilled from sadness. Only those who understand tragedy really appreciate comedy." —A. Powell Davies

A Small Surplus

It is now predicted that the government will finish the year ending June 30 with a surplus of about $200 million. That isn't much, considering the huge amount of revenue handled, but it is gratifying nevertheless. The year ends without an increase in the national debt and that was possible because responsible department heads and members of Congress recognized the importance of keeping expenditures in balance with revenue.

The administration budget for next year is set up in the hope that it will bring a surplus of about $4 billion that could be used for debt reduction. There is no assurance that the result will be that good. There are too many uncertainties to mak it a sure thing, one of them being tax revenue. But it is comforting to know that those who have the responsibility are thinking straight on the importance of keeping our national credit good.

Just For The Record

The Senate has approved a bill appropriating more than $1 billion for the government's farm program in the fiscal year starting July 1. As passed by the Senate by a 74 to 1 vote, the bill appropriates $135 million less than the administration requested.

While the Senate appropriation was a little higher than that passed by the House, both houses were agreed on a $98 million cut in funds requested by the administration for farm price supports through the Commodity Credit Corporation. Let it not be said that the administration didn't try.

Uncle Losing Patience?

President Eisenhower's order to halt United States economic aid programs in Cuba is not in itself going to disrupt the economy of the islands. The White House directive applied only to two comparatively small programs involving not more than $200,000. The order is important mainly as an indication that the President is becoming impatient with Castro's antics and that more drastic steps may be taken if the foolishness continues.

Our main contribution to the Cuban economy is the premium price we pay for sugar and the dollars our people spend there as tourists. The tourist dollars are no doubt the most important from the standpoint of the Cuban people. The sugar dollars probably are sugar mainly for the industry in which Americans have large investments.

But there is no good reason why an American industry in Cuba should be made the whipping boy of the Cuban government. Confiscation of property owned by Americans is not going to solve Cuba's economic problems. Cuba needs American tourists and American capital, and it is in our best interests to have as our neighbors a friendly and prosperous Cuba.

But Castro and the Cubans will lose much more than we will if friendly relations are not resumed. We think our government has been very patient.

Protecting The Young

In another effort to combat juvenile delinquency, Governor Rockefeller of New York has appointed an agency to spend a federal grant of $250,000 attempting to find jobs for young men between 16 and 18. There no doubt is a relationship between idleness and delinquency. There is considerable truth in the old saw about the devil finding work for idle hands.

But our guess is that the quarter of a million dollars that will be spent in this good cause will be largely wasted. What is needed to help accomplish this good purpose is a new approach to our laws and regulations pertaining to the employment of our young people.

Our so-called Child Labor laws were adopted because there were unfair practices and young people needed protection. But, as so often happens when we attempt to correct abuses under emotional strain, in our effort to protect the young we went too far, and in some instances young people are actually handicapped by too much protection from that horrible thing we call work.

A new approach to this problem, taking into consideration conditions as they exist today, including youth delinquency, is much in order. A 16-year-old youth is no longer a child, and by the time he reaches that age, if normal mentally and physically, he should have had some practical experience with labor.

Soil Bank Shelved?

Reports indicate that the present session of Congress is not inclined to expand the soil bank program. If no extension is provided for them the 20.4 million acres now soil banked will go back into production gradually during the next nine years. By 1964 approximately 12 million, or more than half of the total, will be in production again.

There will be only a slight drop in acreage in 1961.

Published in Thursday's issue of the the Times was a report by Pat Culkins, manager of the Pennington county ASC program. Neighboring counties probably would be affected in about the same proportion as Pennington according to area so these figures indicate that there will be a substantial decrease in soil-banked acreage in the Thief River Falls territory starting in 1962.

But while we know what Congress has done, we have no way of knowing what Congress will do, so what the future for this program will be is anybody's guess.

Backward in the Soviet Bloc

(London Times)

The Chinese have never concealed their dislike of the idea of the Russians talking to the Americans or trying to coexist peacefully with them. After all, the Americans refuse to talk with the Chinese, and the latter can never be without a sneaking fear that some kind of bargain would be arranged at their expense.

Now the Chinese line has prevailed. Short of a miracle, the result will inevitably be another period of cold war. This may be almost a relief for some of the more diehard Communist leaders—not only the Chinese but also the Russian generals, the East German regime and, perhaps, some of the planners and administrators in Moscow.

But for most of the East European leaders, for many Russians and, above all, for the ordinary people throughout the Communist bloc, it will mean a period of increased burdens and decreased hopes. There will be even less fredom of political thought and discussion. There will be fewer factories making refrigerators and more making tanks. There will be less cultural contact with the West and fewer friendly visitors.

In short, some of the gains of the last five years will be lost. For the Russians this might not be too serious. In the East European countries, however, which were just beginning to get their first taste of some prosperity, the disappointment will be great. At the moment, they are putting a brave face on things, but they in their turn would be embarrassed by a hardening of policy.

It is only pressures such as these that may in the end outweigh the influence of the Chinese and cause the Russian rulers to change their minds yet again.

Standards Being Watered Down

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

A year ago the state board of education decided that after 1963 a high school graduate must have had one year of science and one year of mathematics to receive his diploma. That was a step in the right direction.

The department of education, at that time, indicated there would be some flexibility in the requirement and that a general science course or "consumer's mathematics" might be an acceptable substitute for the more classical courses such as physics or geometry.

In a 4-3 decision, the board, in the face of opposition from its own science and mathematics advisory committee, has agreed to accept three years of agriculture and home economics courses in lieu of one year of science, and three years of industrial arts and business education in lieu of one year of mathematics in high school.

It is difficult to see how these moves can be viewed other than as a watering down of the higher standards set as a goal by the board last July.

The one year science and math requirements as originally established do not seem any more harsh now than they did a year ago when the jolt of Sputnik was fresh in the public mind.

'To Avoid Cheating'

(Atlantic Journal)

The exposure of fradulent traffic in graduate theses and examinations reveals further spread of deceit in contemporary morals.

The cynical participants in the conspiracy of deception are not the only blameworthy subjects. The universities themselves, and their obvious lack of personal attention to students, are also at fault. A graduate school should never accept more students than can be closely supervised.

And the society that places so high a premium on the academic degree—as opposed to an education—must share a large part of the blame. It is the same society that may at times show an unaccountable aversion to intellectuals — the original, critical and experimenting minds.

This curious inversion of learning and its symbols is even more pronounced at the undergraduate level. Many of the students are enthusiastic collaborators. They have been well taught that "you can't get anywhere these days without a college degree."

We should like to propose a new and different type of institution which would award degrees without requiring study or any other type of academic enterprise. Cheating would therefore be rendered unnecessary.

There would be a few classes, beginning in mid-morning, on how to get along in life. There would be unlimited cuts, however. The afternoon would be devoted to free or organized recreation, or occasionally to a big game in the stadium. This institution would hire the best young athletic talent available to entertain its students and alumni.

At night there would be a gay round of fraternity parties, pep rallies. . . . Students would be free to study in their leisure time.

It would be a wonderful way to get a degree for the student who doesn't wish to be bothered with getting an education. And the temptation to cheat would be completely removed.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

"Why don't you answer my question?" the professor asked the student in the back row.

"I shook my head," he answered.

"You can't expect me to hear it rattle all the way up here," snapped the prof. —The Tulsonian.

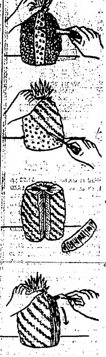
Preparing Fresh Pineapple



a. Cut a thick slice from the bottom of the pineapple and stand fruit on a cutting board. The top should be left on until later. It makes a good handle while preparing the fruit. Start cutting the rind off from the top downward with a sharp, heavy knife. Cut as deep as necessary to remove peel.

b. Next cut the eyes out in deep grooves diagonally around the fruit. Be sure to remove all the eyes and spines. Now remove top.

c. Slice fruit lengthwise in spears or wedges or cut fruit in rounds. Remove core.

d. If you wish fresh fruit for jams, conserves, or in crushed form, shred the peeled fruit from top to bottom with a fork. It is best to leave the top on to hold the fruit firm for shredding. Save as much juice as possible to use with the shredded fruit, or separately as a beverage or punch base.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Gramps Tells a "Moving" Story
Gramps Adams just got back from his first trip to the city in 40 years.
Thinking there might be a story in an oldtimer's impressions of the big city, I stopped by his place. Gramps was pretty enthusiastic about everything—except the escalators they have in the new department store.
"Sure, those moving stairs are easy on the legs going up," Gramps commented. "But just try to get down on the same ones. I'll be jiggered if you can do it, not with the steps comin' up at you a mile a minute!"
From where I sit, sometimes some of us go out of our way to make things a little harder than they really are. Think, for instance, how much easier living with our neighbors would be if we were more tolerant of things. Like my right to choose an occasional glass of beer—your right to choose coffee, tea or milk. By respecting each other's preferences, we're better neighbors with fewer "ups and downs."

Fresh SNOBOY Hawaiian Pineapple!

Win a free trip to Hawaii for 2 via Matson LINES

Imagine yourself on a sunny Hawaiian beach . . . or on a fabulous Matson Liner in the moonlight. Your dreams can come true during SNOBOY's big Pineapple Name-A-Dish Contest. Just try the pineapple recipe, at right, for yourself. Then, you think of a name for it! One name might be Ambrosia. You'll be able to think of better ones.

You'll go first class to romantic Hawaii on a Matson Liner, known for luxury and service. For the next 10 days you'll enjoy deluxe accommodations at the Sheraton Royal Hawaiian Hotel and receive $300 for meals and spending money. Winners will fly to and from San Francisco on Western Airlines. A 3-week dream vacation . . . and so simple to win!

SNOBOY'S NAME-A-DISH RECIPE

1 SNOBOY Pineapple
2 cups cooked, diced chicken
1 cup diced celery
1 cup sliced banana
½ cup salted peanuts
1 cup mayonnaise
2 tbsp. chutney
1 tsp. curry powder
½ cup shredded coconut
Salt and pepper

Method: In mixing bowl, blend mayonnaise, curry powder, salt, pepper and chutney. Cut pineapple in half lengthwise. Scoop meat from pineapple halves and dice. Add diced pineapple, chicken, celery, sliced banana and peanuts. Blend, taking care not to break the pieces. Fill pineapple shells, decorate the top with pineapple and shredded coconut. Serve well chilled. Serves 4.

CONTEST RULES

1. Try SNOBOY Hawaiian Pineapple in the salad described above. Then on an entry blank from your grocer or a plain sheet of paper, write your name and address and your name for the SNOBOY Pineapple Dish. Enclose your entry with the picture of SNOBOY from the collar on a SNOBOY Pineapple and mail to: SNOBOY, BOX 141, MINNEAPOLIS 40, MINNESOTA.
2. Enter as many times as you wish but be sure to enclose a SNOBOY Pineapple collar with each entry.
3. Entries must be postmarked by June 30, 1960.
4. Entries will be judged by an independent judging company. Winning entries will be selected on the basis of originality and aptness. Decisions of the judges will be final. Entries cannot be returned.
5. Entries limited to residents of the United States and Canada except employees of Pacific Gamble Robinson Co., its subsidiaries, its agency and their families. Government regulations apply.
6. Trip must be used within 12 months after being awarded. Dates selected are subject to prior reservations. The first prize trip is transferable, but a cash equivalent will not be paid.
7. Entry in this contest constitutes acceptance of these rules.

From lush, lovely Hawaii come SNOBOY Pineapples
Sweeter, more tender, finer textured than any other variety of pineapples . . . SNOBOY Hawaiian Pineapples are a gourmet's delight . . . and there's more meat in SNOBOY Pineapples, too. Always a sunny, flavorful treat, in salads, desserts or just as a snack . . . SNOBOY Pineapples.

Why there is no Pineapple like a SNOBOY

Lulled by gentle ocean breezes, ripened by the golden sun and soft tropical showers of the islands . . . SNOBOY Pineapples grow to perfection in the rich, volcanic soil of Hawaii.

When the right moment of sweetness and ripeness has arrived, experienced SNOBOY growers say "pick." The fruit has reached just the right moment of maturity with sweet, juicy flesh and fragrant odor.

Only the best of Hawaiian pineapples are SNOBOYS. Undersized or bruised pineapples are culled out . . . the remainder rushed to specially controlled temperature rooms of an awaiting Matson Liner.

Special handling of SNOBOY Pineapples calls for special transportation . . . so SNOBOY ships Matson! Skillful loving care is given SNOBOY fruits . . . the same coddling care Matson lavishes on passengers.

To help you bring the fresh sun-ripened goodness of SNOBOY Pineapple to your table, cutting and serving instructions are attached to each pineapple. You know the flavor's right when you buy SNOBOY Hawaiian Pineapples.

3 Trustees o N.W. Hospit Are Named

L. B. Hartz and John Anderson Retire from the Board

Hugh Carlson and Dr. O. D. Belch were elected trustees of the Northwestern Hospital association to succeed L. B. Hartz and John Anderson, retiring, and Lawrence Bjorkman was reelected at the annual meeting Monday evening, June 6, in the hospital dining room. F. A. Rinkel, chairman, presided.

A recommendation by the nominating committee composed of Harry Oen, William LaFave and C. W. Rodekuhr that a membership drive be conducted to bring the membership into line with the increased size and activity of the hospital promoted a discussion on the role of those who contributed funds for the hospital's construction.

W. E. Dahlquist said that many who had made contributions thought they were becoming members and, following some discussion, made a motion that the board give consideration to membership for those who contributed $10 or more. The motion was passed. Suggestions that civic and fraternal organizations be asked to contribute their efforts toward a membership drive and a blood bank drive were also favorably received.

Mrs. L. B. Hartz, president of the hospital auxiliary, said that the organization now has 115 members and listed the activities undertaken and planned. One of the larger projects will be the preparation of folders containing stationery, envelopes, cards and literature which will be distributed to patients.

A teen-age volunteer organization, the "Candy-Stripers," composed of girls interested in nursing careers, has been formed at Northwestern under the direction of Mrs. Margart Race, school nurse, and has begun its work

Ted Thorson of Crookston, former instrumental music director at Crookston high school and one of a group of 13 musicians to visit Moscow, Leningrad and other points in Russia a few years ago, was the speaker at the annual Rotary Ann banquet Tuesday evening, June 7, in the Elks clubrooms.

Thorson visited Russia through the government's "People to People" cultural exchange program and was given the opportunity to talk to musicians and composers in the Moscow conservatory of music and to visit the homes of famous Russian composers.

The speaker gave an interesting and humorous talk prior to showing colored slides of points of interest. He described the old and new cities of Moscow and told Rotarians and their wives that the building program in progress will house all residents in apartment houses although, he said, the buildings are poorly constructed.

Russia, like other European countries, has been constructing underground buildings and shelters and there is a constant fear of bombing, Thorson said.

Russia's largest retail establishment, the Gum department store, is two blocks long and a block wide, Thorson told his audience, and, although many go through the store, only about one person in six can buy the high-priced goods. Others go only to look.

He described the tombs of Lenin and Stalin and noted that seldom is any indication of Stalin's period of power indicated. Other subjects discussed included Red Square, the churches which, for the most part, have been converted to museums and the elaborate system of information and education being carried out by the government. One of the strangest sights in Moscow was the utilization of women for tasks ranging from running public conveyances to working in the sewers and the small number of men outside the military services or government is especially noticeable.

Dr. H. Paul Wendt, county health officers, called attention to the possible danger of contamination in the spring alongside Highway 1 eight miles west of Thief River Falls. He recommended either changing the setup to make the spring sanitary, or destroying it. County Auditor C. W. Rodekuhr was asked to contact the state highway department on the matter.

Continuance of No. Central Service Urged

Local Delegation Supported by State Officials at Hearing

Continued North Central Airline service for Thief River Falls was urged by state officials, representatives of business organizations and a local delegation at a hearing before an examiner of the Civil Aeronautics board in Minneapolis Wednesday. North Central officials stated that they would be glad to continue the service to Thief River Falls.

Boardings at the local station during the past twelve months totalled 1,748. This is a litle under the five-a-day minimum requirement established by the Board in its "use it or lose it" decree but at the present rate of growth this mark should be reached this summer. Because of the greater distance to the Twin Cities Thief River Falls produces more on-the-line revenue for the company than some stations that enplane many more passengers it was pointed out.

The need for continued service to Thief River Falls was supported by witnesses called by the Metropolitan Airports Commission and by the Minnesota department of aeronautics. Governor Orville Freeman and Attorney General Walter F. Mondale stated that scheduled service should be maintained to all of the cities in the state now on the North Central system.

Wheat Allotment Schedule out Soon

Marshall Co. Allotted Same Acreage as for '60

Farmers will receive notice of their 1961 farm wheat allotments well in advance of the July 21 marketing quota referendum Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, announced. The overall wheat allotment for Marshall county for 1961 is 96,784 acres, about one-tenth per cent than the 1960 allotment.

The 1961 national wheat acreage allotment is 55 million acres — the minimum fixed by law. If the allotments had been determined solely on the basis of the law's supply formula, the 1961 allotment would have been zero acres. The allotments apply in 39 states designated as "commercial".

As directed by law, marketing quotas must be proclaimed for the next wheat crop when the available supply is more than 20 per cent above the normal supply. The supply for 1960-61 is estimated at 2.5 billion bushels — 92 per cent more than normal.

If at least two-thirds of the farmers who vote in the referendum approve the 1961 quotas, then quotas with penalties on "excess" wheat will be in effect, and price support will be available on the crop at not less than the minimum support to be announced before the referendum.

If more than one-third of the votes oppose the quotas, there will be no quotas or penalties in effect, and price support will be available at 50 per cent of parity to farmers who comply with their allotments.

This is the eighth successive year for which wheat marketing quotas have been proclaimed. They have been approved in a referendum for each of the past seven years.

Knox School Tops in Dental Checkup

Miss Eloda Grover's 5th Grade Returns Most Cards

Miss Eloda Grover's fifth grade class at Knox school scored highest in the number of dental cards returned during the school year, said Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse. A total of 29 pupils from a class of 32 completed their dental care, giving them a score of 90 per cent. The second and third highest were also from Knox; Mrs. Phil Bergland's second grade with 81 pct. and Lyle Manning's sixth grade with 80 pct.

Mrs. Race stated that interest in dental health seems to be slipping at all grade levels. The dental profession urges all to have teeth checked twice a year, and all know that once a year is a must, she said. As a means of checking the pupil's following through on the completion of their dental work, the pink and blue dental cards are used.

This past school year, Knox averaged 67 per cent of their dental cards returned, which was highest among the three grade schools. Washington was second with an average of 55½ per cent and Northrop trailed with 40 per cent. This means that only slightly more than half local young children have adequate care at the close of school.

Parents are urged to have their children's teeth checked during the summer months. Those completing their dental work should have the dental card signed and return in the fall when school reopens.

Three Trustees Elected to N.W. Hospital Board

by serving in the hospital's coffee shop. Karen Mittelstadt, one of the volunteers, modeled the pink and white striped uniforms which give the organization its name.

A report by Howard Hoel, association treasurer, revealed that the organization has total assets of $1,256,075.37 and no liabilities. Income for the year May 1, 1959 to April 30, 1960 was $9,864.33 in excess of expenses and total current fund assets amount to $123,377.53.

The report of Norman Peterson, hospital administrator, showed that the number of patients dropped off only slightly, 2,837 during 1959-60 compared to 2,842 during 1958-59, and that the total patient days, excluding newborn, dropped from 20,448 to 19,926 during the same period. The average daily census remained almost constant from 56 in 1958-59 to 55 in 1959-60.

Laboratory examinations increased by nearly 3,000 during the period & blood donors increased from 295 to 380. The income per patient increased $4.80 but not as much as the expense per patient day which rose by $5.01. The administration pointed out that of every $1 per day for expenses, 60 cents went for salaries, 29 cents for supplies and purchased services and 11 cents for depreciation and cost of indigent patient care.

Peterson listed the educational aspects of the hospital which, in addition to the affiliation with the rural nursing and area vocational school programs, now include a laboratory assistant training of x-ray technologists.

The number one problem of the hospital, according to the administrator, is the recruitment of personnel. This is not the hospital's problem alone, he said, but must be shared by everyone in the community who must contribute in making positions attractive to qualified personnel. The training programs were listed as ways of gaining self-sufficiency for Northwestern.

Dr. Hugh Boroson, chief of staff, reported on the revamping of medical records, the addition of books to the medical library and on other matters and Dr. George Martin reported on the pediatrics section and the rehabilitation unit.

Dr. Martin said that changes in the pediatrics ward have been well received by children and families and that work is progressing in the rehabilitation section but that there is still room for improvement. He mentioned that those who went to the governor's conference on rehabilitation had come back with many new ideas. At this point, the hospital administrator announced that at the conference, Dr. Martin had been elected chairman of the 16-county northwestern Minnesota district rehabilitation unit.

A vote of appreciation was given to L. B. Hartz and John Anderson, retiring board members, for their service and it was announced that the board's organizational meeting would be June 20.

To Dedicate New Aviation Radio Station Sunday

under contract with the Minnesota department of aeronautics.

The voice feature is operated by Lowell O. Vraa, Raymond S. Hapy and Irvin M. Schmitke who work for North Central Airlines, as a public service for the city of Thief River Falls.

There are 700 VOR's in the United States, most of them operated by the federal government. Of the 70,000 civil airplanes in the United States, 20,000 are equipped to communicate with the Thief River Falls VOR. Each airplane is a flying broadcast station carrying a Federal Communications Commission license to operate on aviation frequencies. Each pilot must be licensed by the FCC as a radiotelephone operator.

Thief River Falls state radio will be part of a statewide system of fourteen VOR's established by the department of aeronautics. Others are at Austin, Baudette, Bemidji, Brainerd, Eveleth-Virginia, International Falls, Mankato, Park Rapids, St. Cloud, Grand Rapids, Willmar, Winona and Worthington. The cost of the stations is paid entirely from aviation taxes. Private and business aircraft of the type that use Thief River Falls airport pay five cents a gallon aviation gas tax and a state registration tax.

Thief River Falls airport has a 3700-foot paved runway and a 2500-foot turf landing strip. It has a beacon light and runway lights operating after dark. It was selected for a state VOR because it is at the intersection of busy flyways in northwestern Minnesota.

District Lions to Set up 'Eye Bank'

Minneapolis Convention Approves Plan Tuesday

The district, which includs Minnesota, Ontario and, Manitoba, Canada, voted unanimously to set up the bank and voted a program of voluntary contributions of $6,500 a year for expenses.

The vote was the result of campaigning by George Dugan, Austin, who began to promote an eye bank when he was president of the Austin Lions club three years ago.

Under the plan, Dugan said, those wishing to donate their eyes to the blind must sign a pledge card. It also must be signed by next of kin.

Upon his death, the donor's eyes must be removed within three hours to be of any value, Dugan said. Transplanting of the cornea to the blind must be accomplished within 48 hours.

The University of Minnesota will be the headquarters for the eye bank. The university will have a record of all the pledges and will perform the transplanting operations.

BITTER PILLS

Taxes, and medicine prescribed by doctors, have many similarities.

Both of them, although often necessary to keep things running, are hard to take, expensive and are for ailments that most of us do not understand or have not been informed about. Both increase in cost as the years go by and, we have a sneaking suspicion, may often be done without.

We have paid taxes for so many years, with the appropriate curses and threats to do something about the matter, that we give them little thought between times.

Isn't it rather strange and against all reason that when you buy things of the most value to you and to your community you are being penalized? If you spend money to make your home better for you, your family and to improve your community, you pay additional taxes.

Through such an expenditure for your home and its furnishings, you are contributing a part of your income to the merchants in your community and to those who work for them. But, as far as the tax laws are concerned, these improvements increase your yearly tax burden while those who put their money into less permanent things profit by your natural desire to want things that will last.

The most onerous of these taxes are those on personal property and real property. Many who contemplate buying new furniture or appliances will hesitate for some time before making the purchase knowing that they will have to pay not only the original price but more in addition to the tax collector when the assessments come due. Those who wish to move into larger homes or to build new ones because the family has grown will also hesitate for the extra burden of more taxes may be the straw that breaks the family budget's back.

Such hesitation and, in the case of many, the cancellation of plans to buy housing, appliances and furniture may be one of the reasons why the number of housing units being constructed has fallen off and the business of many merchants is suffering. The point is reached in everyone's budget when the available cash, after taxes and the cost of everyday living, is reduced to a point where other purchases must be delayed. That point, according to business news today, is being reached and, in the case of many, has already been passed.

There are a few hardy lawmakers who, for some time, have been courageous enough to propose that the part of the tax burden now being carried by property is too high and must be reduced. They should be singled out for awards for meritorious service.

A thorough revision of the tax structure in many states and communities is needed, especially in Minnesota, and pseudo-politicians with a "thorough knowledge of government and finances" and with pockets lined with the loot put away during pre-income tax days cannot alter the fact that business can be better. It is easy to be an optimist when you've made your pile.

Dry Whole Milk

A dry whole milk powder which, mixed with water, tastes as good as the original fluid — that's the goal of research at the University of Minnesota.

Reaching that goal isn't easy, but researchers are making progress. The project is reported in the current issue of "Minnesota Farm and Home Science," and Agricultural Experiment station publication.

Dairy industries researchers S. T. Coulter and C. H. Pyne point out that non-fat dry milk is already a success. Many housewives use it to supplement fluid milk.

If dry whole milk were as successful as the nonfat product, dairy farmers would overcome some major problems. Dry milk is more economical to ship to out-of-state markets, where 80 per cent of Minnesota's milk is sold.

Milk fat is the big block to producing a completely satisfactory whole milk powder of beverage quality, Coulter and Pyne say. Here's why.

Particles of nonfat dry milk are "easily wettable" and go into liquid form quickly when water is added. Dry whole milk, however, has fat which makes the particles non-wettable. Even though the particles have openings large enough to let water in the flow is blocked by the fat.

Coulter and Pyne feel the answer lies in the structure of the powder particles. What's needed, they say, is a structure which has the greatest amount of surface in relation to its mass. This could mean a hollow sphere structure — like a ping pong ball.

This approach has led to some progress. By spray drying foamed or whipped condensed milk, Minnesota dairy scientists have produced a dry whole milk which simulates the ping pong ball structure.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has produced a "puff" dried whole milk powder which also has extensive surface in relation to total weight of powder.

Neither product is completely satisfactory so far. But progress is encouraging and researchers hope further study makes easily reconstructible dry whole milk a reality.

Farm Notes

The old veteran of the war on weeds, 2,4-D is still one of the best for controlling annual broad leaved weeds in small grains. 2,4-D is recommended on wheat and barley when the crop is between the five-leaf and boot stages. For oats, MCPA is recommended because this chemical is less apt to injure the crop. Another tip: underseeded alfalfa or clover is less likely to be injured by chemicals if a canopy of weeds or a companion crop covers the legume. Also, amine form of chemical injures legumes less than the ester form.

Don't overlook trace minerals with sheep. A good mixture in two parts trace mineralized salt and one part of dicalcium phosphate or steamed bone meal. For sheep on pasture, also add a pound of phenothiazine with each nine pounds of the mixture. And keep it all under a shelter, advises extension livestock specialist Raymond Arthaud at the University of Minnesota.

Anti-weed chemicals may be some help in getting young trees started. University of Minnesota foresters found that simazin, for example killed 15 per cent of the quackgrass the year it was applied and 50 per cent of the quack the same year. Other chemicals showed promise, too.

When you buy a new baler, tractor or other machine, remember that 15-20 per cent of the cost is for depreciation, interest, repairs, taxes and insurance. Then, ask yourself these questions: How much labor will the machine save? Can labor costs be reduced? If you do save labor, is there another use for it? Will the machine improve quality, or make your work more timely? Profitable use of machinery on today's farm doesn't happen; it must be carefully planned.

Region 8 High School Ball Tourney Starts

Cass Lake, Fertile, Crookston, and Roseau baseball squads will begin play this evening, Thursday, at Bagley in the first round of the Region Eight high school baseball tournament.

If the tournament follows the pairings established for the Region Eight basketball tournament this season, and that has been the custom in previous years, the first game on this evening's program, starting at 6:15 p.m., will find the Crookston Pirates of district 31 playing the Roseau Rams of district 32. The second game, slated for 8:30 p.m., will find the Fertile Falcons of district 30 playing the Cass Lake Panthers of district 29. The regional championship tilt, between the winners of the first round games, will be played at 8:30 p.m. on Friday night.

The Roseau Rams, coached by Ray Kavanaugh, are the only repeaters in their regional tourney. The Rams won the district 32 title last season, but were eliminated in the regional when they lost a first round game to the Blackduck Drakes.

Newcomers to regional play this season are the Crookston Central Pirates, who sidelined the defending regional champion Thief River Falls Prowlers; the Fertile Falcons who succeeded Twin Valley as district 30 titelists; and Cass Lake, replacing Blackduck in district 29.

Wally Grovum's Thief River Falls Bums, tagging a pair of Badger hurlers for eleven hits, defeated Badger, 12 to 7, in a game played at Badger on Sunday afternoon. The win boosted the Bums into first place in the league standings, with the local club having a two wins and no loss mark. The highlight of the game was the home run hitting of the Bums' versatile Larry (Buzz) Ward, who poled out two round-trippers.

In other games on Sunday's slate, the Plummer Red Sox scored a 12 to 8 win over Goodridge; and Greenbush, by an identical 12 to 8 score, defeated Grygla.

The Fair Grounds diamond here will be the scene of an important game on Sunday when the Greenbush club attempts to side-track the Bums' championship hopes. Lefty Freddy Jensen will hurl for the Bums.

Other games slated for Sunday afternoon will find Plummer playing at Badger, and Grygla playing at Goodridge.

HITS PAIR of home runs. Larry (Buzz) Ward, a newcomer to the local baseball scene, highlighted the Thief River Falls Bums' 12 to 7 win over Badger in a Pen-Ro-Shall league game played at Badger on Sunday. Ward, a catcher, clubbed the offerings of Badger's pitchers for four hits in six trips to the plate, and in the third and ninth innings, he connected for home runs. The Bums will meet Greenbush at the Fair Grounds diamond on Sunday afternoon; and Saturday night, in an exhibition tilt, the Mayville Red Caps will play the Bums, at the Fair Grounds.

Estimated Income Tax Payment Due

Second Installment Is Due Wednesday, June 15

Payment of the second installment of estimated tax is due June 15 for those taxpayers who filed original declarations for federal income tax on or before last April 18, George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue, reminded taxpayers today.

Lethert said if a taxpayer finds that his estimated tax is substantially increased or decreased as a result of a change in income or exemptions, he should file an amended declaration on or before the same date—June 15.

He said an individual who wishes to amend his estimated tax as originally filed, should use the form provided on the reverse side of the bill which is mailed to him for estimated tax payments. If he does not receive a bill, Form 1040-ES (amended) should be used.

Second installment payments and amended declarations should be filed with the district director with whom the original declaration was filed, even if the taxpayer moved to another district, and whether or not the taxpayer expects to file his or her income tax return in that district, he said.

A showdown free-for-all between two of the leading challengers for Vern Gagne's U. S. title and Pat O'Connor's world crown will feature the wrestling card scheduled at the Bagley ball park June 16 along with a world title tag team match.

The double main event added extra glamor when Cliff Brustad announced Indian Princess Tona Tomah, one of the top women wrestlers in the world, meets Mars Monroe in the opening bout.

McClarty, who travels to Bagley from Winnipeg, and Bogni, the Argentina muscleman, are bitter rivals.

In the third game on Sunday's bill, Fosston will make the short jaunt to Gonvick for an afternoon game.

In last Sunday's play, righthander Bob Hallameck of the Thieves limited the Gonvick club to one base hit, a first inning single, as coach John Drury's club marked up a 2 to 0 win over Gonvick.

The Bagley Merchants, getting effective pitching from Lefty Fallon, a member of the Bemidji State college staff this season, defeated Fosston and Stan Otness, 6 to 4, in a game played at Fosston.

The high-flying Cass Lake club, scoring their second win of the season, and the second game in which they have scored in double figures, defeated Winger, 19 to 6. In the season-opener, Cass Lake defeated Gonvick, 16 to 4.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Attention, Bums

Gary Humes, secretary-treasurer of the Bums athletic association, announces that an important meeting will be held in the Eagles basement meeting room on Monday, June 13, at 9 p.m.

At this meeting, organization of the association for the 1960-61 season will be completed, and matters pertaining to the Bums baseball club will be discussed. Gary expressed the hope that a large turn-out of members would be present at the meeting.

Cardinals after Brunsberg

Arlo Brunsberg, the former Fertile Falcons all-around athlete, and presently a star performer with the Concordia Cobbers, is, we hear, being tempted by a bonus offer from the St. Louis Cardinals organization.

Brunsberg, a hard-hitting catcher, is a prime baseball prospect, and he has attracted numerous scouts. The New York Yankees were interested in Arlo a year or so ago, and they had their number one scout in attendance at a couple of the games in which Brunsberg played. The Yankees have cooled off somewhat in their desire for Brunsberg, but now the Cards have taken up the chase.

Knoff at St. Pete

It is reported that Tom Knoff, the famed southpaw of the Drayton junior Legion club of a couple of seasons ago, is playing with the St. Petersburg team of the Florida State league. The Petes are a farm club of the New York Yankees organization.

Knoff, after completing his Legion baseball career two years ago, signed a contract, for a modest bonus, with the Yankees. Last season he played with the Kearney, Nebraska, team of the Nebraska State league, with fair success.

Our recollections of Knoff are very vivid, and we can recall one game in 1958 that we rate as the finest junior baseball game we have witnessed. The game was played on the fair gorunds diamond here, and the locals' Harley Drees hooked up with Knoff in a righty-lefty duel that was a dandy.

The two teams moved through seven innings of scoreless baseball with only one hit being made. In the top of eighth inning, Frank Brosseau led off with a single to right field, Ray Long struck out; Dick Halerow singled past third base; Dick Johnson, who had singled in the first inning for the game's lone hit prior to eighth inning, popped out to shortstop Mickey Hanson. Knoff, batting in the clean-up post, singled to right-center, scoring Brosseau from second base with the game-winning tally.

In pitching his no-hit, no-run game, Knoff struck out 18 of the local batsmen, setting down the first nine batters to come to the plate.

Miscellany

Russ Moga, a member of the Prowler track and cross-country squads last season, is now attending Alexander Ramsay high school in St. Paul. Russ was member of the Ramsay one-mile relay team, running the pilot leg. . . . Gary Harris, an outfielder with the district champion Crookston Pirates, and quarterback of the Pirates football squad last season, will be playing his high school athletics with the Detroit Lakes Lakers next season. Harris, who will be a junior, is now living at Detroit Lakes, where his father has purchased a music store. Harris was a valuable member of the Pirates' football team, being very adept in handling the ball from his quarterback position. He will, though, continue to play with the Crookston club during the Region Eight baseball tournament. . . . Ross Sloan, a member of the Prowler baseball squads in 1955, 56 and 57, is playing baseball with Karlsruhe Air Force team in Germany. Ross, in the four games played, has been at bat eleven times and poked out five hits for a .455 average.

Legion Junior Ball Club Scores 11 to 7 Defeat of Argyle

Team to Play at Warren Tonight, Thursday, and at Clearbrook Friday

The juniors will travel to Warren this evening, Thursday, for a 6:30 p. m. against the Warren juniors. On Friday, also in a 6:30 p. m. game, the locals will play the Clearbrook juniors at Clearbrook.

In the first inning, a walk, an error, a tripple by Mike Aune and a single by Gary Anderson, shoved three runs across the plate. In the fourth inning, after Argyle had taken a 6 to 5 lead, the locals, with Weckwerth hitting a triple and Eddie Lietzow lining a single, scored four runs.

Righthander Jack Goulet, after experiencing a rocky first four innings, giving up six hits, pitched strongly the final three innings, limiting the Argyle club to two hits, one of which was of the scratch variety.

Argyle	120 300 1	7	8	2
T. R. Falls	302 420 x	11	8	4

Soo Line Reports Rains over District

Alexandria to Thief River Falls

Rainfall the past week ranged from about 1" to over 2", which along with good growing weather enabled all crops to make good gains. Moisture is plentiful. Forage crops and early seeded grains look good. Planting of corn, flax, soy beans and potatoes is still in progress. General prospects are excellent.

Newfolden to Orleans

Top and subsoil moisture conditions are good. One to two inches of rain received this week. Completion of seeding of oats, barley, flax and potatoes is being delayed by frequent rains. Present prospects are good.

Viking to Rolette

The weather the past week has been very favorable for rapid growth of pastures, hay and early seed grain, which looks good at this time. In most areas seeding is nearly completed except for flax and potatoes. However, in some areas less than 75 per cent of the flax, barley and potatoes have been planted. General prospects are good due to good supply of top and subsoil moisture. From ½" to 2" rain was received the past week.

Overly to Norma

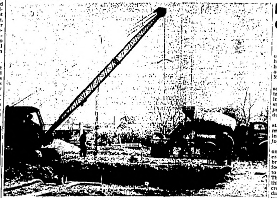
General rains during the past week—from 1" to 3½"—improved prospects for a good harvest this year. Pastures and haylands perked up considerably. Nearly all wheat and barley seeded, with some oats and flax still being planted. Fall rye crop looks very good now and present indications are for a large and early harvest.

Dahlen to Orrin

Warm weather plus precipitation ranging from .70 to 4½" provided ideal conditions for excellent crop development this past week. Pastures and haylands responded nicely to the rain and indications are for a good hay crop this season. All wheat seeded with barley planting still in progress. Some flax yet to be seeded. Farmers are optimistic about a good crop, discounting the wild oats problem, which has necessitated replanting in some areas.

General

Warm weather plus rain ranging from 1" to 4½" provided ideal conditions for rapid growth of pastures, hay and early seeded grain. The grains which have emerged show very good color and even stands. However, wild oats infestation is serious in some areas. General condition of all crops is good at present; and prospects are wonderful due to excellent moisture conditions in all areas. Frequent rains the past two weeks have delayed seeding operations to the extent that in some areas a considerable amount of barley and flax as well as potatoes, soy beans and corn remains to be planted.



POURING of the concrete footings for new elevated water tank at th south end of Merriam ave. was begun last week by the Acton Construction company of St. Paul. Concrete slabs, reinforced with iron rods, are now being formed at the bottom of the ten-foot holes in preparation for the erection of the tank by the Chicago Bridge & Iron company. The tank is expected to be completed by the end of the year. In digging the holes last week, workmen struck frost just a few feet from the surface.

Highway Dept. Promotes 2 Men

Appointment of Edward Heinen to the post of assistant maintenance engineer was announced today by Commissioner of Highways L. P. Zimmerman. Heinen replaces Kenneth Pearson, recently named district engineer at Brainerd. A graduate of the University of Minnesota, Heinen joined the department in 1940 as an engineering aide. In his new capacity, Heinen will assist Maintenance Engineer George Meskal in the huge task of supervising maintenance of all trunk highways and bridges in the state.

TOURS AND CONTESTS AMONG COMING EVENTS

Minnesotans always have a busy date book, what with Aquatennial, State Fair, football, and so on and on. Not so widely known but increasingly popular are tours to historic sites sponsored by Minnesota Historical Society; this year's second tour will visit one of the few remaining bonafide lumber camps, a ghost lumbertown, a sawmill and a paper mill up in the Paul Bunyan country around Craig, Bigfork, Grand Rapids . . . September 30 is deadline for seven-state painting and sculpture contest sponsored for upper midwest artists by First National Bank of Minneapolis; besides $2,500 in cash prizes, entries will be exhibited throughout the imposing new bank building during November . . . November 25-26 could well mark the beginning of a symphonic or concert career for some young upper midwest musician: instrumentalists under 26 years of age who are enrolled in Minnesota schools may compete for cash awards, scholarships, concert booking, and other honors in the fifth annual Young Artists Contest sponsored at the University by the Womens Association of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

Medical Assn. Tells of Food Poisoning

Says It Is Particular Hazard in Warm Weather

An understanding of the cause of food poisoning—a particular hazard in warm weather — is helpful in preventing the illness, advises the Minnesota State Medical Association.

The main cause of food poisoning is bacteria which contaminates the food by multiplying or forming a poisonous substance. When eaten, the food produces acute illness of short duration.

Food poisoning caused by staphylococcic bacteria is "the most common type encountered in the United States," according to the association.

When the bacteria is present, only time and the correct temperature are need to cause an outbreak. At a warm temperature food can become poisoned in five to seven hours in some cases. The foods usually involved in this type of poisoning are ham, cream-filled bakery goods, cheddar cheese, dry skim milk, poultry and potato salad.

The symptoms of staphylococcic food poisoning — nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, acute prostration, and abdominal cramps — appear within a few hours after the food is consumed.

"By degrees the comforting light of what you may actually do and be in an imperfect world will shine close to you and all around you, more and more. It is this that will lead you never to perfection, but always toward it."

James Lane Allen

Why Worry?

From Hoard's Dairyman we learn that of the 39 billion acres that compose the earth's land surface, only 2.5 to 3 billion acres are being cultivated. This raises the question as to how much new cropland can be added to that already being utilized.

Considering the fact that our immediate problem is to figure out how to dispose of our present surpluses without starting another war, our interest in the question of how many more acres we can cultivate is purely academic. But the question is interesting.

Hoard's Dairyman says that no world inventory of potential cropland has ever been made. Estimates by the world's best qualified guessers vary from a low of 1 billion to a high of 8 billion additional acres being possible. Most of the guessers say the best lands are already being used.

If they were to make a contest of it we would string along with the high guessers, providing of course that the people who inhabit this earth learn how to live together in peace and that an actual need for additional productive acreage is found. If half of the people decide to kill off the other half then the present acreage will be more than adequate.

But we are going to set this question aside as one of the problems we do not have to worry about at the present time.

Easier Money

The nation's money managers are easing the controls of the tight money policy they adopted a couple of years ago, indicating that the inflationary pressures have eased considerably. Money is still tight "as any banker knows", and still very expensive "as any borrower knows" according to Business Week, but a further increase of the money supply and a lowering of interest rates is anticipated.

One of the reasons ascribed by Business Week for this improved condition is the fact that the federal government is operating on a balanced budget and is not going further into debt. Deficit spending by the federal government is considered one of the most dangerous of the inflationary pressures. One of the most effective ways to reduce the buying power of the dollar is to have the federal government spend more dollars than it collects from the taxpayers.

It seems that governments are much the same as individuals in this respect. Those that live within their means generally do fairly well. Those that spend more than they earn generally are headed for trouble.

Sugar Politics

The House Agriculture Committee has voted against the administration's proposal to give the President authority to cut Cuba's sugar quota. Instead, the committee approved a bill that would give to the Secretary of Agriculture authority to reduce Cuba's quota if Cuban growers failed to fill it in any year. In view of the fact that the quota enables Cuban growers to sell their product in our market at a premium price it isn't likely that they will ever fail to fill that quota. The net result, if the bill is passed in this form, is that no change will be made. Rather than make a change that is meaningless, it would be better to reenact the old law as it was.

The New York Times thinks that there is such hostility to the Castro regime in Congress that some gesture is required, but it favors the administration proposal, giving to the President the authority to reduce the quota. Says the Times, "However suspicious Cubans may be, it is a fact that the White House would not use such authority except under the greatest provocation."

Just why the Democrat-controlled Agriculture Committee should not go along with the Administration proposal is difficult to understand. Maybe the bill can be put in that form when it is being considered on the floor of the House. Congressman Odin Langen and those who have been trying to give the American farmers a better break in the domestic sugar market will attempt to write into the bill more realistic language at that time.

Bon Voyage, Ike

President Eisenhower will start his visit to the Far East countries Sunday, stopping at Japan, Korea, the Philippines and Taiwan. He will also pay an official visit to the two newest of our states, Alaska and Hawaii.

In Japan Mr. Eisenhower will receive a very cordial and sincere welcome by the government and by the majority of the people whose views are represented by that government. Japanese Socialists, however, are already letting it be known that to them our President will be a very unwelcome guest, and there are likely to be unpleasant demonstrations to let him know how they feel.

The agitation of the leftist group at this time is based on their opposition to the United States-Japan security treaty, which, incidentally, will become effective the day President Eisenhower is scheduled to arrive. This security pact has been the target of Red propaganda in the Far East for some time and the recent U2 spy plane incident, and the break-up of the Summit meeting, have been helpful to the cause of the Red agitators.

The President no doubt could think of many things he would rather do than visit Japan under such circumstances, but Premier Kishi and his friendly government need help. It is thought that a visit by the President will do much to restore the confidence of the people and avert what could be a political revolution that might seriously weaken our position in that entire area.

Such missions are dangerous, and no one is more aware of this, we are sure, than the President himself. But he has demonstrated before that he is not afraid, and that probably is one of the reasons why he has been so effective in his appearances before the people of other nations. He appeals to them as one who has confidence in them, and thus wins their confidence in him. Bon Voyage Ike.

At Pasternak's Grave

(New York Times)

They buried Boris Pasternak in his beloved Russian soil on Thursday. But it was at his grave that the clear proof was given that his ideas and writings live on after him. The proof was given by the living, more than a thousand of them, who watched the parting with sorrow. The proof was given by the young workers and students who had come from Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. The proof was given by Svyatoslav Rikhter, one of the greatest of living pianists, who had come to play the funeral music on an old upright piano. The proof was given by Konstantin Paustovsky, one of the grand old men of Russian literature today, who, along with lesser figures, came to pay tribute to the giant of letters who had passed away.

Let us remember the background against which this funeral took place. The body that was being buried was that of a man who only a short time ago was excoriated by every agency of the Muscovite state as a traitor to his land and his people.

But those who stood at that grave knew better. They knew they had to come to pay homage to one who was more than merely a great poet and novelist. They knew they had come to pay homage to one who had spoken up fearlessly for freedom, finding the strength to do so in his love for his land and his people.

U.S. Planes 'Invade' Chile

(Art Suel in New Prague Times)

Thirty-four huge U. S. military plans were flying over several Central and South American countries, last weekend, and U. S. Army trucks were deploying in a South American republic But there was no protest of aggression, only grateful thanks from good neighbors in the Southern Hemisphere.

These were military transport planes flying emergency medical equipment, food and other supplies to earthquake-stricken Chile. The speed and extent of the United States relief effort were in the manner and tradition which the U.S.A. would like to live in a world of nations.

Sometims we may appear to be a bit neglectful about cultivating the goodwill of our Central and South American neighbors,—but when disaster strikes, the open-hearted generosity and helpfulness of old Uncle Sammy is unbounded.

Facts on Reading

(Hartford Courant)

Does it seem that your child is not able to read as early or as well through modern education methods as in yesteryear? Perhaps the answer is that reading has become a much more intricate process than it used to be.

In Noah Webster's primitive day reading was described by him as follows: to take in the sense of language by interpreting the characters in which it is expressed. But when International Reading Association, a group of 4,000 experts, met in New York the other day they heard a new definition of reading given by a California psychologist: A processing skill of symbolic reasoning sustained by the interfacilitation of an intricate hierarchy of substrata factors that have been mobilized as a psychological working system and pressed into service in accordance with the purpose of the reader.

You must admit that it's much easier to take in the sense of a language than it is to sustain symbolic reasoning by a process of interfacilitation of an intricate hierarchy. No wonder Johnny has trouble!

Opportunity Knocked

(Neil Mattson in Warren Sheaf)

An obscure farmer died the other day. That is he was obscure until the results of his alertness gave the wheat belt a rust resistant variety of wheat that we know as Selkirk. But success did not come over night.

About 30 years ago Malcolm J. S. McMurachy of McConnell, Manitoba, was reaping a crop of rusted garnet variety wheat when he came upon a two-headed plant free of rust. He handed the plant to his daughter and told her to take it home. On the way she lost it and the family used an oil lantern in an after-dark search to find the elusive plant from which 11 kernels were removed and placed in an envelope.

Later he planted the kernels and by 1935 had six acres of the variety which proved itself. For in this year rust ruined all wheat in the area but left untouched the 6-acre island. Soon after this McMurachy supplied the Canadian government with samples of the variety which were crossed by government scientists and in 1953 Selkirk variety made its welcome debut.

Sometimes the claim to fame, the opportunity to be of service to mankind comes in a most unexpected manner. Would that we could each heed and understand the call when it comes.

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

The man and his wife had been waiting in their stalled car when the highway police drove up.

"Glad you're here," said the husband, stepping out of the car. "Now, I'll acquaint you with the cause of the trouble."

The officer nodded politely to the woman. "Glad to know you, ma'am," he said.

How To Get Rich . . .

Money isn't everything . . . but it has a big lead over whatever is in second place. That's why most of us work hard, and expect to make a profit for what we do.

Frankly, there's no magic formula for getting rich. In raising livestock and poultry, there are three important factors for success: the right stock, the right feed, and the right kind of management.

We can help you two ways: by providing a scientifically formulated feed, and by advising you with a proper feeding program. If you rely on Dakota Maid Feed and Dakota Maid feeding recommendations, you'll be a long way on the road to making a profit.

Wedding Vows Spoken

Baskets of greens and mums combined with white candles were placed at either side of a decorated archway to form the setting for the nuptials. As the organist, Mrs. Sander Gustafson of Hallock, played the prelude music. The ushers, Leslie Biskup brother of the groom and Douglas Senstad, cousin of the bride, all the men of the bridal party, including the ring bearer wore white jackets, dark trousers and white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's brother, Myles Lundstrom gave her in marriage, during the ceremony, Mrs. Richard Kezar sang "God Gave Me You" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Like millions of Americans you may be dreaming of building or buying your own home. If you are, chances are you need two important things—first, money for a down payment; second, a home loan to make up the difference. Our association specializes in helping you get both these things.
Last year, associations like ours throughout the U.S. made one out of every three home loans—1,000,000 of them totaling more than $10 billion. The Insured Savings and Loan way has, in fact, become America's most popular way to finance a new home. Here's why:
1. We know more about home loans because we make more of them.
2. You get friendly understanding from our staff which is experienced in home financing.
3. You repay your loan just like rent. A monthly repayment is usually set up to include principal, interest and property taxes.
4. While you're saving for the down payment, your money earns excellent returns, and is insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government.

Clearbrook Notes 50 Years This Week-end

One of the larger summer community events this season is scheduled at Clearbrook June 11 and 12 when the village will mark the 50th anniversary of its founding in 1910.

General chairman of the Golden Jubilee, Lowell Johnson, reports the community has gone "all out" to make the event colorful and entertaining for townspeople and visitors.

During the afternoon street games will be held, a coffee hour for oldtimers and in the evening an alumni banquet for former students at Clearbrook's public school. A jubilee dance will be held at the village hall in the evening.

Sunday's activities will be marked with cooperation of the churches presenting anniversary services and parish reunions during the morning. At noon a Shish-Ka-Bob outdoor feed will be served to which the public is invited.

Five bands will be present to participate in the parade scheduled for 1:30 Sunday, in addition to many visiting floats.

State Treasurer Val Bjornson will give an address in the afternoon following the parade.

At three o'clock a baseball game will be played on the Clearbrook diamond, a regular Northern Minny League meeting between Gonvick and Fosston. Admission to this game will be by Jubilee Jackpot tickets which are being sold by members of the sponsoring Service Club. Holders of these tickets will be eligible for the 1000 silver dollars to be awarded Sunday evening at nine o'clock.

Preceding the Alumni banquet a beard and dress judging will be held when winners will be presented with plaques.

Selection of a queen to reign over the Jubilee activities will be made from a field of 30 young ladies who will be representing the various business places in town. Coronation will take place Saturday evening.

All day Sunday and Sunday evening the Midway of Fun carnival rides will be in operation for the entertainment of the younger set.

Keep Your Fishing License on Person; Game Wardens Say

Many Anglers Are Found to Violate Law in Check During Memorial Day

Have your fishing license on your person, use only one line and know the possession limits —these words of warning and advice to Minnesota anglers from Francis W. Johnson, chief game warden.

"The results of our intensive statewide fishing license checks over the Memorial Day weekend revealed too many fishermen failing to have their license on them," explained Johnson. "Some report have left it at home, in the car, at camp or misplacing it somewhere. Not a few failed to have a license at all but hoped their excuses might satisfy the warden."

"The law requires that a person engaged in fishing have a valid license on his person. Our game wardens this year will be making a special effort to check closely each and every license to see that it is correct in every respect. Some of the recent holiday anglers paid visits to the judge because they tried to cheat on licenses," explained Johnson.

Johnson also pointed out his men are making a practice of visiting license agents to see that they are properly issuing licenses. "It is the agent's responsibility under the law to check the residency status of everyone seeking to purchase a license. Agents who make a practice of being negligent about issuing licenses can expect a visit from the game warden and possibly an appearance in court," Johnson concluded.

Ask Conservation Camps for Youth

Proposal Supported by Winona College Teacher

A case for conservation camps is effectively presented in two articles in the May-June edition of "The Conservation Volunteer" magazine, just off the presses.

The articles are "School Conservation Camps," by Melvin O. Wedul, professor of education at Winona State college, and "A Camp for Conservation by F. L. Paulson, soil conservationist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, headquartered at Stillwater.

Paulson presents the story of Camp Wilder, opened in 1958 by the Wilder Foundation of St. Paul, and designed to serve disabled and underprivileged children of that community.

Wedul urges that Minnesota, like many sister states, give serious consideration to the establishment of camps for supplementary school classwork "and the wonderful opportunities afforded for outdoor education."

He cites experimental camping periods at Whitewater State park as an illustration of the practical "on the spot" value of conservation camps in teaching.

Camp Wilder, eight miles north of Stillwater, is a 1,200 acre haven for the "conservation of youth and nature." Paulson reviews development of the camp, the appeal it has enjoyed (10,000 campers in 1959), and the great importance of preserving these areas so that "city children may have the opportunity of seeing nature at its best."

ELECTION WINNER LOSES to Princess Kay of the Milky Way in a milking contest staged June 2 in the First National Bank of St. Paul as part of Minnesota's June Dairy Month sendoff. Mayor-Elect George Vavoulis of St. Paul came out second best in the non-political "squeeze play." He was able to coax only six-tenths of a pound of milk from "Time-O-Day Lady Belle," Minnesota's June Dairy Month mascot cow. Princess Kay, Betty Jax of Adams, pulled through with two and four-tenths pounds.

Drowning Takes 30 up to Memorial Day

Toll Is Eight More Than for Same Period in 1959

Nine died after their boats capsized. Eight have died in accident involving "breaking thru the ice." Three died when their boat struck a submerged object, pitching them into the water.

State waters claimed a toll of 30 lives through May 30, eight more than the comparable period last year.

Ten youngsters, two to nine years of age, were among the victims, most of them claimed by "play accidents" along river banks.

Carl W. Moen, chairman of the state boat and water safety committe, deplored the increased rate of drownings, "despite spring weather generally unfavorable for water recreation. The peak period for such activity is just getting under way."

During the three summer months last year, 96 drownings were recorded, 41 of them in July. Across the state, 137 lives were lost by drowning during 1959.

The water safety committee appeals to Minnesotans to "make water safety your business. Prevent tragedy that can destroy the most precious of possessions — life itself."

Deer Hunting in 1960 to Start November 12

While summer vacations and fishing trips are on everybody's mind, the Minnesota game and fish division is already planning for this year's deer season.

State game and fish director James W. Kimball today announced the 1960 deer season will open on Saturday, November 12. In announcing this date Kimball said, "In keeping with the expression of the legislature which allows the conservation department to establish a season between November 1-21, we must choose between a November 5 or November 12 opening. If a full nine-day season were to be set, I think most hunters would feel that a November 5 opening is perhaps a little too early. Hence, we feel a November 12 opening is in order."

"I wish to emphasize," continued Kimball, "that the department reserves the right to establish the season length on the basis of information provided by our enforcement, management and research staffs. We are merely announcing the opening date at this time in order that hunters can schedule their trips and arrange for their vacations."

Kimball's announcement followed on the heels of a department report showing last year's deer kill to be the "largest in the history of the state." The official 1959 whitetail harvest has been set at 101,990.

Dr. Lytle Blankenship, state big game specialist and author of the report revealed the statewide hunter success rate was 53 per cent; this being "one of the highest of any state in the nation."

"Very few states approach Minnesota when it comes to the success enjoyed by its deer hunters," Blankenship asserted. "Our deer herd is in good condition and the fact that we have been able to take deer of any sex or age over the years has been responsible in large measure for this."

HIS FEET ARE ON THE GROUND

This man can see for many, many miles, but he's not up in the clouds; his feet are on the ground!

Contrary to what some people think, that's what the Church does for a man, too. Certainly it gives him a broader vision; it lifts up his eyes to see God and the eternal values of love, truth, justice and service which God inspires. It gives him a divine perspective from which to view his job, his family, his country — his life!

But the Church always keeps that man's feet on the ground! It accepts him for what he is — regardless of the clothes he wears or the job he holds. It looks evil in the face and sees it for what it is — a devilish cancer which only God can cure. It keeps a man squarely in this world while it lifts up his eyes to see another beyond the horizon.

And this is what the Church can do for you! It can give you greater vision. But it's not up in the clouds. It keeps your feet on the ground!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

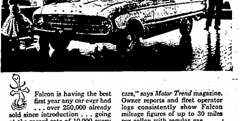
EVERY WEEK 10,000 PEOPLE BOUNCE ON ITS SEATS, HONK ITS HORN, KICK ITS TIRES, SLAM ITS DOORS, SHOP ACROSS THE STREET_AND THEN RETURN _TO BUY THIS CAR!



Falcon is having the best first year any car ever had . . . over 250,000 already sold since introduction . . . going at the record rate of 10,000 every week. What makes Falcon the world's most successful new car?

Economy!

To begin with, Falcon is America's very lowest-priced 6-passenger car* . . . $64 to $154 less than the other compacts.

"Falcon delivers the best fuel economy of the three new compact cars," says Motor Trend magazine. Owner reports and fleet operator logs consistently show Falcon mileage figures of up to 30 miles per gallon with regular gas.

Falcon goes 4,000 miles between oil changes, costs less to service, less to license and in most places, less to insure.

Falcon saves you more and still gives you full room for 6 big people and all their luggage. Small wonder Falcon has become first so fast!

Period to for Office Start Jun

Filings End Jul... 3 Commissioners to Be Elected in 1960

With the filing period for county, district and state offices opening Wednesday, June 15, and continuing until July 25, a more acute interest in political affairs is expected to develop. The primary election will be held September 13, and the general election November 8.

C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor, announced that the only county offices to be filled this year are those of clerk of court, now held by Henry Storhaug, and the three rural county commissioner posts, now filled by Odin Hanson, first district; Carl R. Anderson, third; and Glenn Tasa, fifth.

Ordinarily, the four-year term of Probate Judge Herman A. Kjos would have expired this year, but the term has been extended to six years by legislative act. All other incumbent officers in the court house hold over.

The two posts of representative in the state legislature from the 65th district, comprising Pennington, Red Lake and Clearwater counties, will be filled this year, the incumbents being Rep. Ben Wichterman of Plummer and Rep. Walter E. Day of Bagley. The term of State Senator Roy E. Wiseth does not expire until the end of 1962.

Up for election this year is the post of Ninth district representative in Congress, now held by Odin Langen, Republican, of Kennedy. He is expected to seek reelection, and Roy E. Wiseth of Goodridge, endorsed by the district DFL organization for the post, has indicated his intention of making the race.

Terms of three judges in the greatly enlarged Ninth Judicial district expire this year, including Judge Paul A. Lundgren of Thief River Falls, Judge John T. Galernault of Aitkin and Judge

RLF Explosion Victim Succumbs

James Grandbois, Father of Eight, Dies in Fargo

James Grandbois, 37, of Red Lake Falls, critically injured in an explosion at the Northern States Power Co. plant in Fargo last week died Wednesday at a Fargo hospital.

Grandbois was one of a crew of men converting a building into a shop for the power firm when a blast tumbled masonry and debris into the structure. He had been on the job for only several days. Three fellow workers also died in the explosion whose exact cause will probably never be known.

Grandbois was born July 20, 1922 in Brown's Creek township, Red Lake county, and on October 25, 1947, he was married to Miss Doris Abelgaard in Fosston.

He is survived by his wife and eight children at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Grandbois, Thief River Falls; two brothers, Paul, Red Lake Falls, and Ralph of Grand Rapids, Minnesota; and four sisters, (Esther) Mrs. Florio Page, Red Lake Falls, (Alice) Mrs. Paul Roy, Olympia, Washington; (Lucy) Mrs. Leonard Bruneau, Hopkins, Minnesota; and (Mary) Mrs. John Grundhaus, Thief River Falls.

A solemn requiem high mass was offered this morning, June 13, from St. Joseph's Catholic church, Red Lake Falls, with the Reverend William Keefe officiating. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Jas. W. Clark to Speak to Jobs Inc.

James W. Clark, commissioner of the Minnesota department of business development, will be the guest speaker at a special meeting of Thief River Falls Jobs Incorporated in the Rex Cafe Tuesday evening, June 21, at 6:30, it was announced today by Bill LaFave, president of the local promotion agency.

COMMISSIONING for the new state - owned VOR radio facility at the local airport was held Sunday at the airport. Shown here is State Rep. Ben Wichterman, chairman of the house aircraft and airways committee, making the transmission that put Thief River Falls state radio on the air. To Wichterman's right is Bob Engelhardt, aeronautics dept. communications technician, and at right in the picture is Mayor Orin Green.

The new radio is a homing device for radio-equipped planes, and can also send and receive voice transmissions to pilots who inquire of weather, and other information. The station is manned by North Central Airlines personnel on a voluntary basis during their working hours, approximately 18 hours daily. The remaining hours the steady TVF call letters only are beamed in International Morse code on 108.4 megacycles. The local installation is only one of 14 installed by the state in addition to FAA communications stations.

Airport's VOR Radio Setup Is Dedicated in Ceremony Sunday

Thief River Falls' VHF radio is on the air officially today after being formally commissioned Sunday by State Rep. Ben Wichterman, chairman of the house aircraft and airways committee.

The commissioning was held as the main event of an all-day open house at the airport Sunday. The day's activities got under way with a flight breakfast served by the local Jaycees at 8 a.m. and was followed by the commissioning at 10 a.m.

In a short address preceding the announcement that Thief River Falls state radio is officially on the air, Wichterman said the $35,000 VOR (very high frequency omni-range) installed by the state plays a very important part in making the local airport the city's link with the world.

Wichterman emphasized that money expended by the state for improved airport facilities and communications is paid for by people who fly. Of the $102,000 invested in the local airport all was derived from fuel and property taxes paid by the aviation industry. Although the federal government's part in the facility, $79,000, came from general funds, a large part of these funds are also provided by users of aviation facilities as such monies are merged in the general fund.

ASC Makes Known 1960-crop Wheat Market Penalties

The marketing quota penalty rate on 1960-crop wheat will be $1.08 per bushel, Patrick W. Culkins, manager of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, announced today. As directed by law, the penalty is set at 45 percent of the May 1 parity price, which was $2.39 per bushel. The average penalty rate per acre in Pennington county will be $19.55.

With wheat marketing quotas in effect for the 1960 crop, a farmer who exceeds his acreage allotment will be subject to a penalty at the announced rate on his excess production unless he harvests 15 acres or less.

In general, excess wheat production is the normal production or the actual production, whichever is smaller, of any acreage in excess of the acreage allotment. After penalty is paid on the excess, the entire wheat crop in the farm may be marketed. As an alternative, the excess production may be stored under bond or delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Ideal Weather Is Prevailing Here

It looks like another nice day for Northwest Dairy Day Tuesday, June 14, with partly cloudy skies expected today, tonight and tomorrow and cooler temperatures today and tomorrow.

Little temperature change is expected tomorrow from those in the lower 70's predicted for today. Lows tonight should be near 50.

Light southwest winds today are expected to shift to the northwest this afternoon through tomorrow and should remain light. Low humidity is also promised.

Temperatures over the weekend ranged from Sunday's high of 78 to Thursday's 60 and nighttime readings from 44 early Saturday morning to 51 Thursday, Friday and Monday mornings.

HAROLD M. JOHNSON

When the gavels rap to call the 1960 American Legion 9th District convention to order in Bagley, June 17 and 18, they will be in the hands of a husband and wife team. District commander and district president are Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Johnson of Thief River Falls. Johnson will call the Legion sessions to order at 2:30 p.m., Friday, June 17, Mrs. Johnson will call the Auxiliary meeting to order at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Although the duties of commander and president do not officially end until after state convention, the district convention is really the climax of the busiest year this couple probably has ever known.

The duties of the offices require many visits to Posts and Units throughout the large 9th District, giving pep talks on membership, installing officers or just being present to meet and greet the members.

All this, of course, is in addition to being active members in their own Post and Unit, and tending to a job and running a household. The Johnson will no doubt be glad it is soon over. They can look back with pride however, knowing the job has been well done.

Johnson has been an energetic worker for the community and the American Legion. He has been especially active in supporting efforts to provide more ties for the youngsters of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Johnson has served on the Eklund-Holmstrom unit child welfare committee for several years. In 1957, while she was serving as Chairman of the welfare committee, her unit was awarded the coveted department 40 & 8 trophy for the best all-around child welfare program in the department of Minnesota. During her year as president the local unit was awarded trophy for the most outstanding junior activities program.

Bombing Practice Is Slated in Upper Red Lake Area During '60

The United States Naval and Marine Corps Reserve will again use an area of Beltrami county in the Upper Red Lake Region for practice bombing, it was announced today by the Naval Air Station at Wold Chamberlain Field, Minneapolis.

The practice area, five miles wide and ten miles long, is north of Upper Red Lake and south of Rapid River. It is six miles west of highway 72. The practice period will begin Saturday, June 18, and continue each Saturday and Sunday through and including October 30, 1960.

Eight squadrons of naval and marine reservists will practice with bombs and rockets loaded on the planes at nearby military airfields. The planes will not be loaded in metropolitan areas.

Use of the Upper Red Lake region was brought about by arrangements with the Minnesota state conservation department

OVER the Clearwater river soared this car driven by Arley Flateland, 27, of Trail about midnight Friday night, June 10, to land undampened but wrecked on the south bank. The accident happened just north of Plummer on highway 59. According to the highway patrol report, Flateland has a broken arm, cuts and bruises and was unconscious for some time after the accident before walking to Plummer for help. Indications at the accident scene are that the driver went off the highway as he was going south, drove on the west shoulder for about 100 feet on the outside of the guard rails, then the car used the bridge's retaining wall as a launching platform to leap about 50 feet to the other side of the river. Charges are pending.

Entries in the parade, in addition to the calves and the princess contestants, will include the Lincoln high school and Red Lake Falls bands, the Bridgeman Half-pints and the Thief River Falls Saddle club.

Governor Praises New Radio Setup at Local Airport

Tells Mayor Green New System Provides Safety for Civilian Aircraft

Governor Freeman Friday congratulated Thief River Falls for its part in the new $35,000 radio station that was dedicated Sunday at the airport open house.

In a telegram to Mayor Orin J. Green, Governor Freeman said, "Congratulations to Thief River Falls on commissioning the new VOR aviation radio station Sunday, June 12. This new station makes the airport safer and more useful to the 20,000 civil aircraft in the U.S. which are equipped to use the station. This project is a good example of cooperation between local and state government to improve safety and reliability of flying in the Thief River Falls area. Thousands of air travelers will be pleased to hear the voice of North Central Airlines' personnel saying, 'This is Thief River Falls state radio.' We are proud to be a partner with Thief River Falls in this step of the progressing air age."

The new VOR station is also called an omni station. The navigation signal is used by the pilot to determine his position and any one of 360 radials can be used to fly toward or away from the station. The station can be received up to 100 miles away from Thief River Falls.

The VOR has a voice feature which enables the pilot to talk with the personnel on the ground to get advisory information on weather and runway conditions.

Miss Janice Kyseth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kyseth of Valley City, N. D., and Rep. Richard Fitzsimons, son of Mrs. Regina Fitzsimons of Argyle and the late Leo Fitzsimons, were united in holy matrimony Monday, June 6, at St. Rose of Lima Catholic church in Argyle. Her imported veil was held by a crown, outlined in pearls and decorated with sequins. She carried an orchid centered in stephanotis, atop a white missal. HOME Garden TIPS

ORRIN C. TURNQUIST

Growing Tomatoes

The tomato is one of the most popular vegetables in the home garden. Success in growing tomatoes depends primarily on proper variety selection, time of planting, on mulching and disease control.

One of the earliest varieties is the Fireball. Although the plants are small, they are heavily loaded with early fruit. Friesteel, Sioux, Stokedale and Rutgers are other desirable varieties.

Several promising hybrids offer greater yields of more uniform fruit. Hybrid EE is one of the earliest fruiting hybrids. Other good ones are Moreton, Polaris, Hybrid M and Big Boy.

Don't set plants in the garden too early. Make sure the soil and air temperatures are warm enough for good growth and development. In Minnesota we usually suggest Memorial Day or later for tomato transplanting.

If you apply a mulch around the plants in early July you won't need to cultivate. Oftentimes roots of tomato plants are cut off in the process of cultivating. Blossom end rot of tomatoes is often caused by root pruning. You can reduce end rot by using mulches of clean straw, ground corncobs, sawdust or plastic.

To control blight, start spraying your plants with maneb (Manzate or Dithane M-22) fungicide when the plants are 8 to 10 inches tall.

When transplanting tomatoes into the garden, use a starter solution of ½ cup of a complete fertilizer in one gallon of water. Use ½ cup of this solution to each plant.

By Eleanor Olson

Do you suppose more or less books would be written if deadlines didn't exist? I, for one, both respect and detest deadlines. They hang like impending doom over me, disturbing my thought, and, as the eleventh hour approaches, pricking my conscience. Without a deadline, I would probably hold off putting pencil to paper indefinitely. If all the people who think about producing books were suddenly faced with a deadline we would be flooded with autobiographies, novels and factual articles. Certainly most of those "some day" scripts fail to be written because of a lack of exernal pressure.

This musing really leads up to an explanation of what I've been doing the last two days when I should have been writing a column of more substantial subject matter. I have been indulging in "goofing off." Partly to produce a Father's Day gift (home-made gifts bear lots of sentiment, if little else) and partly to satisfy my own curiosity, I've been dabbling in sand sculpture.

For several years I've been reading articles in the national magazines about this ancient method of casting molds which gave me the urge to try it myself. But the article that provided the final push was one by Walter Chapman in the January issue of House Beautiful.

This particular issue presents explicit directions for 12 handicraft skills which include needlework techniques, mosaic and sand sculpture. The ways and means of the latter were so clearly set down that I became convinced that, as the editor suggested, if I could make mud pies, I could make one of these simple works of art.

I gave two days of consideration to subject matter and produced a quick sketch. The approximate size was set my piece of metal plasterer's lath which I already had for reinforcement. The frame was built of lumber scraps. Braving the steady downpour, I borrowed sand from the neighbor children's sand pile; it was perfectly dampened by the rain. I had reached the point of smoothing and spreading the sand in my frame (which was anything but square) when my two-year-old joined me on the scene. When I turned my back she happily shoveled all the sand back in the bucket.

Faced with his depressing turn of events, I postponed molding and casting to the following day. After a momentary pondering over whether the "consistency of heavy cream" meant the commercial type or the kind we had at home on the farm, (a little knowledge is certainly a handicap at times) I "poured." Now the "die is cast" as the axiom goes and by morning I should be able to knock loose the frame and view the results.

Without a doubt it will prove my mud pie making technique could be improved. Still I have lost nothing but time and a small quantity of molding plaster and life itself can chalk up one more very interesting experience. And most important of all, I have satisfied the creative urge enough to proceed more comfortably with daily living for at least awhile.

Pennington Buys Half '60 Bond Goal

Savings Bond Purchases Thru May Total $112,891

"The growing popularity of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Minnesota was again reflected by an increase of 8.9 percent in the May, 1960 purchases in comparison to those for the same month of last year," J. M. Roche, Pennington county Savings Bonds chairman announced today.

"This favorable trend, which began last September with the announcement of the new 3-¾ percent interest rate, has resulted in increases over the previous year in the monthly volume of Saving Bonds purchases in each of the past eight months," he added.

Year to date purchases now total $33,781,000 and are $2,666,000 or 8.6 percent above the first five months of 1959.

May purchases of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Pennington County totaled $12,084, bringing the year to date purchases to $112,891 or 50.5 percent of the county goal for 1960.

The three counties leading in quota attainment are Clearwater, 78.9 per cent; Mahnomen, 77.4; and Kittson, 75.3.

St. Hilaire Lutheran Church to Note 75th Anniversary in July

The St. Hilaire Lutheran congregation, now a member of the new merged Lutheran body, TALC, is making plans to celebrate its 75th anniversary this summer. July 30 and 31 are the dates set.

A reunion of all confirmation classes is planned for July 30 at 8 p.m. On Sunday, July 31, Dr. A. E. Hanson, district president, will be present. It is hoped that former pastors too will be able to be present to speak. A history of the congregation will be read Sunday evening.

Dedication of the new addition will be held also in connection with the event. This project was completed in 1959 with wholehearted support and volunteer labor by its members. Five classrooms and lavatories are included in the addition.

The Ladies Aid plans to serve a meal at noon and a lunch following the afternoon program on Sunday.

All friends and former members of the congregation are invited to attend. A more detailed program will be published later.

Concrete Floor and Low Ceiling Handicap Horse and Aerial Performers

The circus — and the rain — came to Thief River Falls at the same time Thursday night and Friday morning and, faced with a soggy fairgrounds and muddy roads, the show moved into the city arena for two performances Friday, June 10, under the auspices of the Police Relief association.

Despite the change in location, 1,100 attended the matinee performance and 700 the night show and thoroughly enjoyed the acts after looking at the caged animals on First st. and Main ave.

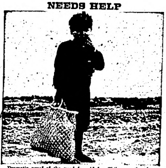
Hampered by the low ceiling, the aerial acts were not as spectacular as under the big top and the horse acts were limited to one gaited animal which had difficulty performing on the concrete floor.

Acrobats and tumblers, however, seemed to be outdoing themselves to make up for other abbreviated acts and the springboard leap of performers over the backs of two elephants was a crowd-pleaser.

Especially entertaining to the children was the pack of trained Doberman Pinschers performing a number of tricks. The clowns, of course, were their usual amusing selves.

The following morning, all that remained of the circus was a littered arena, the tracks of their trucks in the parking area on First st. and the canes, balloons, hats and other souvenirs in the homes of many happy children. The circus showed Saturday in Crookston.

NEEDS HELP



Dramatic proof of the need for aid for Chilean earthquake victims is evidenced by this Puerto Montt orphan—his only belongings heaped in a string bag— shown waiting a mercy plane trip to a refugee reception center in Santiago.

Nations throughout the world are responding to appeals for help. President Eisenhower appointed American Red Cross President, General Alfred M. Gruenther, as coordinator of U. S. voluntary relief efforts. Numerous religious and welfare organizations are engaged in the massive relief project. The Red Cross, which is conducting a nationwide fund appeal, made an initial allocation of $175,000 and provided $250,000 worth of donated medical and other supplies.

Fertilizer and bromegrass succeeded after alfalfa failed last year on a Wright county dairy farm. The tough winter of 1958-59 killed the alfalfa in Gabart Decker's alfalfa - brome-timothy fields. But rather than plow up the sod, he fertilized according to recommendations from J. E. Ellis, extension soils agent. The results were striking. Despite a dry summer, fields of the brome and timothy harvested as hay went nearly 3½ tons per acre. Cows on the grass needed less than an acre per head for the summer. The grass returned a good $2 in extra profits for each $1 of fertilizer. The treatment was 50 pounds potash in spring and two treatments of 50 pounds nitrogen each, one in early spring and another in late July.

Stock watering pits are gaining popularity in Beltrami county. Eleven were constructed there in 1959, according to SCS technician Morris Blackburn. Many pits were put in a mile or so from the farmstead, so cattle could pasture areas which were ignored before because of lack of water. All pits were surveyed and staked by SCS men to be sure they would have enough water. Each farmer putting in a pit received ASC cost-sharing help. Besides supplying water for cattle, the pits also became resting areas for ducks last fall.

—Plant Trees among corn stalks? L. P. Engle, farmer in the East Otter Tail soil and water conservation district did just that last year. The stalks were left standing from the previous year, so Engle planted trees between the rows. The stubble protected the seedlings well during spring sandstorms. County agent Sherman Mandt and SCS technician Alf M. Jorgenson checked the field in May and found little or no soil had moved among the trees, while nearby grain fields were so windblown they had to be reseeded.

Extra dividends from level terraces were reported by Lowell Ross, a cooperator in the Freeborn county soil conservation district. His terraces built in 1958 conserved moisture, prevented erosion — and gave his children two months of good ice skating, where they held back water just before fall freeze-up.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—Some veterans who may be eligible under the new pension law don't seem entirely clear about the terms disability "compensation" and disability "pension". What does each mean?

A—Compensation is a payment made because of a disability connected to a veteran's military service. Pension is paid to a veteran on account of a disability not connected with war service. Income has no bearing on compensation, but does not affect pensions.

Q—I am a Korea veteran, with a disability I believe is traceable to my war service. Is there a deadline for making application to the VA for disability compensation?

A—There is no deadline. You may apply at any time. However, if you apply within one year from your discharge, payments may be backdated to your first day as a civilian. Otherwise, payments can become effective only as of the date you apply.

Q—My permanent GI insurance policy has lapsed because I allowed the grace period to go by without paying the premium. What must I do to reinstate my policy?

A—GI permanent plan insurance may be reinstated at any time by payment of all back premiums, plus interest. You must also meet VA's health requirements.

Q—I was going to school under the Korean GI Bill two years ago, when I had to leave because my father took sick. I never did resume my schooling but now understand I can. What do I have to do?

A—Get an application from your nearest VA office. Fill it out completely and return it. If you are eligible, VA will send you a certificate authorizing you to return to school.

ment communications technician, pressed the microphone button on the transmitter console and announced, "Notice to airmen, this is Thief River Falls state radio. Thief River Falls state radio is hereby commissioned. Transmitting on 108.4 megacycles and receiving on 122.1 megacycles."

Those present in the room where the flight breakfast was served heard the announcement on a small aircraft radio monitoring set. The new VOR installation has already caused a small increase in use of aviation facilities here by outside air traffic. It is anticipated this use will increase considerably with passage of time.

Attendance at the flight breakfast was somewhat below that of last fall and atendance in the afternoon was down also. Approximately 18 airplanes were flown to the field from points as far distant as Colorado Springs, Colo.

and a treaty with the Indian councils in the area. The area is largely marshland with no human habitation within the possible danger zone. However, all persons are prohibited from entering the described area during the practice period. The area will be posted and strict precautions will be exercised at all times.

The use of this land by training units was established in 1951. In that year national publicity was given the Navy's cooperation with the conservation department when it became necessary to create several mud wallows to save the only existing moose herd in America.

Moose fall easy prey to insects unless they can find sufficient mud to wallow in and they were having trouble in that respect during the exceedingly dry spring and summer of 1951. The Conservation Department called on the Navy to bomb several holes in the Red Lake bog area to let subsurface moisture create the necessary wallow.

Naval aviators, pin pointing target areas designated by the conservation works, created the wallows and helped save the moose herd. These wallows will be of use for many years to come.

Filing Period for Candidates Will Open Wednesday

Other state offices to be filled in the election include lieutenant governor, treasurer, secretary of state, attorney general and railroad and warehouse commissioner.

Auditor Rodekuhr stated that the filing fee for county offices was increased from $10 to $20 by the last legislature.

LITTLE SQUIRTS were the order of the day when Minnesota's June Dairy Month mascot cow, "Time-O-Day Lady Belle," visited St. Joseph's Home for Children in St. Paul June 7. Sister Agnetta, challenged by some of the children to prove she could milk a cow, left, little doubt that she was familiar with the business end of a live "milk machine." Besides getting what was for most of them the first look at a live cow, the children were treated to huge ice cream cones served by Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Betty Jax of Adams. The cow's appearance at the orphanage was scheduled by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee, coordinating agency of June Dairy Month activities in Minnesota.

Cass Lake Whips Thieves Nine 9-5

Lefty Jerry Danels, coming on in relief of starter southpaw Roger Perling, pitching one-hit and shutout ball for three innings and gain credit for the win as the heavy-hitting Cass Lake club scored a 9 to 5 win over the Thieves in a Northern Minny league game played at Cass Lake on Sunday afternoon.

On Wedensday night, with game time at 8:30 P.M. the Thieves will meet the Warroad Huskies under the lights on the Fair Grounds diamond in an exhibition tilt. Next Sunday night the Winger Tigers will play the Thieves in a Northern Minny league encounter.

In Sunday's game at Cass Lake, the Thieves, behind the steady pitching of Bob Hallameck, who limited Cass Lake to four hits in the first six innings of play, held a 5 to 3 lead entering the last half of the seventh inning. In the hectic seventh, Cass Lake, taking advantage of an error, a pair of walks, singles by Rod South and Ron Gangelhoff, a double by Daniels, and a triple by Perling, scored five runs to "break up" the game.

Daniels set down the Thieves in order in the seventh and eighth innings, and John Drury's pinch-hit single was the only damage in the ninth, and Drury "died" on first as Harley Drees lofted a game-ending fly ball to centerfielder Russ Smith.

In the first, the Thieves, on Dale Klungness's walk, a steal of second, and a pair of wild pitches, scored a run for an early lead. Cass Lake, in their half of the first, evened the tally when Harold Annette walked, stole second and scored on Bob Montabella's solid blow to left field.

In the fourth, a walk to Drees, a line single by Arlan Hjelle, and a triple by Dennis Bakke moved the Thieves into a 3 to 1 lead. And after Cass Lake had picked up an unearned run in the fifth inning, the Thieves managed a pair of tallies in the sixth inning, with Cass Lake contributing three errors, all throwing miscues, as Duane Hodsdon and Chuck Kankel chalked up base hits. That sixth inning flurry by the Thieves drove diminutive Rog Perling off the mountd, and brought in Jerry Daniels, the former Cass Lake high schol star, for relief duty.

Your leadership in providing customers with complete and reliable home improvement service is the major factor in our choice.—John Carter, editor.

Oslo Man Fined as Aftermath of Polk Co. Collision

About $450 damage was reported resulting from a car-truck collision two miles north of Beltrami Wednesday.

Norman A. Sather, Oslo, was tagged for passing in an intersection when he attempted to pass a truck driven by Charles J. Meyer, 18, Red Lake Falls, on SAH 51.

According to the Polk county sheriff, Sather, 30, attempted to pass when Meyer was turning off the highway and struck the side of the truck.

The car received about $350 damage and Sather was fined $10 and costs in justice court in Crookston.

Degrees were awarded to approximately 3,060 students at University of Minnesota commencement exercises Saturday in Memorial Stadium on the Minneapolis campus.

Among those receiving degrees was Kenneth E. Omundson, B. A., of this city, who received his master's degree in hospital administration.

President J. L. Morrill, who will retire June 30 after 15 years as president of the University, gave the "charge to the class" for the last time and conferred graduate and undergraduate degrees and ROTC certificates of completion. Diplomas were presented by the various college deans or their representatives.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The Opportunists

Tonight, Monday, at 8 p.m. at the Bagley Fair Grounds diamond, the Crookston Pirates will meet the Fertile Falcons in the Region Eight high school baseball finals.

We'll be hoping for coach Lin Lehrer and his Crookston Central squad, and the odds are better than even, with Jim Turner ready for action, that the Pirates will defeat coach Chuck Johnson's Fertile club. During the regular season, the two clubs divided a home-and-home series.

In first round regional tourney play on Saturday, Fertile edged out Cass Lake, 5 to 4, and Crookston upset a favored Roseau Rams club, 5 to 2.

Of the four teams that were entered in the regional tournament, Crookston had the most ordinary record, having an eleven wins and five losses mark. The Pirates dropped a pair of scheduled games to the Prowlers, and a pair to the Roseau Rams, as well as a single game to Fertile. But in the tournament competition the Pirates, to date, are unbeaten.

It speaks well for the spirit of the Crookston club to come back in tourney play, against Thief River Falls and Roseau, and score victories. In their two scheduled games against the Prowlers, the Pirates left the field well-beaten, but they came back to nip the Prowlers in the district finals.

More power to the Pirates, and we hope they win tonight and gain entry in the state meet. It will be, we believe, the first time in forty years or so that a Crookston club has been in a state tournament.

Baseball Acivity

This should be an interesting week for the local basaball fans and the local baseball clubs, for there is plenty of activity on the schedule.

Coach Ralph Skay's junior Legion baseball club will travel to Grand Forks this evening, Monday, for a 7 p.m. game against Marv Skaar's highly-rated Grand Forks Juniors. The game will be played in the Municipal park. On Tuesday, on the Fair Grounds diamond, with game time at 6:30 p.m., the Hallock juniors will play the locals; and on Thursday evening, also at 6:30 p.m., the East Grand Forks juniors will play here. On Saturday evening, in a 6:30 p.m., the local juniors will travel to Warren for a league game.

On the senior baseball level, a pair of games are on the bill for Wednesday. In the playing off of a postponed Pen-Ro-Shall league game, the Bums will play the Goodridge team in a 6:30 p.m. tilt. At 8:30 p.m., the Thieves of the Northern Minny league will play an exhibition game against Del Hedlund's Warroad Muskies.

A Real Ball Club

In all the years that we have been scoring baseball we cannot recall having seen a classier club perform on the Fair Grounds diamond, in amateur competition, than the squad of Mayville Red Caps that played the Bums here Saturday night.

The score of the game was incidental, with the Red Caps, many times North Dakota state amateur champions rolling up an 18 to 3 win in seven innings. What did appeal to the fans who were in attendance was the neat appearance of the Red Caps, who wore their uniforms in a professional manner, and they played in a professional manner, too.

They were a well-disciplined club, and it was a joy to watch the team flash through their infield warm-up drill prior to the game. They looked like a Northern league club.

Incidentally, playing at first base for the Red Caps was Doug Halcrow, the former Drayton American Legion junior pitching star. Halcrow, after spending his freshman year at North Dakota U, has transferred to Mayville State Teachers college.

William Wright: Golfer

One day last week, before the rains came, Larry (Shorty) Perkins and I drove over to Bemidji for a look at the first round of play in the NAIA golf tournament.

The NAIA (small college) tournament was a four-day, 72-hole medal play affair, with team and individual titles being at stake.

Shorty was interested in the tournament as Moorhead State college had a team entered, and Perkins played with that squad last season. This year Shorty is teaching at Hutchinson.

We watched Bill Wright of Western Washington State college play several holes, and we can readily understand how the rangy Negro went on to win the individual honors. Wright, who is the National Public Links titleholder, carded a 72 on his first round, and then followed with three 71's for a 285-stroke aggregate. That total was four strokes better than the runner-up.

League of Minnesota Municipalities Meets at Winona June 15-17

Seven out-of-state municipal experts will highlight the 46th annual convention of the League June 15-17, at Winona. Theme of the conference is "The Challenge of the 60's to Minnesota Municipalities".

A panel on "The Challenge of Population Change" is expected to set the framework for conference deliberations at the opening session Wednesday Morning. Dr. John R. Borchert, head of the Department of geography, University of Minnesota, will chair the panel, which will also include Mrs. Barbara Lukermann, planning analyst with Midwest Kenneth Green of the office of community planning advisor, Minnesota department of business; and Donald H. Anderson, planner with the Twin Cities Metropolitan planning commission.

Governor Orville L. Freeman will speak to the morning session, which will include, an addition, a welcome by Mayor Loyde Pfeiffer of Winona and a keynote talk by League President Frank Moulton, alderman of Minneapolis.

Speaker at the noon luncheon on Wednesday will be Paul Opperman, director, Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission. "The Changing Pattern of Local Governmen" will be his subject.

Two topics will occupy Wednesday afternoon's session. "The Challenge of Economic Development" will be explored by Dr. Mervin Smith of Ohio State University, now visiting professor on the staff of the agricultural adjustment study at Iowa State University; and Dr. Ernest G. Booth, manager, Minneapolis field office, U. S. Department of Commerce, who is expected to emphasize economic development from the point of view of its impact upon municipal governments in the metropolitan area.

The Wednesday session will conclude with an address on "The Challenge of Increased Leisure" by Robert Lobdell, general manager of parks and recreation of St. Paul. Adding comments on this topic will be Robert Rohlf, librarian of the Dakota-Scott regional library and A. T. VanDyk, superintendent of parks of Fergus Falls.

On Thursday, June 17 separate sessions will be held for the officials from large, medium and small-sized municipalities and for the associations of mayors, clerks, city managers, attorneys, assessors, police chiefs, planners, liquor store managers, building inspectors and public work officials.

Thursday evening's banquet session will feature Edmund G. Harding, known as "the tarheel humorist." Mr. Harding, whose home is in Washington, North Carolina, is widely known as a public speaker.

On Friday morning, June 17, George W. Barton, Chicago consultant in the field of traffic planning, will address the convention on "The Challenge of Transportation." Commentators will be Robert Einsweiler, planner in charge of transportation studies, Twin Cities Metropolitan planning commission, and Dale MacIver, Minnesota commissioner of aeronautics. Also appearing at the Friday morning session will be Rollin Agard, former director of finance at Kansas City, Missouri, and now associated with the Kansas bond advisory council of Topeka, ansas. Mr. Agard will speak on "The Challenge of Municipal Finance."

Climaxing the convention program will be an address at the Friday noon luncheon session on "The Challenge of Leadership". The speaker will be Don Hummel, mayor of Tucson, Arizona and vice president of the American Municipal association.

Friday afternoon's session will be devoted to the League's biennial legislative conference at which delegates will adopt the bulk of the League's 1961 legislative program. Thirty-six resolutions are on the agenda for discussion at this session, which will close the three-day conference.

Enough beef, pork, lamb and veal will be produced this year to provide 161.5 pounds per person in the United States, according to estimates by the United States Department of Agriculture.

District WCTU Hears State Head

Annual Convention Was Held Tuesday in Warren

"We must be proud of our organization—or our convictions—of the message we have to give. We must have the right perspective and look beyond our own small group."

This was the challenge in the message delivered by Mrs. Esther Tideman, Minneapolis, state president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, in addressing the North Ninth District WCTU convention held Tuesday at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren.

Mrs. Herman Lundeen of Stephen was reelected president of the organization with Mrs. Albert Dahlman of Alvarado elected vice president to succeed Mrs. Robert Brinkman of Wannaska. Mrs. William Austin of Roseau was renamed secretary and Mrs. Levin Vagle of Lake Bronson was reelected treasurer. An estimated 80 persons attended the afternoon session.

Crystal Schmidt, Stephen, won the gold medal speech contest held at the afternoon session. Other contestants were Burdelle Anderson, Alvarado; Gwendolyn Swanson, Stephen; Phyllis Drotts and Ruth Brodin, Thief River Falls; and Debbie Vilen, Hallock. Miss Schmidt's speech topic was "Private Bars." Judges were Rev. I. H. Palm, John O. Pearson and Hildling Westberg of Warren. Mrs. Ward Field of Stephen was director of the contest.

"A good traveler does not, I think, much mind the uninteresting places. He is there to be inside them, as a thread is inside the necklace it strings. The world, with unknown and unexpected variety, is a part of his own leisure; and this living participation is what separates the traveler and the tourist, who remains separate, as if he were at a theater, and not himself a part of whatever the show may be."

Likely To Succeed

Dairy Month promotes one of the state's largest revenue-producing industries. In 1959 the dairy industry contributed $328,597,000 to the economy of the state, an increase of nearly $10,000,000 over the 1958 figure.

Minnesota held its position as the nation's No. 1 butter producing state with a record production of 421,900,000 pounds, up nearly five million pounds from 1958. And in 1959 Minnesota climbed into second place behind Wisconsin in total milk production with an increase of 230 million pounds. Other manufactured dairy products produced by Minnesota last year included 478 million pounds of non-fat milk powder, 64 million pounds of cheese and 17 million gallons of ice cream.

The increasing importance of the dairy industry to our own community is indicated by the 1959 farm census report. Pennington county farmers that year received $1,198,872 for milk and cream sold, an increase of $287,401 over the census figure of 1954. This increased production was achieved in spite of a big decrease in the number of cows in the county and is accounted for by the fact that fewer herds of higher producing cows are bringing in a larger cash return.

The trend in Pennington probably is typical of other northwestern Minnesota counties in which dairying is well established. Thruout the area in the eleven counties that will be represented in the Dairy Day activities here tomorrow, there has been the same general trend toward fewer but larger herds of higher producing cows. The typical dairy farm in the area is becoming more and more a highly mechanized, sanitary, food manufacturing plant.

And thruout the area there has been a general trend toward more efficient marketing operations. Bulk cooling is an important factor in making for higher quality and lower hauling costs. It is reasonable to assume that the trend toward more efficient operations will continue and that within the next few years manufacturing costs in this area will be further reduced to a point where they will compare favorably with costs in the areas of more concentrated dairying in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

If there is any question in your mind about the future of the dairy industry in this area, spend a little time tomorrow with the young people who are competing for honors in the Dairy Day calf show. There you will have a chance to observe the boys and girls who will be the men and women of our dairy industry of the future. And we are sure that, as a group, you would give them an excellent chance to succeed.

A Small Investment

Representative Ben Wichterman brought out some interesting figures in his speech dedicating the new communication facility at the municipal airport yesterday. Exclusive of the cost of land, the airport represents a total expenditure for improvements of $214,500. Of this total the city of Thief River Falls has paid only $33,500.

The biggest contributor has been the state of Minnesota with a total contribution of $102,000. The federal government has paid $79,000.

Federal appropriations for airport purposes are made from general revenue funds, as are federal aids for state and local highways. The revenues from special user taxes go into this fund and lose their identity. It may be that we, as taxpayers, are paying directly for the cost of some of these aids.

But appropriations for airport development by the State of Minnesota are made only from revenues produced by taxes imposed on the aviation industry and taxes on aviation fuel. Minnesota was one of the pioneers in this form of taxation for such purposes, and the pattern that was established here has since been adopted quite generally by other states.

Considering the special aid received by the county in the building of a high standard road serving the airport, our community has a very small investment in its airport facilities.

Little Rock, Now

(Rochester, N.Y., Democratic Chronicle)

The last two members of the nine Negro students who entered the Little Rock, Ark., Central High School have been graduated, quietly. The word "quietly" in the news report is not overlooked. It marks the contrast with the furor that occurred when these two students and their Negro classmates, under a program of gradual desegregation, joined white students three years ago. One may recall without pleasure the conspiracy of agitation hatched by rabid segregationists, and all the subsequent trouble.

But now the bright note in all of this shines all the more. When left alone by trouble-making parents, the white students accepted the Negroes for what thy were—fellow students—and treated them accordingly. This is evident enough because all nine have been able to complete their courses, quietly. Little Rock taught its lesson well, however high the cost: Political agitation and education are incompatible.

Eichmann Abduction

It is not difficult to understand the attitude of the people of Israel toward an Adolf Eichmann, but they have not helped their cause by the manner in which they are trying to bring him to justice. It has not been made clear how Eichmann was brought from Argentina to Israel but there has been no denial of the charge that he was abducted by Israeli agents, and such an act cannot be condoned.

If such a procedure were to be recognized as proper there would be no protection for the citizens of Israel in their own country. Agents of neighboring Arab states would have a right to abduct and punish Israeli officials whom they do not like. We think the Christian Science Monitor suggestion on how the Eichmann case should be handled is a fair approach to the problem. Says the Monitor:

> "If Israel means to assert a mission to dispense justice in crimes against Jews wherever they may be committed, this could lead to serious complications in international law. The effects would not be unlike those of the Nazi claim, which other nations rejected, to the loyalty of persons of German birth or descent though they might be citizens of another country.
> "From what has been made public, it would seem that Israel would be taking a more convincing course and helping to establish better precedents if it should return Eichmann to Argentina—for extradition, in turn, to West Germany, where numerous Nazis have been punished and where he should stand trial."

Our Turn Coming

Charles de Gaulle has done much to strengthen the economy of France, but the measures he has adopted to accomplish that objective have not been popular. The farmers didn't like them and now labor is unhappy. They want prosperity and they want it right away, even if it means more printing press money and a return to inflation. They do not understand that they will have to make some sacrifices in order to make up for past mistakes.

In Turkey the new government faces a similar problem. The currency has lost value over a period of ten years of inflation. The old government tried to maintain prosperity the easy way and up until the time the bubble broke that government had many friends. Now the new government faces the problem of restoring the country's economy and that will require many sacrifices.

There seems to be no easy solution for the problems of inflation. Sacrifices, in one form or another, are essential. Germany, England, and other countries of Europe, learned this the hard way. But they did learn the lesson and have survived because they did make the necessary sacrifices. Now they are well on the way to higher living standards again.

As we proceed with our continuing cycles of wage and salary boosts, leading inevitably to higher costs and higher taxes, and increased competition from other highly industrialized countries, we are getting closer to the time when we will have to face the unpleasant adjustments that the people of other mismanaged economies have had to make.

Flag Day

Tuesday is Flag Day and it is proper that one day of the year be dedicated to the importance of our flag as a symbol of the liberties we cherish. There is considerable concern among many individuals, and some groups, about a seeming lack of respect for their flag by the American people. We do not share that concern.

From our observation the average American has a high regard and almost a sacred attachment for the flag of his country. That average American wouldn't admit it, we are sure, but there is a lump in the throat of most of them and a few tears in the eyes of many when Old Glory and the color guard pass in front of them and the parade moves on.

The reluctance of good citizens to reveal any emotion on such occasions probably can be traced back to a reference to "flag wavers." A "flag waver" has come to be looked upon as a sort of a hypocrite patriot, a false pretender to patriotic virtues. This, of course, is unfortunate. The person who reveals his respect for the flag by standing erect in its honor, or uncovering as it passes by, is not a "flag waver."

So on Flag Day, and on every occasion when we have an opportunity to show our respect for the flag of our country, as our symbol of liberty, let's not be afraid to reveal our true sentiment.

The story of better dairy products is mostly a cooperative story

Pure milk, healthy children, and dairy cooperatives go together.

For years, farm cooperatives, organized by the dairy farmers themselves, have led in setting higher standards of quality for milk, butter, cheese, ice cream . . . and the many other products made from milk. They have established sanitary regulations, encouraged the use of modern milk-handling equipment, and pioneered in efficient distribution of dairy products.

Because cooperatives have shown the way . . . they are important in all parts of the dairy industry. Today, most dairymen belong to cooperatives. A cooperative creamery picks up milk from the farm. A cooperative delivers it to the bottling plant. Often, a cooperative delivers it to homes and stores. Other cooperatives manufacture butter, cheese, dried milk, ice cream and other products.
